An independent have political daily published by the Jordan Press Foundation

جوردان تايمز يومية سياسية تصغير بالإنجليزية عن المؤسسة الصحفية الإردنية ،الراي،

ALGIERS (R) — Three Arab League foreign ministers charged with solving the Lebanese crisis were meeting Wednesday evening in Algiers, diplomatic and official sources said. They said the ministers from Morocco. diplomatic and official sources said. They said the ministers from Morocco, Sandi Arabin and Algeria would to discuss the results of recent contacts with Syria and Iraq, which back opposing sides in the 14-year Lebanese civil war, and with Lebanese leaders. They would also discuss the possibility of holding a second meeting of heads of state from the three countries, delegated by an Arab summit last month to solve the Lebanese crisis. They first met June 4 in Rabat. Lebanon has had two rival governments, no president and a paralysed parliament since last September. The Arab League committee has six months to consolidate a fragile casefire and convene the Lebanese parliament to discuss political reforms ceasefire and convene the Lebanese parliament to discuss political reforms and elect a new president. The three ministers also plan to meet with permanent members of the U.N. Security Council to seek their assistance. Algerian Foreign Minister Boualem Bessaich discussed Lebanon and other s during a brief visit to Paris last week.

Volume 14 Number 4117 AMMAN THURSDAY-FRIDAY, JUNE 22-23, 1989, DHUL QAIDEH 18-19, 1469

Price: Jordan 100 fils; Syria 1 pound; Lebanon 1 pound; Saudi Arabia 1.50 riyals; UAE 1.50 dirhams; Great Britain 25 pence

A scene from His Majesty King Hussein's visit to Irbid Wednesday (Photo by Yousef Al 'Allan)

Irbid greets Al Hussein with rousing welcome

AMMAN (J.T.) - Inhabitants of try, develop the Kingdom and the Irbid governorate Wednesday gave a rousing welcome to His Majesty King Hussein who paid a visit to several areas in and around the governorate as part of his efforts to maintain direct contact with the people of the Kingdom and to closely examine Aidoun, Bushra, Sal, Hawwarha, issues of concern to them.

Local leaders and officials, at the forefront of the welcoming crowds, pledged allegiance and continued support for the King in his efforts to advance the countional hedouin tents.

stand up to the challenges that

Travelling in an open-top car, King Hussein made stops in Na'imeh, the Azmi Al Mufti refugee camp, Al Husn, Al Sarih, Al Mugheir, Al Ramtha, Al Tarrahl, Al Shajarah, Umrawah, Zunaibeih, and Al Buweidah. In many of these areas, the King was received by village elders in tradi-

In their addresses to King Hus-sein, local leaders said Jordan's difficult economic conditions, which come as a result of the Kingdom's national commitment in the face of dangers and challenges, would only enhance the Jordanian people's loyalty to their country and leadership. Local leaders also paid tribute to Jordan's exceptional role on the Arab and international levels in service of issues facing the Arab Nation, foremost among them the Palestine question.

King Hussein also made a few brief stops along the road where he shook hands with and listened to citizens before proceeding to Yarmouk University where a large welcoming celebration awa-

Crowds lined Irbid streets bedecked with flags, portraits of the King and other decorative signs for the occasion.

At Yarmouk University, officials and dignitaries gave Ibn Shaker an speeches to a crowd of over 2,000 senior officials.

people, praising the King's efforts in maintaining the principles of the Great Arab Revolt and his defence of the Arab Nation.

King Hussein then proceeded to visit the Jordan University of Science and Technology where he had lunch with representatives of official and popular organisations as well as a large number of

Accompanying King Hussein were Prime Minister Sharif Zaid Ibn Shaker and a number of

Israeli jets raid PFLP-GC

NAAMEH, Lebanon (Agencies) — Israeli warplanes Wednesday bombed and rocketed Palestinian positions in hills south of Beirut. Rescuers said at least eight people targeted the headquarters of Ahmad Jibril's Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine-General Command (PFLP-GC) around the village of Naameh, 16 kilometres south of Beirut.

A spokesman for the Lebanese civil defence directorate, said rescuers evacuated eight wounded people from the stricken area.

A PFLP-GC official told Reuters the jets struck the group's beadquarters and two military positions in pine-clad hills over-

The PFLP-GC, a dissident group which split from the Palestine Liberation Organisation (PLO), has denounced the PLO's moderate approach towards Israel.

fran's late spiritual leader in Lebanon this year. At least 22

China executes 3, orders more deaths

PEKING (Agencies) — China turned its back on world opinion Wednesday, executing three men involved in anti-government pro- the Chinese authorities "not to tests and announcing more death sentences.

Hours after the three died in Shanghai — convicted of setting fire to a train which had killed six demonstrators blocking the line

Peking Radio said a Shandong province court sentenced 17 others to death for "seriously endangering public order."

The three were shot to death in front of a crowd Wednesday afternoon, one day after Shanghai's highest court rejected their appeals of the death penalty, a spokesman at the Shanghai foreign affairs office said.

Western governments expressed revulsion at the executions and three urged the European Com-munity (EC) to review relations with Peking.

"The executions in Shanghai, carried out without regard for world opinion, signify a dangerous relapse into the era of cynical totalitarianism (in China) in the vers before 1978," West German government spokesman Hans Klein said.

France, Spain and the Netherlands said the EC would take up the question of its relations with Peking at next week's EC summit in Madrid.

Dutch Foreign Minister Hans van den Broek, noting appeals for clemency had been ignored, said: "This new, sad development can only lead to a further deterioration of relations."

French Foreign Minister Roland Dumas said links with Peking would be reviewed following the "atrocious" executions.

In London. Prime Minister a local newspaper editor said Margaret Thatcher said she was "utterly appalled" and called on persecute those who are merely trying to have better arrangements for democracy,"

Australian Prime Minister Bob Hawke, holding talks with Thatcher Monday, said they were "at one in expressing a sense of almost immeasurable tragedy at what has happened there (in China) and is further compounded by the execution of the Chinese involved in the incident in Shan-

Spanish Foreign Minister Francisco Fernandez Ordonez said EC leaders would probably issue a statement condemning the executions after the Madrid summit. In Stockholm, Swedish Prime Minister Ingvar Carlsson said the executions "show that the suppression of opposition is continuing with the use of the most crude methods."

Chinese radio and television reported "bad elements" Xu Guoming, Bian Hanwu and Yan Yuerong were put to death in Shanghai Wednesday morning. shortly after a high court rejected their appeals. No details of the executions were announced but in China the sentence is usually carried out with a single bullet through the back of the head. The three men, all workers, were the first known to have been executed in connection with China's recent political upheavals. In Jinan, 17 people were sentenced to death, but some reportedly could have the sentence

Wednesday some Canton students were still organising illegal It said that since the provincial government issued a June 15 campus unrest.

circular ordering the Canton patriotic college students' federation be disbanded, "most of the leaders of this organisation have succhanged to life in prison if they cessively registered stay out of trouble for two years. where they belong. cessively registered at colleges

The sentences were handed down Tuesday following the trial of 45 people before an audience of 10.000 in Jman. Peking Radio and the Jinan Daily editor said

taking part in protests in the surrounding Shandong province. according to radio broadcast monitored by the British Broad-

The reports said others were given life in prison or lesser terms, but those sentenced to death were found guilty of

"seriously endangering public

The Jinan Daily editor, contacted by telephone, said no executions had been carried out by day after China's supreme court ordered lower courts to deal swiftly and severely with people accused of taking part in the protests, which the party is now condemning as counterrevolu-

Meanwhile, there was a report that authorities in Canton, metropolis of the southeast, were still having difficulty putting a stop to Guangdong province radio, monitored by the BBC, said

The stiff sentences came one casting Corporation.

Wednesday night.

tionary rebellion.

Each of the 45 was accused of Wednesday.

order."

Jordan regrets Turkish-Bulgarian situation Semih Belen told the Jordan

By Najwa Najjar Jordan Times Staff Reporter

AMMAN — Jordan Wednesday expressed regret over the situation of ethnic Turks in Bulgaria and voiced hope that the Bulgarian and Turkish governments would quickly resolve their differences over the issue.

Referring to the recent exodus of thousands of ethnic Turks from Bulgaria, Deputy Foreign Minister and Minister of Foreign Affairs Marwan Al Oasem said Jordan supports resolutions taken by the Organisation of Islamic Conference (OIC) which call on the Bulgarian government to allow the Muslim Turkish minority living (in Bulgaria) to practice its basic rights and to express its identity, religion. ethnicity and culture, free from any discrimination."
The core of the dispute, which dates back to 1984, lies in what Turkey says is mistreatment and "forced assimilation" by Bulgaria of the ethnic Muslim Turkish minority: Bulgaria refutes the charges.

Turkish Ambassador to Jordan Rafsanjani's Soviet visit continues on upbeat note

MOSCOW (AP) - Soviet President Mikhail Gorbachev met for a second day Wednesday with

Iranian Parliament Speaker

Hashemi Rafsanjani, and a Soviet official hinted that military

Official Radio Moscow said

Gorbachev, who earlier in the day met with the chairman of the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff William

Crowe, held further talks with

Rafsanjani, the highest-ranking

Iranian official to visit Moscow

since the 1979 Iranian revolution.

said Iranian Foreign Minister Ali

The official TASS news agency

aid was on the agenda.

Times Wednesday that the Turks were deported without warning practise their religion, prohibiting and were unable to take their possessions, (and were forced to mosques and now deporting leave) behind their life savings and property." But, the Bulgarian embassy here said the people who left Bulgaria in recent week across the border to Turkey did so at their own free will and were free to return whenever they Agency reports give conflicting utes on the number or eunnic Turks who have left Bulgaria since May o. While some say that 50,000 have moved to Turkey, others claim that the number is closer to 100,000. Belen supports the former figure, and predicts it will rise. Figures vesterday (Tuesday) indicated that 53,000 ethnic Turks have been deported," he said in a telephone interview with the Jor-

The ambassador repeated Turkish charges that since 1984 Bulgarian officials have been "forcing an assimilation programme for the 1.5 million ethnic about possible arms sales to Iran,

Soviet military Chief of Staff

General Mikhail Moisevev said

Gorbachev and Rafsanjani would be meeting and any decision would be made by "the political

Tuesday and was whisked to his first session with Gorbachev, who promised the Kremlin would not damage Tehran's interests. Gorbachev spoke warmly of Iran's revolutionary renewal, and Raf-saniani said Gorbachev's reforms and Iran's own strength would help improve relations, TASS

Rafsanjani arrived in Moscow leadership."

to change their Muslim names to Christian, hindering their right to the use of their language, closing

The Turkish government, he says, tried to remedy this situation by proposing an immigration agreement to regulate the immigration of ethnic Turks, "but, this was refused by the Bulgarian The Bulgarian embassy here

dan Times saying that the ongoing exodus was due to a liberalisation of travel regulations. The embassy referred to a statement issued June 17 by Bulgarian Prime Minister Georgi Atanassov that recent amendments to the country's legislation had opened the doors wider for Bulgarians to leave the country "whenever he wishes, to stay temporary or permanently abroad and to return to the People's Republic of Bulgaria."

He says that some "concerned circles in Turkey try to present this natural right to travel as some Turks living in Bulgaria: by trying sort of dismissing of Bulgarian and their attitudes towards other

Rafsanjani was reported to have listed areas of agreement between the two, including universal disarmament, a neutral

Afghanistan and national self-

Rafsaniani expressed hope before his departure from Iran that the trip would open "a new chapter in Iranian-Soviet relations and in the history of the region," the official Islamic Republic News

Agency said.
TASS said earlier: "In the Soviet Union, there is confidence countries, TASS said.

determination.

citizens from Bulgarian and their deportation in Turkey." The dispute has reportedly snowballed into a state of tension between Turkey, a member of the North Atlantic Treaty Organisation (NATO), and Bulgaria, a Warsaw Pact member, with headlines in Turkish newspapers saying "Army on alert," and "Leave cancelled." But most analysts dismiss the possibility of a war between them.

Bulgarian Foreign Minister Peiet metaenov terutea lutkisp charges that ethnic Turks were given 12 hours to collect their belongings and leave the country and that they were not allowed to draw their savings. Merdenov describes the border crossing between Bulgaria and Turkey as of "well-dressed people and cars loaded with luggage, calmly and politely attended by the Bulgarian border and custom officers. Reports from the Turkish side of the border speak of people arriving with scant belongings and settling down in makeshift camps erected by the Turkish mutual understanding and strengthen cooperation between the Rafsanjani also is acting com-

His delegation included

Economics Minister Mohammad Javad Iravani preceded Raf-saniani to Moscow to prepare

Velayati and Mohsen Rezaie, commander of the Revolutionary mander-in-chief of the Iranian two countries.

armed forces.

Guards Corps.

reported.

camp

The Israeli army said the raid

"The targets attacked were loexted near Naameh, east of Damour and served as the headquarters for Ahmad Jibril," said an army communique. It said the targets were damaged and all planes returned safely to their ooking Naameh.

Security and Palestinian sources said four U.S.-made F-14 fighter planes made seven bombing runs in the one-bonr attack. They were backed by two helicopters which took off from a gun-

some economic and commercial agreements, the Iranian agency boat patrolling the shore. Wednesday's air strike was the ninth against Palestinian targets

OCCUPIED JERUSALEM He was suspected of cooperating into communal warfare. (Agencies) — Israeli troops shot with the Israeli occupation aunians in the occupied West Bank. Arab journalists said. and Gaza Strip Wednesday and led a Palestinian taxi-driver who was suspected to collaborating lion. with the occupation authorities. Shamir warned Israelis against settlers, angered at the weekend civil war and Jewish settlers called on him to resign for failing to the West Bank, went on ramend the Palestinian uprising. Israeli politicians warned in a stormy parliament debate that was knifed to death Saturday as vigilante action by Jewish settlers he hiked around villages near his ly divided on how to curb the tlers living in the occupied West Bank and Gaza Strip. In the Gaza Strip, 12 Palesti-brink of civil war.

nians were wounded Wednesday in confrontation with Israeli troops, reports said. One Palestinian teenager was shot in a clash with soldiers in the West Bank, hospital officials said.

Also in the West Bank, unknown assailants shot and killed a Jewish settlers.

thorities Israeli radio renorts and Sharoub's death raised to 527 unknown assailants shot and kil- the number of Palestinians killed in the 18-month Palestinian rebel-

Israeli leaders raised the spec-Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak tre of civil warfare after Jewish killing of a U.S.-born settler in pages after his funeral Tuesday.

Frederick Steven Rosenfeld could push the country to the settlement at Ariel. Three Paslestinian shepherds have been de-Still, the legislators were sharp- tained on suspicion of the killing.

Settlers attending Rosenfeld's government-armed Jewish set- funeral shouted down Shamir and called him a traitor for failing to protect Jews living in the occupied territories.

After the funeral, one settler opened fire with an Uzi submachine gun at Arabs waiting for rides near Tel Aviv, wounding two of them. At least four Palestinians were injured when their cars were hit by stones thrown by 47-year-old taxi driver, Hassan Shamir Wednesday warned Sharoub, in the town of Nablus. against allowing a disintegration be jailed.

3 Palestinians wounded make sure such a pens. Shamir said in an interview on Israel Radio. "This is the most dangerous thing." He added: "I would suggest to everyone to lower the profile of our internal debates. If the profile rises you can slide into irresponsible actions.

In the debate in Israel's parliament, legislators condemned the settler attacks.

"All is ready for a civil war," said Yossi Sarid of the Citizens Rights Movement, "There are enough weapons to prove people are ready to kill innocent civilians.

Rafael Eitan of the right-wing Tsomet Party said the incidents "must shock us all into seeing what can happen in the future.

But the legislators were divided over whether the army should take harsher actions to crush the Palestinian revolt or to restrict the settlers.

Sarid said that if the violent settlers constituted only a small number of people, as the government has suggested, they should

that the visit by Rafsanjani will Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini, Akbar Velayati was meeting with said. The leaders discussed pros-ATHENS (Agencies) — Bargaining over forming a coalition govpeople were killed and more than give fresh impetus to the conwho died June 3, called the Soviet Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard pects for settling conflicts in the tinued progress of Soviet-Iranian 50 were wounded in the previous Union a satanic force in his will. Shevardnadze. ernment, with fresh elections Middle East and Afghanistan, relations... and will help improve which was last revised in 1987. raids. Asked at a news conference possible if efforts fail, has plunged Greece into the sort of seats, holds the balance of power. 'Pan-Islamic front' blamed for Uzbek violence

MOSCOW (R) — A campaign to launch a pan-Islamic front uniting different Muslim nationalities in Soviet Uzbekistan fired the recent ethnic unrest in which 99 people died, an Uzbek official said Wednesday.

The campaign's organisers wanted an Islamic "holy war" in which they would drive non-Muslim groups out of the region. Eduard Didorenko, deputy interior minister of the Central Asian Republic, told the newspaper Krasnaya Zvezda. Starting last autumn, some quarters took vigorous steps to knock together a united pan-Islamic front whose main tasks were the revival of medieval nationalist hysteria, discrimination and ousting of the republic's European population," he said. When the Meskhetians, a minority Muslim group, declined to join Uzbeks in the pan-Islamic front, violence flared between the two groups, Didorenko said.

Most of the 99 people who died in 10 days of bloody clashes earlier this month in Fergana, Kokand and surrounding areas of Uzbekistan were Meskhetians. Originally from Soviet Georgia, they were deported in 1944 to Uzbekistan by Josef Stalin. President Mikhail Gorbachev has said Islamic fundamentalism "bared its teeth" during the disorders, and Soviet media said rioters waved the green Islamic flag and shouted the name of the late Iranian spiritual leader Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini.

But Didorenko's comments were the first time a Soviet official had explained how Islamic fundamentalism had led to clashes between different groups.

The threat of "holy wars" adds to Gorbachev's worries. He is already grappling with ethnic disorders in the Caucasian republics of Armenia, Azerbaijan and Georgia — and as of last weekend in Kazakhstan, which borders Uzbekistan. A Soviet official said there had been fresh clashes overnight in some villages in Kazakhstan near the city of Novy Uzen, where three people died in weekend fighting between Kazakhs and natives of the Caucasus region.

Three people were hurt in the clashes but their injuries were serious, said Dmitri Selyeznov, spokesman for the Soviet Interior Ministry in Moscow.

In Novy Uzen, east of the Caspian Sea, about 100 people have camped in tents in front of the local Communist Party headquarters and are demanding that people from the Caucasus be expelled from the area, he said. "It would be premature to say calm had returned to Novy Uzen." Selveznov said.

Analysts said Gorbachev may have been hoping to dissuade Tehran from stoking unrest among the Soviet Union's Muslims, estimated at between 30 and 40 million, when he invited Iranian Parliamentary Speaker Ali Akbar Hashemi Rafsanjani to

During their meeting in the Kremlin Tuesday, Gorbachev told Rafsanjani that Iran could keep its revolutionary values as the two countries sought to improve ties in the post-Khomeini

Didorenko suggested that the Uzbek organisers of the pan-Islamic campaign were government or Communist Party officials, saying they had feared exposure of their activities would wreck their political careers.

He indicated that they had started the violence with the Meskhetians in order to cover up their "shady venture." But he did not identify them by name or position or say how many people had supported the pan-Islamic

Political uncertainty clouds Greece after inconclusive polls uncertainty that preceded a military coup in 1967. The country looks polarized again, faced with the same dilemmas of 1965, with the same protagonists," conservative political

But there are major differences between 1967 and 1989. There are no rumours of unrest in the military, and the monarchy - a major player in 1967 — was abolished in 1974.

columnist Katerina Daskalaki

Voters handed out a humiliating defeat for Prime Minister Andreas Papandreou's scandalridden Socialist government in Sunday's general election but they also denied an absolute majority in parliament to conservative leader Constantine Mit-

The Socialists and the centre-tion's big winner — a Communist-led alliance which, with 29

The Communists can play kinghave 125 seats, or to New Democracy, which has 144.

But in making a choice the Communist alliance, formed last year, risks branding itself for years to come.

Meanwhile, judicial investigators asked parliament to lift the immunity of two former ministers of the defeated Socialist government, so that they can be prosecuted for accepting bribes. The two ministers named are former Deputy Premier Agamemnon Koutsogiorgas and Public Order Minister George Petsos.

Their alleged involvement, Panhellenic Socialist Party of parliament.

right New Democracy Party are Papandreou, in major financial vying for the support of the elec-scandals was responsible for the party's defeat in Sunday's inconclusive parliamentary election.

Mitsotakis, and Harilaos Florakis, the leader of the Communmaker and give an absolute ist-dominated alliance, declared majority in the 300-seat parlia- after discussing coalition prosment either to the Socialists, who pects that the prosecution of those involved in the scandals dominated their talks.

We remained absolutely agreed on one thing, the issue of catharsis and that the scandals must not be written off," said Florakis. 'The dominant issue now is catharsis and political developments must be oriented toward this objective," added Mitso-

Latest election results announced Wednesday gave his New Democracy Party an additional seat for a total of 145. But this was still six short of the required overall majority enabling him to form a government in together with othr leaders of the the 300-member monocameral

Georgia (A)
Sost Johnny Car
Johnn

frigerator. (. but the apple n the sky lesbian (AP)-0_[8] homoscusi ionday the writing rate. call alleger

o planned p rende mard je ION PROME! inc daus cularly as to overale n releasor thes who 25 Denot Hentage :: ។ ០ ដែ ead of sme attio made d ™ falsezigi oubac libra. all palor in the dor≟

entleyin

entury'

(R) — Jobs:

icase of 10ja

alia Bendeya Ben Kank E CONTENTO OF ar Diine r ence ins to al chon-bo a Rentier Sic ր սլի-((E علاد بنتح , min sic j. 2k)⊓2≛ igi kasat _ niceta g gan k Hamphy I loant Tel i istii ile gen Kaneta CH TE TH THE EXPLISIVE Leanea nig.

TIMORE! ah, fiana g านระ วันป TURNE NO on a line ge ereci. out Rich apraik ati ic ionus. THE PARTY NOT the carmin etil ester in and M ir i oi ik. idon i ma Salt of part IN WILE and th STREET C as and and

bal ather 4.5

This state and

and production.

Afro-Arab conference assails Israel, S.Africa, launches joint fund

KUWAIT (Agencies) - Foreign ministers and senior officials of 24 Afro-Arab states ended a two-day conference here late Tuesday condemning Israel and South Africa and adopting a Kuwaiti proposal to set up a joint Arab-African investment corporation.

The final communique issued tions with Israel would break by the Standing Committee on them. Arab-African Cooperation said that the secretariats of the Arab League and the Organisation of African Unity (OAU) would continue contacts to conclude an agreement to "encourage and guarantee investments" in Arab and African countries.

The committee attempts to strengthen ties between the 22member league and the 50-member OAU, with the aim of ensuring collective support for Arab and African political causes and for developing economic and financial cooperation. Arab countries, especially those who double as members within the OAU, have tried to isolate Israel from the African continent to pressure it to accept a political settlement with Palestinians.

However, OAU Secretary-General Idi Omarou sidestepped questions at a later press conference about the chances that African states with diplomatic rela-

Those countries which reestablished diplomatic relations with Israel did that because of their own circumstances and were making sovereignty decisions." Omarou told the press.

Despite that, he said, the 'OAU did not go back on its decision to refrain from dealing with Israel because of its aggression on Arab states and the inhabitants of the occupied terri-

The conference called for Israel's withdrawal from all Arab territories occupied in 1967 including Arah Jerusalem, supported the setting up of an independent Palestinian state and urged the Arab League and the OAU to solicit more recognition of the State of Palestine proclaimed by the Palestine National Council, and urged the U.S. to pursue its talks with the Palestine Liberation Organisation (PLO).

The communique said finance ministers from the two sides will meet shortly to decide its capital and bylaws of a joint Arab-African investment corporation.

Conference sources said that contributions will mainly come from oil-producing Arab states. led by Kuwait.

"Kuwait has presented the proposal in order to translate into reality the long-standing slogans of Arab-African cooperation. Kuwait's Foreign Minister Sheikh Sabah Al Ahmad told the press conference.

Other economic decisions adopted by the 24-member committee include holding the first Arab-African trade fair in October 1990 and setting up a Arab-African trade zone.

Calling for the crusade against "the racial regimes in Israel and South Africa." the communique urged bolstered Arab-African solidarity to confront "the alliance between Israel and South Africa in the political, economic, military, nuclear and technological fields.

Arab League Secretary-Gener-Chadli Klibi, also addressing Tuesday's press conference. echoed the call for more coopera-

'Current threats make the two group. African and Arab, feel the need for joint (political and economic) solidarity toward all international issues," he said.

Rebels help starving Sudanese

tions train taking food to faminedreds of hungry people loot it, diplomats and relief officials said

tion called Lifeline Sudan, planned to protest strongly to the Sudan People's Liberation Army

(SPLA) about the looting Sunday, in which some 450 tonnes of both to army and rebel-held areas, made its first trip only last month. It was delayed for weeks because rail workers feared rebel attacks and the government objected to the amount of food destined for SPLA-held areas.

Both incidents of looting Sunday occurred in rebel-held areas and crowds mainly took supplies bound for government-controlled

In both cases, the diplomats

APU accuses Iran of hindering peace moves, supports PLO stand denounced Iran and accused it of hindering peace efforts in the Gulf, despite reservations registered by Syria and Libya.

We denounce unobjective methods and claims used by the Iranian side in dealing with United Nations Security Council Resolution 598, as these methods would hinder peace efforts and negotiations and affirm that the Iranian side does not want to implement the resolution," said an APU communique, issued late Tuesday at the end of its fifth conference here.

The decision was approved after a heated debate between the Iraqi delegation which presented the proposed resolution and the Syrian side supported by the Li-

Iran last July 18 accepted Resolution 598 as basis for a peace

ABU DHABI (AP) — The Arab settlement, and the ceasefire Parliamentary Union (APU) has went into effect Aug. 20. But negotiations between the two sides under U.N. auspices for full implementation of the resolution and a peace pact deadlocked.

The APU condemnation of Iran as the party responsible for the stalemate is the first such wide-scale Arab criticism since the new Iranian leadership took over earlier in the month after the death of Ayatollah Ruhollah

The three-day APU conference, attended by 16 Arab parliamentary bodies, also denounced as "inhuman, uncivilised and illegal" practices of the Iranian side against Iraqi war pris-

The Arab parliamentarians also welcomed the dialogue between the United States and the Palestine Liberation Organisation (PLO), but condemned the

"strategic alliance" between the United States and Israel.

They supported the PLO's readiness for the proposed elections in the Israeli-occupied territories only after the withdrawal of Israeli army and under international supervision.

The APU also declared support to the State of Palestine and to the proposed international conference for peace in the Middle East with the participation of all parties concerned.

The Syrian and Libyan delegations also registered their reservation over the resolution which implied an Arab recognition of

The resolution on the Palestinian issue however also called for the deployment of all Arab "political, military, economic, cultural and media potential to confront the Israeli enemy."

Kabul welcomes apparent U.S. shift away from war s

KABUL (R) - Afghanistan welcomed Wednesday signs that U.S. officials are having growing doubts that Mujahedeen guerrillas could achieve a military vic-tory against Kabul's Soviet-backed government.

A government spokesman. reacting to a statement to that effect by an independent thinktank in Washington this week. told Reuters the apparent shift away from seeking a military solution was a positive development.

"It is a sign of a good change in direction (among U.S. officials) if we compare it to the U.S. policy on Afghanistan over the last 10 years," the spokesman said.

"It is a sign that Washington is beginning to accept reality, that there is the government and the Mujahedeen, and that any political solution must contain both

"It is a good beginning if Washington is ready to stop Peace, said in Washington this arming the Mujahedeen and look week the U.S. government posi-

for a peaceful settlement," he said, adding: "But so far the United States has only talked and has not taken any concrete actions to show they really want peace.

President Najibullah recently welcomed statements by U.S. President George Bush and Pakistani Prime Minister Benazir Bhutto, whose countries both arm the Mujahedeen, that they would seek a political settlement to the conflict.

Najibullah said their statements would only have real significance once the two countries stopping arming the guerrillas.

The U.S. government is the main supplier of arms and other help to the Mujahedeen, who have been fighting a bloody 10vear war against the Afghan gov-

Selig Harrison, an Afghan expert at the independent Carnegie Endowment for International tion on Afghanistan was in a state of flux, with the Bush administration having increasing doubts about whether the Mujahedeen could achieve a military victory.

When Soviet troops withdrew from Afghanistan last February after a decade of fighting alongside Afghan troops against the rebels. Washington and other Western countries predicted the guerrillas would topple the Kabul government within days.

That has not happened.

The Mujahedeen have failed to take Jalalabad, Afghanistan's third largest city, east of Kabul, which they have been attacking with rockets and other weapons since March in the hope of setting up a rebel interim government there.

The Afghan government says similar attempt to attack and take over the eastern garrison town of Khost near the Pakistani border and the city of Kandahar in the

MIDDLE EAST NEWS IN BRIEF

Somali rebels reject Barre offer

NAIROBI (R) - Rebels in northern Somalia Wednesday threw out President Mohammad Siad Barre's tentative proposals for talks to introduce a multi-party political system in this impoverished East African country. The rebel Somali National Movement (SNM) said in a statement faxed to Reuters from London: "The SNM shall not have any dialogue with the Siad Barre regime, nor with any group associated with it. "Any call for cooperation, meeting or a forum on the future of the Somalis shall always exclude the Siad Junta." Siad Barre came to power in a coup 20 years ago are lated Somalia as a one-party state since 1974. The aging president has been trying to achieve national reconcilia-tion since a major offensive by the rebels last year devastated Hargeisa, Somalia's second largest city. The attack on Hargeisa was followed by three months of heavy fighting in northern Somalia which sent about 400,000 refugees fleeing to neighbouring Ethiopia. Radio Mogadishu said Siad Barre put proposals for a multi-party system to the Somali Socialist Revolutionary Party Central Committee Monday night.

Saudi employee shot in Brussels

BRUSSELS (R) — A chauffeur at Saudi Arabia's embassy in Brussels was clinically dead in hospital Wednesday after being shot in the back of the neck, a police spokesman said. Neighbours found Samir Gahel-Rasoul, 25, unconscious at his home Tuesday afternoon. Police said there had been no witnesses and no one hadheard a shot. In March the Saudi spiritual leader of Belgium's Muslims, Imam Abdullah Al Ahdal, and his Tunisian assistant were shot dead in Brussels' main mosque. They had taken a liberal stance over British author Salman Rushdie's novel "The Satanic Verses" which many Muslims consider blasphemous. Police said that though there was no apparent motive for Tuesday's shooting they could not exclude political or religious reasons.

19 alleged drug traffickers hanged in Iran

NICOSIA (AP) - Nineteen alleged drug smugglers were hanged in six Iranian cities Tuesday, th second batch of convicts to be executed since the death of the fundamentalist founder of the Islamic republic, Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini, two weeks ago. State-run Tehran Radio said the convicts, sentenced by Islamic courts, were executed publicly before daybreak in Fasa and Shiraz, in the southern Fars province; central Isfahan; Rasht, in the northern Gilan province; southeastern Kerman; and Aak, in the central Markazi province. The broadcast, monitored in Nicosia, said the 19 men had been found guilty of smuggling and distributing 730 kilogrammes of various drugs. Under a new law that took effect in January, any one caught in the possession of even small quantities of drugs faces the death penalty. The law was passed by Majlis, or parliament, in December amid a wide-spread campaign to curb drug abuse in which more than a million Iranians are believed involved.

Ethiopian rebels give ultimatum NAIROBI (R) - Ethiopian rebels have threatened to step up their war unless the government responded within a month to their proposals for a peace conference. The clandestine radio of the Tigray People's Liberation Front (TPLF), monitored in Nairobi. said Tuesday the TPLF had addressed an open letter to the government on June 10 containing rebel demands before peace talks could be held. "If the Dergue (government) fails to reply, the oppressed people of Ethiopia will know that it is opposed to peace once and for all. They will rise against the Dergue and shed blood for peace," said the letter. Last month Ethiopian President Mengistu Haile Mariam offered unconditional peace talks to the Eritrean People's Liberation Front (EPLF) fighting for independence of Ethiopia's northern province, and said the initiative also applied to the TPLF. The EPLF turned down the offer but the Tigray rebels, based in the province adjacent to Eritrea, conditionally accepted it.

Aguino message delivered to Fahd

JEDDAH (AP) - Philippines Foreign Minister Raul S. Manglapus Tuesday delivered a message to Saudi Arabia's King Fahd from President Corazon Aquino, the Saudi Press Agency (SPA reported. The agency said the message was handed to Crown Prince Abdullah when he received Manglapus. But it gave no details of the contents. Manglapus was wrapping up three days of talks in Saudi Arabia on bilateral issues and the thorny issue of the Muslim insurgents who seek autonomy in the southern Philippines. Their demands are backed by the Saudi-based Organisation of Islamic Conference (OIC). The Philippines official also met with Saudi Interior Minister Prince Navef, the agency said. An OIC statement released Monday refused to back a Philippines government plan for settling the issue, which falls short of granting full autonomy to 13 provinces in the region.

Chad radio assails Libya

N'DJAMENA (R) - Chad radio Tuesday blamed Libya for the breakdown of talks arranged by the Organisatin of African Unity (OAU) to try to resolve a border dispute. In a commentary on last week's stalled talks over the disputed Aouzou Strip on the Chad-Libyan border, the radio accused Libya of giving "proof of its permanent bad faith." The OAU committee meeting in the Gabonese capital Libreville broke up after only about an hour in an argument over whether the question of Libyan prisoners-of-war in Chad should be discussed before the territorial issue. "The Libyans went to Libreville under moral pressure from Africa and they want to give the impression that they are looking for a solution... butthey really went to cloud the issue by avoiding the basic problem of the Aouzou Strip," the radio said. Chad and Libya, at odds for 15 years over the strip, signed a ceasefire agreement in 1987 and restored diplomatic ties last October. Chad has recently accused Libya of planning an invasion through Sudan. Libya has denied the loot U.N. relief train in south

KHARTOUM (R) - Rebel soldiers twice stopped a United Nastricken South Sudan and let hun-Tuesday.

They said the U.N., which in April began a major aid opera-

The train, carrying supplies and relief workers said, the SPLA fighters forced the train, travelling at eight kilometres an hour, to stop by standing on the tracks

Elusive home is only 40 metres away for Camp Canada residents

By William C. Mann The Associated Press

RAFAH - Barbed wire doesn't stop the smell of teargas or the sound of exploding houses — the smell and sound of the Israeli army's attempts to crush the intifada.

As they listen, the boys of Camp Canada, Egyptian home of the Palestinians the world has forgotten, leave no doubt they support the activists in the thick of the intifuda. From their pro-uprising T-shirts to their anti-Israel rhetoric, it is obvious they sympathise with the stonethrowing youth they are convinced will liberate their countrv. which many of them can hardly remember. Their parents, who well remember Gaza, yearn for a homeland they can gaze at but can no longer claim as theirs. Home is Rafah, Gaza, 40 metres away across two chainlink fences and numerous concertina rolls of barbed wire. Israeli soldiers fatally shot three young men there last Frinian deaths during the 18-gainst Israeli occupation in the West Bank and Gaza Strip. The Egypt-Gaza border hisected Rafah under Egypt's treaty with Israel in 1982, and about 5,000 Palestinians were stranded in Egypt's only refugee camp. Many of the 560 families involved were split, but they were promised they would be with relatives in occupied

Gaza within a month. Since then, the main medium of contact has been the "shouting fence," the international divide across which people shout the latest family news. Neither Israeli nor Egyptian officials will talk about the seven-year embarrassment of Camp Canada, named for a Canadian peacekeeping unit that once quartered there. Israeli foreign ministry spokesman Alon Liel said "the issue is under various discussions. Egyptian officials won't even say that.

But residents say an 11-week process is scheduled to begin this week that, if completed, will return to Gaza 20 Camp month-old intifada, the uprising Canada families, a total of 67 people, in the first organised repatriation programme.

On four successive days, five families are to enter the noman's land between the Rafahs and meet with relatives and friends from the other side. Tentative plans call for the first two families to cross next Monday, with two to follow on each of the next nine Mondays.

Under a 1986 agreement, Egypt is to pay each family $8,000 compensation. Residents said - and sources in Cairo confirmed — that Israel backed out of its commitment to give each returning family land and housing materials valued at $9,000. Evidence of the mood in Camp Canada is that the 20 families agreed to Israel's conditions. They will live with rela-

After seven years and many broken promises, Camp Canada is an unhappy place. It seethes with emotions, most of them unpleasant: anger, frustration, resentment, resigna-

Much of the resentment is towards the United States. which camp residents perceive largely as siding with Israel to the detriment of people like

"The key to our problem is America. The Americans are the only ones who can solve it..." said a camp official. "Why don't they do something to make it happen?"

Outside, a group of boys discovered their visitors were Americans. The mood changed quickly from pleasant conversation to bitter confrontation. Perhaps the camp's one upbeat emotion is hope spawned by the intifada. Every well-dressed camp Canada teenager wears a prointifada T-shirt. Teenage girls carry on key chains or wear as pendants inch-long rocks sculpted in the shape of Palestine-Israel. They say the rocks are carved by protesters in Israeli jails and smuggled out of Gaza. "We're up, up, up," said a main in his mid-20s, sitting in month-old daughter on his lap. "If these martyrs and their spilled blood don't succeed, then what the hell will?"

"This is a camp of hope," the man said. "We believe if they allow 20 families to go, all of us will go someday." For many, however, the hope is tempered with scepticism. We've been told we were going, then no," said a teacher at the Camp Canada school. "I will believe they're going when they're there.

The Palestine Liberation Organisation (PLO), financed Camp Canada's school, but residents say the Egyptians delayed its construction through drawn-out negotiations. They also refused to allow the PLO to collect garbage in the camp. and residents say Egyptian collections stopped weeks ago, resulting in garbage piles fouling many streets. The PLO's only real presence remains the school, but since the intifada, support for the PLO has been more open. especially among the young.

As Palestinians, camp residents are foreigners forbidden from government jobs in Egypt's heavily governmentdominated economy. Many have not worked for seven vears. Others are underemployed or work on day jobs outside the camp. "I'm an engineer, but I'm working as a carpenter," said Mustafa Kamel 'Aid Hawy, who was married in 1984 and now has two sons and a pregnant wife. "But I have to work, because I have a family. It's the uncertainty that is so very sad.'

And frustrating.

Carpenter Gamil Mohammad, who runs a kiosk with a Palestinian flag fluttering above, talked of smelling the teargas used against his compatriots across the no-man's land and of hearing the "boom" of houses being destroyed.

He introduced his three small sons and three smaller nephews, saying:

"They hope to go to another place. Home."

JORDAN TELEVISION Tel: 773111-19

Programme review

Children programme

..... Local programme
..... News for the Deaf

PROGRAMME ONE

15:45

12.37

day, among the latest of Palesti-

	18:20	Local programme
	1x:56	"Alph"
	19:15	Health programme
	19:40	Programme review
	20:00	News in Arabic
	20- 10	Local series
-	21-38	Programme review
-	21:36 21:40	Arabic play
	23:00	News in Arabic
	PROC	RAMME TWO
٠.,
Ä	14.30	La Chance Aux Chansons
		La Chance Aut Chansons
	19:08	News in French
-	19:15	Tantic
	19:30	News in Hebrew
-	19:45	Varieties
	20:00	News in Arabic
	20:30	Bill Cosby Show
	21:10	Beauty and the Beast
-	22:00
	22:20	Feature film
٠, PRAYER TIMES

Maghreb CHURCHES

St. Mary of Nazareth Church Sweifiel St. Joseph Church Tel. 624590.

Church of the Annuuciation Tel. De la Salle Church Tel. no1757 De la Salle Charca (S. 622366) Terrasanta Church Tel: 622366 ican Church Tel. 625383 Tel. Auglican 628543. Armenian Catholic Church Tel. 771331. enian Orthodox Church Tel. Armenian Orthodox Church T. 775261. St. Ephraim Church Tel. 771751. an International Church Tel. Evangelical Lutheran Church Tcl: 811295. The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints Tel. 815817, 821264

WEATHER

Bulletin supplied by the Department of A slight rise in temperatures will occur and winds will be northwesterly light to moderate. In Aqaba, winds will be northerly moderate and seas calm.

Aqaba 23 / 38

Yesterday's high temperatures: Amman 29, Aqaba 37. Humidity readings: Atuman 31 per ceut, Agaba 26 per

NUMBERS NIGHT DUTY

USEFUL TELEPHONE

AMMAN:

JORDAN TIMES DAILY GUIDE AND CALENDAR

Dr. Abdul Wahab Awad 846(70) Dr. Tayseer Khadr 606857 Dr. Katbeh Al Halayqeh 793524 Firas pharmacy 661912 Ferdows pharmacy 778336 Al Asema pharmacy 623675 Nairoukh pharmacy 623672 Al Salam pharmacy 6236730 Yacouh pharmacy 644945 Shmesani pharmacy 637660
IRBID: Dr. Jamal Al Sa'ad () Al Sharaa' pharmacy (985238)
ZARQA: Dr. Izzuddin Abdul Salam 985417 Khalifeh pharmacy 985417
EMERGENCIES
Civil Defence Department 661111 Civil Defence Immediate Rescue

... 010230

Repairs	623101
Abdali Telephone Repairs	661101
Jordan Television	773111
Radio Jordan	774111
Water Authority	680100
Jordan Electricity Authority	815615
Electric Power
Company	636381
RJ Flight Information	08-53200
RJ Flight Information Queen Alia Intl. Airport	08-53200
HOSPITALS	5

his father's house with his 18-

AMMAN:
Hussein Medical Centre 813813/32
Khalidi Maternity, J. Amn 644281/6
Akileh Maternity, J. Amn 642441/2
Jabal Amman Maternity 642362
Malhas, J. Amman
Palestine, Shmersani 664171/4
Shmeisant Hospital 664131
University Hospital 845845
Al-Muasher Hospital 667227/9
The Islamic, Abdali 666127/37
Al-Ahli, Abdali 664164/6
Italian, Al-Muhajreen 777101/3
Al-Bashir, J. Ashrafich 775111/26
Army, Marka 891611/15
Oucen Alia Hospital 602240/50
Amal Hospital 674155 ZARQA:
Zarda Govt. Hospital (00)903323.
Zarga National Hospital (09)991071
Ibn Sina Hospital (09)986732
IRBID-
Princess Basma Hospital (02)275555
Greek Catholic Unsaled (02)273333
Greek Catholic Hospital (02)272275 Ibn Al Nafees Hospital (02)247100
1011 A1 1380CCS (105)7021 (02)247100
AQABA:
Princess Haya Hospital (03)314111

FOR THE TRAVELLER QUEEN ALIA INTERNATIONAL AIRPORT

This information is supplied by Royal Jordanian (RJ) information department at the Queen Alia International Airport Tel. (08)53200-5, where it cheeks always be weeffed. should always be verified Royal Jordanian (RJ) Flights

:30	Singapore, Kuala Lumpur (RJ)
:00	Damuscus (RJ)
:28
:40	Kuwaii (RJ)
k.45	Date of the part of the part
	Dubai, Abu Dhahi (RJ)
:55	Doha, Bahram (RJ)
:00	Calcutta (RJ)
:15	Cam, Agaha (RJ)
-48	Jeddah (RJ)
:45
:45	Unancin (NJ)
	Kuwait (RJ)
:15	London (RJ)
-36	Lamaca (RJ)
:00	New York, Amsterdam (RJ)
:15	Athen (RJ)
:45	Cairo (RJ)
:10	Casablanca, Tunis (RJ)
:30	Bangkok (RJ)
:45	Rome (RJ)
	Kome (KJ)
-23	Dubai, Fujaira (RJ)

Other Flights (Terminal 2)

07:13
10:10 Sanaa (LH)
12:05 Istanbul, Ankara (TK)
13:20 Cairo (MS)
14:00 Kuwait (KU)
14:26 Abu Dhabi, Bahrain (GF)
15:00 Baghdad (IA)
16:90 Bucharest (RO)
Company
(tel)
19:25 Frankfurt (LH)
29:10 Zurich, Larnaca (SR)
01:05 London, Cairo (BA)
Royal Jordanian (RJ) Flights (Terminal (1) (Terminal (1)
(Terminal (1)
(Terminal (1) 11:45
Terminal (1)
(Terminal (1) 11:45
(Terminal (1) 11:45
Terminal (1)
Terminal (1)
Terminal (1)
Terminal (1)

22:30

..... Abu Dhabi (RI

Damascus, Paris (AF) Tunis (TU) Frankfurt (LH) Kuwait (KU) ... Baghdad (IA) ... Bucharest (RO)

MARKET PRICES

Upper/lower price in fil	la k.
Apple (golden)	s per kg.
Apple (Kashabi)	500 / 450
Apple (sukkarı)	300 / 250 320 / 250
Аргісот
Banana	660 / 600 400 / 350
Banana (Mukammar)	350 / 300
Beans	500 / 400
Cabbage	60 / 40
Carrois	130 / 100
Cauliflower	170 / 140
Cherry	1000 / 800
Com	130 / 100
Cucumbers	170 / 100
regian(240 / 180
Ganic	750 / 650
Urapes	300 / 200
Urabes (red)	250 / 200
Lemon (vellow)	800 / 700
Lemon (green)	600 / 500
Lettuce (per one)	90 / CD
Marrow (large)	70 / 50
1734[TUW [SINS11]	280 / 220
ORIZ	620 / 560
Orange	320 / 280
	100 / 70
Pepper (hot)	100 1 200
Pepper (sweet)	450 / 400
Potato	250 / 200
Tomatoes	140 / TOO
Watermelon	100 / 100

FOR FRIDAY JORDAN TELEVISION

Tel: 773111-19

PROGRAMME ONE ...

Children programme.
Religious programme
Friday's prayer Sports programma Religious semina Fcature film essage from Oman Local programme Local programme
Local programme
Programme review
News in Arabi PROGRAMME TWO

17:30 French film: "Maigret Voyage."

News in French varietie

Town in Hebre

PRAYER TURES

indicate the state of

... Three's Company

Command Comman
51 26 (Sunrise) D	abi
18	Ā
Mag	rci

NATIONAL NEWS BRIEFS

BRIEF

M London: In for control in the for control in a list shall also s

8 bia's cobes; !! After being !! Neighbours for ... Neighbours for ... and no one !! A said a s uesday's shook ied in Ira

lers were bear

of convicts in a founder of a two weeks a enced by the Fasa and Sur

n: Rash in a and Aak a tored in You

g and distribu

aw law that ion of ereng

aw was pass.

spread range

ed to step upi

ាលលាយ ស

tine radio e-tored in Na

en letter p

nds before K

fails to rest.

art basoque

it and shall-

Applan Prog

≈ace talls a:

ing for make the initiative.

the offer but to Entres, te

Rad S Kas

s King Fabel

Agency 19

anded to Ca

up three 🌬 hem Philips.

(Heanball)

ומון מצוב עם

n sand Aad

Highlangs Bac

t of gramme.

ed Lina for

of Aincrof:

amentary (#

au Simpani

Strate box

mar nue e

out an hours

SOMETS-OF-RE

ie. The lat

es and they

3 WHOR-

hasic projec

a al odoke

sur in ide.

, a has denot

IDAY

ELEVISION $\mathcal{H}^{\mathcal{S}}$

Think me me to the me to t

: 11825

ΝĒ

ahd

7

asons.

MUASHER BECOMES INFORMATION ADVISER: Prime Minister Sharif Zaid Ibn Shaker has decided to appoint the Director of Economic and Social Information Centre at the Ministry of Planning, Dr. Marwan Jamil Muasher, to the post of adviser for information affairs at the Prime Ministry. Munsher will also keep his post at the Ministry of Planning. (Petra)

CABINET ENDORSES COOPERATION PACT: The Cabinet has endorsed the minutes of meeting of the Jordanian-Soviet Committee for Economic, Scientific, and Cultural Cooperation which convened in Amman on May 23. The minutes of meeting included a number of recommendations designed to bolster bilateral relations in the economic, scientific, and cultural fields. (Petra)

PHOTO EXHIBITION: Minister of Youth Dr. Awad Khleifat Thursday will open a photo exhibition at the Palace of Culture. The eakibition, which is held by the Department of Libraries. Documentation and National Archieves in cooperation with the Ministry of Youth, contains photos depicting the great role played by the leaders of the Great Arab Revolt as well as important documents.

5 HURT IN ACCIDENT: Five people have been injured in a road accident which took place between two vehicles on the Amman-Irbid Highway, according to Arabic daily Al Dustour, Investigation is underway on the causes of the accident. (J.T.)

LIBYAN TEAM TO ARRIVE TODAY: A Libyan delegation led by Health Minister Dr. Mustafa Al Za'idi will arrive in Amman Thursday. During the visit, the Libyan official will hold talks with Health and Social Development Minister Dr. Zuhair Malhas on means to develop cooperation in the fields of health and medicine

NEW CULTURAL SECTION: Greater Amman Municipality has created a special section to be in charge of cultural affairs. A statement said that the decision was taken by the Mayor. Abdul Raouf Al Rawabdeh, in view of the increasing cultural activities in the Amman area. It said that the mayor's assistant for cultural affairs will be in charge of this new section along with the municipal library, the museums and the information and public relations sections. (Petra)

PILGRIMS ARRIVE IN MA'AN: A total of 191 people from Algeria, Morocco, and France have arrived at the pilgrims' city in Ma'an on their way to perform pilgrimage. Ma'an Governor 'ld Al Qatarrieh Wednesday visited Ma'an and inspected the facilities to be presented to pilgrims. (Petra)

BAD FOOD DESTROYED: The public safety committee in Balqa Governorate Wednesday toured a number of commercial stores in the governorate and destroyed a quantity of foodstuffs not fit for human consumption. The committee also foured residential areas in Salt to ensure that cleanliness is observed. (Petra)

RABADI TO ATTEND ALECSO TALKS: Director of Cultural Relations and Information at the Ministry of Education Dr. Farah Rabadi will represent Jordan at the 47th session of the Arab League Educational, Cultural and Scientific Organisation (ALECSO) due to convene in Tunis in early July. The week-long meetings will deal with ALECSO activities, budget, and future plans. (Petra)

ACC SOCCER CHAMPIONSHIP: The first Arab Cooperation Council (ACC) countries' Soccer League Championship is due to start Friday at Amman's International Stadium in Al Hussein Youth

ISESCO council to meet in September

AMMAN (J.T.) - The Islamic on ISESCO's general projects Educational: Scientific and and programmes being executed Cultural Organisation (ISESCO) in member states. He paid tribute will hold its ninth executive council meeting in September to discuss issues connected with the organisation's programmes, according to ISESCO Director General Abdul Hadi Boutaleb.

The ISESCO director, who is currently taking part in the Al Al Buyt Foundation meetings in Amman, made the statement at a meeting with Minister of Education Abdullah Nsour and a group of ministry officials. He said that ISESCO's meeting will be held in Rabat. Morocco.

Last year the executive council held a meeting in Amman which was followed later by an ISESCO general conference.

Boutaleb briefed the minister in member states. He paid tribute to Jordan's contribution to the organisation's activities and its support at last year's general conterence in Amman. ISESCO's general conference meets every three years in a regular session in order to draw up and define general policies and guidelines for the organisation, consider a plan of action. study reports and proposals put forward by member states and the executive council, and to take appropriate decisions on various issues. Boutaleb said.

Nsour, for his part, briefed Boutaleb on the Ministry of Education's programmes at the Arab and Islamic levels.

Jordan to take part in Arab atomic agency talks

TUNIS (Petra) - Jordan will take part in an executive council meeting of the Arab Atomic Energy Agency which will begin in Tunis-Thursday.

Delegates are expected to discuss a five-year plan to develop the agency's activities between 1990 and 1994, and will examine a number of memoranda submitted by member states to promote the agency's work in the Arab region.

The meeting which will be artended also by delegates from Iraq, Syria, Saudi Arabia. Kuwait: Palestine, Lebanon,

Sudan and Libya, is expected to discuss a report on projects by the International Atomic Energy Agency in the Arab World and plans to include the rest of the Arab League countries in the

The Arab Atomic Energy Agency, which commenced operations in Tunis early last year seeks to help the Arab World to acquire modern technology in atomic energy-related fields, to help promote the Arab World's development programmes.

WHAT'S GOING ON

The following listings are compiled from monthly bulletins and the daily Arabic press. Readers are advised to verify the listed time and place with the concerned institutions.

EXHIBITIONS

- An art exhibition by Jordanian and Arab artists at Al Wasiti Art Gallery.
- A photography exhibition on Jordan by Francis Chaverou at the French Cultural Centre.
- An exhibition entitled "Spotlight Germany" displaying works by eleven German photographers at the Yarmouk University. An exhibition of photographs on Arabic and orientalist architecture by Radolph Hammadi at the French Cultural
- ☆ An art exhibition entitled "Study in Line and Colour" by Dodi Tabaa at the Petra Bank Art Gallery.
- An exhibition of handicrafts which includes ceramics, knit-wear and pottery at the Salt Handicrafts Training Centre.
- A photography exhibition entitled "Amman Under King Hussein's Rule" at the Professional Associations Complex,
- An exhibition entitled "Freuch Jazz Nowadays" in which several videos will be shown at the French Cultural Centre.

A feature film entitled "Seize the Day" at the American Centre

Al Razi Centre for Special Education opens

Queen urges private sector to contribute to special education

AMMAN (J.T.) - Her Majesty Queen Noor and treatement for retardation, Wednesday emphasised the role of the Jordanian private sector in contributing to special education programmes for handicapped children since, she said, this endeavour is a national responsibility.

The Queen was addressing a ceremony marking the formal opening of the Al Razi Centre for Special Education at Jabal Luweibdeh which is privately owned and financed through benefactors and various organisations in Jordan.

The Oueen said it was a nationat responsibility to provide the handicapped children with a natural family-like home that can contribute towards their development and rehabilitation.

Queen Noor toured the different parts of the centre, which was originally established in 1987, met with parents of the handicapped children and inspected vaIn addition the centre organises

The centre provides care for the mentally retarded and children with low and minimal re-The centre's external section offered to the handicapped.

provides educational services, recreational activities, health and social research programmes. while the internal section provides three meals as well as health. services and is supervised by qualified teachers in special education and doctors. At present the centre provides care for 45 children.

also provides psychological tests dren.

speech therapy, training on simple technical skills and experiences, as well as academic educasocial and recreational activities. rious equipment and the services medical and medicinal services. assistance in resolving family problems and training parents on how to treat their children.

> The centre's director, Zivad Sakkijiha, spoke at the ceremony outlining the main programmes implemented at the centre. He called for further assistance to help finance the rehabilitation programmes for the handicapped children.

The ceremony was attended by Chief Chamberlain Prince Raid Ibn Zaid, Health Minister Zuhair Malhas and senior officials and Officials said that the centre relatives of the handicapped chil-

youth gather at 1918 battle site

TAFILEH (Petra) - A total of Eiss ancient sites, listen to lec-63 youths from Jordan and four other Arab countries gathered at a camp near here Wednesday at the start of five days of activities and voluntary services and cultural programmes.

The camp, organised by the Ministry of Youth, has been set up at Al Eiss, scene of a 1918 battle between Arab forces under the banners of the Great Arab Revolt and Turkish troops towards the end of World War I.

According to the organisers, the participants in the camp's activities will take part in a variety of sports events, carry out voluntary services at the Afra and

tures on the Great Arab Revolt. organise recreational and cultural programmes and tour a number of archaeological sites in southern

The participants include 33 Jordanian youths picked from various clubs and youth centres, in addition to 30 participants from Egypt, Iraq, North Yemen. Oman and Bahrain.

The camp activities began with a speech by Minister of Youth Awad Khleifat who said that the camp was part of the Kingdom's celebrations of the Great Arab Revolt and Army Day, in com- activities.

memoration of the Arab renaissance, and the Arab nation's determination to achieve freedom and unity.

The site of Al Eiss, he said, witnessed battles involving Arab armies and Turkish troops at one stage of the uprising against the occupation forces in the Arab

There were other speeches by the leaders of various groups taking part in the camp.

Later the minister toured : number of youth centres in southern Jordan where he discussed plans and programmes to prom-

Badran, Keilani begin 2-day inspection of southern regions

KARÁK (Petra) - Spain is cooperating with Jordan in studies to introduce amendments to a special device used to gather olives mechanically, with the purpose of reducing the volume of manual work and the cost of gathering the fruit. Minister of Agriculture Adnan Badran said Wednesday.

Speaking during a tour of the Kingdom's southern regions. minister said that once the studies are completed they will be placed at the disposal of local farmers to benefit from them.

Badran, accompanied by Minister of Water and Irrigation Mohammad Saleh Keilani. toured farming areas in the Qasr and Rabbeh regions near Karak where they met with farmers and heard demands and requests for services. The farmers presented their views about harvesting methods and requested the Ministry of Agriculture to help them with equipment for harvesting olives and lentils, and to provide heavy machinery. They told the minister they needed pasturelands for their stocks, agricultural roads and animal feeds at lower cost. They also demanded solutions for problems pertaining to the poultry industry and storage facilities. The two ministers laid the foundation stone at Rabbeh for the establishment of a centre for research and the transfer of mod-

Later Wednesday, Badran announced that the Ministry of Agriculture will make available three types of lentil seeds to be distributed to local farmers and that it will organise demonstrations to help the farmers carry out their work. The ministry has plans to set up pasture lands to provide animal feed for the sheep and cattle, and will set up facilities for storing and marketing poultry products. Badran said that the ministry also plans to set up cold storage facilities in various regions to preserve slaughtered poultry. Badran and Keilani opened a new headquarters for the agricultural department in charge of the southern Jordan Valley regions and met with local officials to hear requests and problems encountered by the farmers.

Water distribution was also discussed, and Keilani noted that his ministry has taken measures to provide sufficient supplies for

The Ministry of Water and Irrigation will also supply the tomato paste factory in the southern Jordan Valley region with water and will take other measures related to housing projects.

The two ministers who are on a two-day tour of southern Jordan will call Thursday at Disi, Wadi Araba, Aqaba and other areas to inspect Ministry of Agriculture projects there.

Earlier Wednesday, the two ministers made an inspection tour

Summer nights at Amra Hotel

AMMAN — Amra Hotel is again in full swing for the hot summer nights around the pool with barbecue and live entertainment under the motto "thousand and one night." Every Saturday night when the sun tanned members of the pool are leaving, waiters get busy to set up the decor for the exciting entertainment. Freshly baked bread in the traditional way and the flavour of charcoal grilled meat fills the air. The Asia Band is providing the international sound and gives the rhythm for Fatima to entertain the visitor with her bellydancing. A tambula with fabulous prices is drawn weekly. of agricultural projects in Madaba district, south of Amman, and looked into the work of departments concerned with promoting the Al Mushaqqar regional centre re briefed on its opera-farmers, determines modern agritests on seeds and plants.

Mushaqqar and Waleh agricultural stations which produce improved seeds and new strains of forest and fruit tree saplings.

Badran said that the agricultural stations were of paramount importance to the agricultural development process in Jordan. He called for increased efforts by staff involved in the agricultural extension services, who, normally guide farmers in the use of modern muchinery and help them to increase output.

agricultural development.

The two ministers stonned at for agricultural services where

The centre provides advice to cultural technology suitable for the region and conducts various experimental processes on the production of improved wheat are going on, and they were briefed on the progress of work.

Keilani and Badran called at Al

They later visited fields where

The report said that Ministry of

Jordan aims to fight crime

The three-day meeting, which opened Wednesday will tackle. among other topics, the employment of modern technology in criminal investigations.

AMMAN BACCALAUREATE SCHOOL requires for August 1989

a Mathematics teacher for Junior School, for grades 3 to 6. Applications are invited from teachers to teach in English only or in English and Arabic. Experience with computers would be an advantage.

Application forms may be obtained from the school (tel. 845572) and should be returned by Saturday 24th June.

VACANCIES

Hotel Jordan Inter-Continental has openings for waitresses in Okaz Restaurant, Applicants should have very good command of English language and previous experience.

Interested applicants should apply in person at the Food & Beverage Department of the Hotel.

Tel. 641361 ext. 5

Her Majesty Queen Noor Wednesday opens the Al Razi Centre for Special Education at Jabal Luweihdeh in Animan (Petra photo)

Second phase of Zarga and Ruseifa water, sewerage projects completed second phases of a water and and sewerage networks at Hashesewerage projects for Zarqa and Ruseita have been completed. according to an announcement by the Water Authority of Jordan

(WAJ) here Wednesday. The announcement said that the two phases cost JD 12.485 networks in the region. million and that work was underway on the third and final phase ment by the Social Development

ZARQA (Petra) - The first and third phase entails laying pipes mich, Al Ghweirich and Hay Al Hussein districts.

> The announcement also said that work is underway on a JD 300,000 project to repair water

Also in Zarqa an announceat the cost of JD 5 million. The Department said that local police and department teams have ' embarked on a campaign to rid the city of Zarqa of vagabonds and street beggirs.

The announcement said that the three-month campaign provides for daily tours of various districts to pick up beggars whose cases will be investigated before steps can be taken to provide them with assistance.

UAE to recruit Jordanian teachers

AMMAN (JT) - A team of officials from the United Arab Emirates (UAE) is due here Thursday to employ Jordanian teachrs to work for UAE schools in the coming scholastic year, according to a report in Al Dustour daily Wednesday.

The daily said that contracts with the Jordanian teachers will be done through the Ministry of Education which has been organising secondment of government teachers to other Arab states.

expected to conclude contracts

with a larger number of teachers

The paper said that the team is ment in the previous years. Apart from the UAE team. officials from Oman and Kuwait arrived in Amman earlier for a similar mission, the paper noted. On Tuesday evening the coun-than that selected to for employ-

cil of ministers endorsed a trade. economic and technical cooperation agreement with the UAE which was concluded here earlier

Under the agreement, the two sides will promote trade and economic cooperation between meeting with representatives of land transport unions in Jordan to discuss the issue, and to try to avert damages to the interests of Jordanian truck owners and

Simadi said that any agreement on operating the projected land route will have to take into account the interest of the Jorda-

man truckers, and that trans-

cultural and industrial products facilitate the flow of goods, capital and nationals and exchange expertise related to trade and economic operations.

UAE and Jordan also signed?

an agreement on June 14 paving

the ground for cultural cooperation in the years 1989, 1990 and The secondment of teachers to-UAE is part of the agreement which also calls for cooperation in a information, sports and youth,

to be divided equally on Egypt.

the Iraqi and Egyptian authorities-to settle the issue and a Jordanian working paper will be presented.

to the Egyptian and Iraqi authorities in this respect." Simadi said.

linked through the Arab Maritime Bridge Company which operates the Aqaba-Nweibdeh

The three countries are already

"Contacts are continuing with"

Jordan and Iraq.

land sea route.

cultural exhibitions and the exthem, exchange national agrichange of publications. Drivers concerned over projected

Cairo-Baghdad land transport route AMMAN (J.T.) - A projected Transport's Secretary General portation operations would have Dr. Mohammad Simadi has been drivers.

land transport route between Cairo and Baghdad has created concern to the owners and drivers of trucks that commute between Aquba and Baghdad between Amman and the Iraqi capital, and meetings are being held in Amman in a bid to safeguard the interest of the Jordanian truck owners, according to a report in Al Dustour Arabic daily

TUNIS (Petra) — Jordan along with 13 Arab countries is taking part in the third meeting by heads of criminal investigation departments to discuss further cooperation within the Arab World in the fight against crime and the cri-

Oasis Lounge

فندق فيلادلفيا The Philadelphia

INTERNATIONAL HOTEL MANAGEMENT GROUP Tel:663100

FROM 7.00 TILL 11.00.

Jordan Times

Editorial Director: RAKAN AL MAJALI Director General: DR. RADI AL WAQFI Editor-in-Chief:

DR. WALEED M. SADI

Editorial and advertising offices: Jordan Press Foundation.

University Road, P.O. Box 6710, Amman, Jordan. Telephones: 667171-6, 670141-4, 684311, 684366

Telex: 21497 ALRAI JO Facsimile: 661242

The Jordan Times is published daily except Fridays. Subscription and advertising rates are available from the Jordan Times Advertising Department.

Enough is enough

TWO SEEMINGLY unrelated reports from two different parts of the world Wednesday have again projected the threats and frustration inherent in the yawning shortcomings in Arab defensive strategies in the Middle East. The first report, carried by an American newspaper, said South Africa was poised to test an intermediate-range ballistic missile developed with Israel's help. The second report, carried by Iran's official news agency IRNA, was not so explicit, but shed some light into the country's ongoing quest to develop a nuclear programme, ostensibly for peaceful purposes. The Washington Post report on South African-Israeli cooperation in developing missiles, (among other things of course), said the weapon to be tested was a modified version of Israel's Jericho II missile. IRNA reported the arrival in Tehran of International Energy Agency (IEA) Director-General Hans Blix for talks on developing nuclear energy. Needless to say Blix's visit has very little to do with Iran's parallel nuclear plans, which are reportedly belped by at least two East bloc states.

While neither the fact that Israel possesses nuclear weapons nor the Iranian quest to develop an atomic arms programme is any closely-guarded secret like the combination to Fort Knox, the two reports underpin one of the major shortfalls in the Arab military strategy. Yet another report Wednesday, of an Israeli air raid on Lebanon, further exposed what can be nothing but a gaping hole in the defensive wall of the Arab World. What else could be the explanation for the obvious immunity with which Israel sends its jets to bomb and rocket the territory of an Arab League member?

There cannot be any more circumventing the reality that the Arab countries in the Middle East, particularly Iraq, Jordan, Syria and Lebanon, could be easily caught inbetween the nuclear threats posed from both east and west if and when Iran manages to push through its clandestine nuclear programme into fruition. In the last 40 odd years we have seen enough and more of Israeli aggression, arrogance, defiance and immune violations of Arab sovereignty and integrity. The Israeli posture is further boosted by the Zionist state's nuclear weapon capabilities in the face of Arab moderation and peace overtures. Does someone have to spell it out to the Arab World that as long as the Arabs remain static, resigned to accepting Israel's military might and blaming it on the Zionist state's "strategic alliance" with the United States. there cannot be any meaningful solution to the Middle East conflict expect those dictated by the aggressor? The Arab masses at large are asking the question: How long do they have to put up with Israel's open slaps before the leaders will seriously consider revamping and updating their military strategies to such a level that will make the Zionist state hesitate for a moment and think twice before ordering its warplanes into Arab skies? We in Jordan have always been staunch advocates of moderation and dialogue based on the time-proven philosophy that military might, whether conventional or nuclear, is not the answer to political problems. If anything, we have always pointed out that building military prowess is always at the expense of much-needed development projects for any Third World country like ours. But, can we overlook the glaring truth that such moderation has not paid off with Israel, and, on the contrary, it appears to be an encouraging element to the enemy to strike at Arab targets at will? Can we continue to refrain from telling ourselves and the rest of the Arab World that it is high time we got together and moved to plug in the loopholes in our defences to the extent that nuclear deterrents are in place in Arab states?

JORDAN PRESS EDITORIALS

All three Jordanian dailies Wednesday launched a strong attack, on Israel's iron-fist policy practised against the Palestinian people in the occupied West Bank and the Gaza Strip.

Al Ra'i daily said that since its establishment the Jewish state has caused bloodshed, practised terror and war against the Arab people in Palestine and its neighbouring countries; while its leaders have called peace with the Arabs. The long history of criminal actions and atrocities committed by the Zionists in Palestine over the past 40 years, has not quenched their thirst for blood, the paper noted. It said that the PLO has now accepted U.N. Security Council Resolutions 242 and 338 and renounced terrorism and displayed a genuine desire for peace just to win peace and ensure stability and security for the Palestinians in their own homeland. But the Israelis in reply have escalated their atrocities and stepped up their criminal actions in a manner that leaves no doubt about the intentions of the Zionist movement, the paper added. It said that Israel's adherence to its iron fist policy is largely to be blamed on United States' support for the Jewish state and its condoning of its actions against the Palestinian people.

Al Dustour daily said that Israel's crimes in Palestine could not have continued without a tacit approval of the United States which has to date provide protection for Israel at the Security Council meetings. The paper said that the Zionists clearly displayed their lust for bloodshed at the funeral of a settler killed by the Arab resistance and buried Tuesday. Those attending the funeral called for revenge on the Arabs, forgetting their own terrorist actions that resulted in the death of thousands of Palestinians and the demolition of scores of Arab homes involved in resistance activity, the paper pointed out. It said that the United States has encouraged the Jewish state and the Jewish settlers to pursue their inhuman treatment of the Palestinians. denying them the right to a homeland and peace. The United States which brags about its concern over human rights, and democracy and continues to support such atrocities can not be vindicated from injustice that is beyond human endurance, the

Hammer and sickle relax on the Iranian anvil

By P.V. Vivekanand

ALARM BELLS should be ringing in American corridors with this week's groundbreaking visit to the Soviet Union by the possible future president of revolutionary Iran, Ali Akbar Rafsanjani, and the unmistakable anxiety expressed by both Moscow and Tehran to consolidate relations in all spheres. Despite the upbeat tone in superpower detente heralded by Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev's pragmatic approach, the sure-footed strategy Tehran and Moscow appear to have adopted to cement bilateral ties should cause headaches for American strategists.

While raising concerns in the West, the Soviet-Iranian rapprochement also has its implications in the Gulf region, which is slowly getting to its feet after eight years of bloody war between Iran and Iraq, and hopes that the countries could now turn their attention to pressing economic and development issues left unaddressed in the contingencies of the war.

It would be naive to shrug off the emerging Soviet-Iranian alliance as an issue to be seen strictly within the context of state-to-state relations. There is no denial of the fact that Soviet attitudes, perhaps understandably so, left a lot to be desired when it came to the regional destabilisation brought about by postrevolution Iran and its eight-year war. It was apparent that Moscow attached great importance to its ties with Iran and was very careful not to do anything to upset the theologians in Tehran; the persistent Soviet refusal to join possible sanctions against Iran as punitive action for its rejection of ceasefire resolution 598 could easily be seen as the most vivid tell-tale sign. It also cannot be overlooked that Moscow took a low-key, none-too-anxious approach to the Iranian crackdown on the Tudeh Communist Party

What could possibly be behind the enthusiasm of both Moscow and Tehran and the apparent sense of urgency to move to cement ties even before the end of the 40-day official mourning period for revolutionary leader Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini? What is in it

Let us look at the Iranian scene; A quick review of developments since Khomeini died June 3 indicates that there cannot be any immediate positive change in Tehran's approach towards international relations, particularly ties with Western Europe and the United States. The issue of Western hostages in Lebanon and the death decree on author Salman Rushdie left behind by Khomeini are only the tip of an iceberg. There is little doubt that even if the two problematic issues were to be solved overnight, there will be more demands from the West on Iran to prove its "good faith" and turn against "international terrorism" — demands that the Iranian leaders could not meet at this point in time. It is even doubtful whether Iran can apply any pressure worth mentioning on its proteges in Lebanon to release the hostages, given the make-it-or-break-it kind of signals coming from the ongoing violent tug-of-war in the country.

It is obvious that Iran cannot be persuaded against, at this point in time, pursuing its goal of a revolutionaised Lebanon and this by itself is the biggest hurdle in improved Western-Iranian relations. By the same token, it is no secret that the Soviet Union could not be bothered by what happens in Lebanon. If anything, Moscow appears to be more than happy to leave it to Syria to handle the situation as it finds fit. And Damascus is playing a double-edged game in Lebanon; it wants to retain its key role in Lebanese affairs against all odds and hopes to apply the brakes on Iranian designs when necessary. (It remains to be seen how effective the Syrians could be when it comes to the inevitable confrontation with Iran

The Iranians are reassured that the Rushdie affair cannot be an irritant in their ties with the Soviets, who have been studiously silent over the issue as if not to ruffle any religious feathers with Tehran or with their own Muslim minorities in the Central Asian Republics. In short, Moscow has said in so many words that it can be counted upon not to upset the Iranians on the political level while following a "neutral course" in Tehran's relations with the Gulf Arab states. Another strong sign of the Iranian acceptance of the Soviet position came this year when Khomeini extended the rare gesture of receiving a visiting foreign minister, Eduard

Shevardnadze of the Soviet Union. Another submerged element on the political scene is the Soviet desire to use Iran-based Shi'ite Afghan rebels as a balancing factor against their Pakistan-based Sunni counterparts. It is relatively a low price for Tehran to agree to a possible Soviet request that the eight-party Shi ite alliance be persuaded to go along with Moscow's effort to disentangle itself from Afghanistan with a face-saving formula which involves a political role for the Soviet-backed Afghan Communists.

Post-war reconstruction

So, there is no political bone of contention between Iran and the Soviet Union. Next comes economic ties, with the immediate focus on post-war reconstruction in Iran. The Soviets have expressed keen interest in contributing to the effort, and the many agreements that are expected to be concluded during Rafsanjani's visit to Moscow should spell out the nature of Soviet involvement in rebuilding Iran, including the reopening of a major Iranian gas pipeline to the Soviet Union, which will in turn be more than happy to oblige Iranian requests for arms. Iran has also met with positive Soviet response to its request for expert help in prospecting for oil

In short, the Iranians are reassured that the Soviet Union is anxious to forge strong bilateral links and attaches more importance to such relations than any other regional ones. It's green signals almost all the way for Tehran and question marks remain over how far Moscow could be relied upon to act as a restraining

While the players are the same, it is a different game for the Soviets. On the one hand, the very fact that it shares a very long border with Iran lies at the heart of the Soviet Union's keen desire to enlist the Tehran regime as a staunch ally. No doubt Moscow seeks to ensure that Iran cannot break out of the alliance even if it wanted to do so at a future stage; thus the Soviet acquiescence with the Iranian quest to rebuild its military prowess with East bloc weaponry and to initiate a new era in trade and economic ties with communist countries. Fitting into the scene is also the Soviet keenness to resume purchase of Iranian natural gas.

Apart from the potential political leverage it can exercise in Afghanistan with the help of the Iran-backed rebels, strong links with Tehran will also serve, though to a limited extent, Moscow's quest to pacify Islamic fundamentalist unrest in several of its republics with Muslim minorities. Gorbachev himself has admitted that the recent unrest and violence in Soviet Uzbekistan were proof that Islamic "fundamentalism has bared its teeth."

Ironic, or even funny, as it appeared then, a recommendation sent by Khomeini to the president of the Communist Soviet Union in 1988 to turn to Islam as a solution to its political and economic problems should be seen as a reflection of Iranian awareness of the religious clout it can muster among Soviet Muslims. It followed a report by Iranian media that "roars of slogans in support for Imam Khomeini could be heard all the way in Iran from Soviet Tajikistan and other regions" on a religious occasion.

Trouble for the Arab world?

On the whole, the warmth in Soviet-Iranian relations and increased economic interaction between Moscow and Tehran could spell trouble for the Arab world if the fire-brand theologians in-Iran interpret them as the elimination of the Soviet Union as any hurdle in their quest to spread their revolution. All indications are that Tehran's acceptance of a ceasefire in the war with Iraq was only a stop-gap measure before resuming its quest for regional domina tion. Indeed, it may take years before Iran dons the warpaint again, but any such move will follow the enactment of a careful scenario aimed at destabilising or at least "neutralising" the Gulf Arab states whose support for Iraq in the war was one of the major problems encountered by the Iranians in their pursuit of religious and political dominance of the region. Apparently, the Iranian thinking goes that Iran should "settle" the Arab house in the east if it is to hope for any success in its avowed Westward march towards

No doubt, the creation of the Arab Cooperation Council (ACC) grouping of Jordan, Egypt, North Yemen and Iran has cast dark clouds over Iran's goals in that the three other members are now fully committed militarily to step in to help Iraq in the event of a renewed war. But that will not stop Tehran from rekindling the underground fires in some of the Arab Guif states. The possibility is also strong that Moscow might choose to use its newfound friendship with Tehran as another bargaining chip in its quest for resumption of diplomatic relations with Saudi Arabia.

At the same time, some comfort could be drawn from the apparent superpower anxiety to avert regional wars and hopes that Soviet thinking in this context encompasses the Gulf region; it is highly unlikely that Gorbachev, who has clearly repeated his keen desire to see a conflict-free international scene, would do nothing to dampen the Iranian quest. Again, it is a matter of how the eventuality of a resumed conflict in the oil-rich Gulf fits into long-term Soviet policy objectives, including projections that the Soviet Union could turn to be a net importer of oil by the year 1992. No doubt, envoys would soon be leaving Moscow to brief Arab leaders on the shape of things that transpired during Rafsanjani's visit, but they face hard questions in the Arab capitals.

Vietnam puts limits on its version of glasnost

By Denis D. Gray The Associated Press

HANOI - While Soviet citizens, openly criticise their leaders and Poland allows liberalised elections, Vietnam's Communists have fired an editor who printed a short story about an 18th century emperor.

Vietnam, the Communist world's third-most populous nation, has set definite limits to free expression and political change while moving to liberalise its eco-

The list of taboos ranges from public criticism of top leaders and key policies to depicting deceased revolutionary leader Ho Chi Minh in anything but a heroic

Associated Press, Deputy Premier and Foreign Minister Nguyen Co Thach said a multiparty system was out of the question in Vietnam. He contended that current economic reforms would prevent pro-democracy uprisings such as occurred in China.

"We advocate broadening democracy and reaching a consensus through deabte, but we do not tolerate pluralism," party chief Nguyen Van Linh said in a speech in March.

Linh and Thach are key architects of "Doi Moi," or renovation, Vietnam's version of the Soviet Union's glasnost and perestroika reforms. Doi Moi flowered after Linh's rise to power

In a recent interview with the in late 1986, especially in southern Vietnam, where resentment of Marxist misrule is sharp and widespread.

Journalists hit out at corruption and incompetence, and their exposes got some high-level officials fired. Books and magazines proliferated, some fraying the political system's tolerance levels, others offering once-forbidden sexual fare.

But about six months ago, a backlash appears to have been set in motion, either by reformist leaders to placate hard-liners or simply because the ageing leadership as a whole felt things had gone too far. Western analysts say that rather than take the broader Soviet road, the Vietnamese seem to have opted for China's "give the people videos but no votes" approach.

Unlike in China, Vietnamese advocates of democracy have been mostly confined to debate rather than street action, Many have seized upon the firing of magazine editor Nguyen Ngoc last December as a cause.

The editor of the relatively radical and popular Van Nghe literature and art — was pressured to quit after publishing several short stories by a controversial writer, Nguyen Huy Thiep. One depicted Emperor Quang Trung, a national hero who routed the Chinese two centuries ago, as a man of common foibles and frailties. Nguyen Dinh Thi, secretary of troversy within the 450-member organisation has been "so fierce government mouthpieces. spoken out on the case.

Lai Nguyen An, a prominent literary critic, described Ngoc's prisoners remained. dismissal as a move by conservatives to deter Doi Moi.

"Sceptical books about our party, socialism are not allowed. Those who tarnish national figures will be severely criticised," he said in an interview.

Nonetheless, changes have been substantial since a decade ago. Then, political prisoners abounded, teen-agers wearing jeans were suspect, and closely escorted foreign journalists were taken to meet what some Viet-the writer's association, said con- namese disdainfully call "ornamental intellectuals," or that, people forgot politeness." Thach said recently that 94,000 Journalists and others also have inmates of re-education camps. had been released over the past 10 years and only 120 political Relations between state and religious groups have improved. In February, the government allowed a group of prominent academics critical of education standards to open Vietnam's first private university. The founders of Thang Long University in Hanoi say the government is not interfering with their curriculum or their funding, which comes from student fees and contributions by Vietnamese living abroad.

A stroke becomes a self-inflicted wound for Irish Premier

By Robert Barr The Associated Press

DUBLIN — Calling a sudden cunniest: must at the time have looked like a "stroke" - one of those cunning, bolt-from-theblue moves that occasionally enliven Irish politics.

It became a self-inflicted wound that, Prime Minister Charles Haughey acknowledges, may yet prove fatal to his hold on Haughey needed to gain three seats to claim a majority. Instead, when the results were completed last Saturday, he had lost three. The man known as the canniest Irish politician of his time said he would stand again as the Fianna

Fail Party's candidate for 'Taoiseach' (prime minster), and he said he expected to win. "Reasonably certain," he qualified in the next breath.

In the estimation of Conor Cruise O'Brien, writer, academic and no lover of Haughey, the prime minister now suffers from diminished authority and abated

"Quite simply, his political judgment is now in question and, with it, the wider matter of his general competence as leader," John A. Murphy, a professor of history at Cork university, wrote in the Sunday Independent. Fianna Fail, said James Downey, editor of the New Nation magazine, may now have to accept that it is just another party, not the "warriors of desas it claims in its name. Haughey, 63, three times Prime Minister of Ireland, entered the legislature in 1957 when the party's founder, Eamon de Valera, was prime minister. "Whenever I wanted to know what the Irish people wanted," de Valera said in 1922, "I had only to examine my own heart and it told me straight off what the Irish people wanted." Haughey examined the opinion polls, which showed him as the darling of 54 per cent of the voters in February, and concluded that the people wanted to give him a majority in the dail (parliament).

Inflation was low, unemployment has declined, interest rates were moderate and, Fianna Fail strategists figured, the opposition had no heart for an election. 'It was a kind of stroke and one so synonymous with politics a la Fianna Fail," James Morrissey wrote in the Sunday Independent. "But like so many strokes, it simply didn't work."

When the politicians hit the doorsteps for the three-week campaign, they found the voters angry about cuts in the health service, peeved about having to buy a license to fish, and receptive to the programmes of the

The Labour Party and the Workers Party were the big gainers in the election, adding 7 seats to a combined total of 22, plus the likely support of one Democratic Socialist and Ireland's first Green

Party legislator. But the balance of power lay where it always has: with Fianna Fail, 77 seats, and Fine Gael, 55 seats. Low-level negotiations about forming a government — something both sides had sworn last week they would not do with the other - began last Sunday. Beyond the issues, Haughey's reputation may have been a bar to a majority. "They hovers around him the aura of deals and strokes contripoliticians," Murphy wrote.

It was an old concern.

When Haughey was making his successful run for Fianna Fail leader in 1979, Fine Gael leader Garret Fitzgerald spoke of Haughey's "flawed pedigree".

"His motives can be judged ultimately only by God." Fitz. buting to popular cynicism about gerald said in the dail," but we cannot ignore ... that these motives have been widely impugued.

DAY

PEOPLE WHO NEED

Electrolux

P.O.Box 925229 AMMAN

Tel. 604671

MAINTENANCE

SERVICES

Packing, Air Freight Forwarding, Customs Clearance, Door-to-door Service, Ticketing and Reservation needs.

please call:

AMIN KAWAR & SONS Abdel Hamid Sharaf Street

Shmeisani P.O. Box 7806 Amman, Jordan Tel. 604676, 604696

in Jordan 1st Circle, Jabal Amman, near Ahlıyyah Gırls School

Take away is available Open daily 12:00-3:30 p.m. 6:30-Midnight

Tel. 638968

CROWN INT'L EST. packing, shipping, forwarding, storage, clearing, door-to-door service Tel: 664090_660852 Th: 22205 BESMCO JO P.O. Box 925487

慕堂餐廳

MANDARIN

The only typical Chinese cuisine in Amman.

Chinese Flaming pot is available

Take away available

Open daily 12:00 - 15-30

18:00 - 23:30

Wadi Sagra Road - near Traffic

Bridge

Amman, Jordan

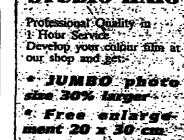

Tel: 661922

CHEN'S CHINESE Chinese Restaurant

RESTAURANT Mecca Street, Yarmouk Engineers' Housing Estate, near Kilo Supermarket Mongolian Barbeque for Lunch Friday only Tel: 818214 Come and taste our specialities Open daily 12:00 - 3:30 6:30 - Midnight

Shmeisani Opp. Grindlays Bank. Phone: 604042 Swefich tet: 823891

CHINESE RESTAURANT TAIWAN TOURISMO Authentic Chinese Food ... Korean Bar-B-Q

Charcoal Flaming Pot Open daily Noon - 3:30 p.m: & 6:30 p.m. - midnight

Location: Near 3rd Circle opposite Akilah Hospital Tel: 641893

Take away service - available Open Daily 12.30-3.30 pm

7.30 H 30 per After the Boliday inv bolist Loyards 3rd class

Tel:659519 659520

Destiné à donner au CONSEIL de COOPERATION ARABE ses premières réelles missions, le sommet des quatre chefs d'Etat du CCA s'est achevé vendredi a Alexandrie par l'adoption de résolutions préconisant le développement des relations économiques et sociales entre la Jordanie, l'Egypte, l'Irak et le Yémen du Nord. Le roi Hussein et les présidents Moubarak, Saddam Hussein et Abdallah Saleh ont ainsi signe une série d'accords de coopération dans les domaines juridiques et de l'aviation civile, ainsi qu'une convention sur la libre circulation et la priorite à l'emploi des travailleurs des pays membres. Le secrétaire général du CCA, M. Helmi Nammar, a par ailleurs confirmé le choix d'Amman comme siège de l'organisation et indiqué que son budget avait été fixé à deux millions de dollars. La plupart des observateurs, qui voient dans le CCA une "union des pauvres", ont surtout retenu de la conférence les déclarations et prises de positions politiques. Ainsi du rappel de la fidélité du Conseil aux organismes de la Ligue arabe, et notamment à la lettre du Pacte de défense commune. Si le sommet a institué une coopération permanente entre les ministres des Affaires étrangères des "Quatre", il s'est garde de renforcer l'union militaire que semblait souhaiter Bagdad, depuis la création du CCA le 16 février dernier. Refusant de se transormer en axe politique, comme l'a rappelé à plusieurs reprises Hosni Moubarak au cours de la réunion, le Conseil a néanmoins appelé au retrait de "toutes" les forces étrangères du Liban, proclamé sa solidarité avec l'Irak face à l'Iran et enfin réaffirmé son soutien à l'Intifada et aux résolutions du sommet arabe de Casablanca sur la question palestinienne.

Condamnée par le sommet du CCA, la répression israélienne dans les TERRITOIRES OCCUPES s'est accrue cette semaine, notamment contre les organisations religicuses. A quelques jours du début du haj, Tel Aviv a en effet décrêté que trois mouvements islamiques. Hamas. Jihad et Hezbollah, sont désormais considérés comme des "organisations terroristes". En clair, les troupes d'occupation pourront arrêter et automatiquement accuser leurs militants d'activité terroriste. Militants, qui devront apporter la preuve du contraire pour recouvrer la liberté, selon les termes memes de la radio israelienne. L'accentuation de la répression s'est traduite également ce week-end par un lourd bilan: sept Palestiniens et un colon israélien ont été tués en Cisjordanie et à Gaza. Alors que M. Shamir a promis aux radicaux d'utiliser la "poigne de fer" pour retrouver les meurtriers du colon d'Ariel, le géneral Dan Shomron, chef d'état-major de l'armée israélienne, a estime qu'il n'existait "aucun moyen pour lutter contre les aspirations des Palestiniens à un État indépendant." (D'après agences).

n relations at and Tehran one difference of the colorate the colorate the colorate the colorate of the colorat

TSuit of release at the lange use in the cat

d march toward

Council (ACT)

iq has caca ded

émbers are m n the evento

n rekinding &

The posses

e ils nesion

) in its doest.

irawn from t

s and hopesal

ruli region, i peated his la-

ould do nothe

ster of how &

1 Gulf fits 🗷

ections that b

oil by the t-vioscow to be and district due

is 411 problem

nos

sdainfully r

intelienne.

recent, and to

¢−2\ďM Œ

:ased was the

oniv iD mik

भ्यापस्य 🏂 :

्याच्या अध्या श्रद्धाः

the engr

ாம் விங்க

incar el ele

pen Veles.

ers or Thans

Hanor are.

or interferen

ात जा तीला 🛍

from since

ions by Vieter

nie

:hev #25 #35

a Fine Car

gerald spok

lawed pages

es (2) le l

oc dail. ल्या

that there is nijeh ime

1,153

:aincd.

northpace.

irabia.

Train.La Jordanie et l'Irak envisagent de construire une voie ferrée reliant Aqaba à Al-Haditha, à 400 kilomètres de la frontière jordanienne. Le coût de ce projet atteindrait 1.9 milliard de dollars, dont 1.35 milliard pour la seule construction de la voie, longue de 1130 kilomètres, a indique samedi à Amman le directeur adjoint de la compagnie de chemin de fer du Hedjaz. Selon M. Mou tamen Khalil, la ligne devrait permettre de transporter dix millions de tonnes de marchandises et deux millions et demi de voyageurs par an. Aucune décision ne sera cependant prisé avant l'étude de rentabilité qui devrait être prochainement lancée, a-t-il précisé

Privé. Le conseil des ministres a donné son feu vert le week-end dernier à la création d'universités privées, afin de permettre au nombre croissant de bacheliers de poursuivre leurs études en Jordanie. D'après les statistiques du ministère de l'Enseignement superieur, les quatre facultés d'Etat accueillent en effet moins de 50% des diplomés du secondaire. La décision du gouvernement vise zalement à freiner la sortie de devises du pays. Une hémorragie financière estimée à quelque 125 millions de dollars.

Voyage. Vingt-six étudiantes et étudiants, majors de leurs promotions cette année à l'université de Jordanie, s'envoleront mardi pour Paris. Organise par l'ambassade de France à Amman, leur séjour comportera notamment la visite d'entreprises, dont l'Aérospatiale et Airbus-industries à Toulouse, ainsi qu'une remcontre avec M. Leclerg, ancien ambassadeur en Jordanie. Ils s'entretiendront également avec le président de l'Institut du monde arabe. Edgard Pisani, avant leur retour, prévu le 11 juillet.

Anticipés. L'élection présidentielle et le referendum constitutionnel, initialement fixes au 18 août prochain en Iran, se dérouleront simultanément le 28 juillet, a annoncé lundi le journal progouvernemental "République islamique. La date des deux scrutins a êté avancée en raison de la nomination d'Ali Khamenei en qualité de "guide" de la République. Jusqu'à présent, seul le président du Parlement, Ali Akbar Hachemi-Rafsandjani, a officiellement présenté sa candidature à la présidence.

Désertification. Le Maroc lancera en juillet une gigantesque opération nationale de reboisement pour lutter contre la désertification. Soixante millions d'arbres devraient ainsi être plantés pour freiner la progression du Sahara vers le nord du pays. Les autorités marocaines ont également invité la communauté internationale à tenter de trouver une parade à la disparition progressive de l'arganier, essence menacée par ce phénomène climatique.

Droits de l'homme... Le quatrième seminaire sur l'enseignement et la défense des droits de l'homme dans le monde arabe a ouvert ses travaux lundi à Syracuse en Italie. Réunis par l'Institut international de sciences criminelles, une quarantaine d'enseignants et de snécialistes des pays arabes, dont six Jordaniens, doivent notamment débattre des droits de l'homme dans l'Islam. Par ailleurs, les présidents des ligues tunisienne, algérienne, marocaine et mauritanienne des droits de l'homme ont annoncé dimanche que le congrès constitutif de "l'union maghrébine" se tiendrait du 6 au 8 octobre prochains a Tunis.

Et de l'animal. Le Japon. Dubaï, l'Afrique du Sud, la Guinée Equatoriale et Hong-Kong ont été condamnés lundi à Genève par la plants for reconnus coupables de participation au commerce de l'ivoire et de complicité dans le massacre des éléphants par un une de l'ivoire et de l'ivoire plants for a cité lu par l'écologies de l'environnement. Le verdict, symbolique, a été lu par l'écologiste suisse Franz Weber, organisateur du procès.

Centenaire. Près d'un demi million de personnes, dont l'ancien président américain Ronald Reagan, ont assisté samedi soir à Paris à un immense spectacle organisé par la ville à l'occasion du centenaire de la tour Eiffel. Cinq mille figurants, acrobates, jongleurs, danseurs et musiciens ont défilé au pied de la "Dame de fer," éclairée par six mille projecteurs multicolores, retraçant l'histoire de la capitale française depuis 1789. La soirée s'était ouverte par cent coups de canon et une "Marseillaise" interprétée par le ténor espagnol Plucindo Domingo. Participaient egalement au spectacle: Johnny Halliday, Mireille Mathieu, Charles Trenet et Stevie Wonder.

Idee. Fini le coup de langue sur le timbre-poste. Les Canadiens disposeront des le 30 juin d'un remplaçant enduit d'une gomme sensible à la pression du doigt, qu'il leur suffire de décade sensible à la pression du doigt, qu'il leur suffira de détacher de son support et d'apposer sur l'enveloppe. Il leur en contraction de support et d'apposer sur l'enveloppe. par carnet de douze timbres pour éviter le goût de la colle.

Que de la colle.

Que mord? Deux jeunes pecheurs de Reims, dans l'est de la France, ont "décroché" dimanche un nouveau record du monde d'endurance de peche à la ligne, en restant douze jours et deux basses de la ligne. scruter leur bouchon. Les deux mordus ont tiré du canal de la Marne une trentaine de kilos de poissons... qu'ils ont remis à l'eau.

Les pieds, les poings et la tête

Le tae-kwon-do: tout le monde en raffole

45 000 Jordaniens le pratiquent dans les 45 centres d'entraînement civils et militaires du royaume. Art martial voisin du karaté et importé de Corée du Sud, le tae-kwon-do est devenu en une dizaine d'années un sport presque aussi populaire que le football. Sous l'impulsion du prince Hassan, ceinture noire 4e dan, qui le premier passa la tenue blanche du tae-kwon-doka. Ils sont une cinquantaine, pan-

talon et chemise en coton blanc reglementaires, à courir à droite et à gauche sur le tatamis du centre d'entrainement de Diebel Amman, près du premier cerele. Une cinquantaine de garçons et de filles, dont une grande majorité d'enfants turbulants et bruyants. Quelques parents sont assis sur un banc près de l'entrée du gymnase et attendent le début du cours. Lorsque le «maître» pénètre à son tour dans la salle, il lui suffit de frapper une fois dans ses mains pour obtenir alignement parfait et silence complet. Les bras serres le long du corps, Ahmed, 5 ans, penche la tête d'un coup sec pour saluer l'entraineur comme l'exige le rituel des arts martiaux. Puis il lève la main droite et du haut de ses quatre vingt quinze centimètres prononce le serment du tae-kwon-doka... jordanien: «J'apprends le tae-kwon-do. J'obéis à son esprit. Je jure mon amour à mon pays et à mon roi. Je suis la voie de la justice et de la verité. Je respecte mes maîtres de tae-kwon-do et, après les tests de connaissances, je resterai fidèle à l'échauffement peut commencer. L'entrainement proprement dit dure près d'une heure, et ce trois fois par semaine, en fin d'aprèsmidi. L'année est rythmée tous les mois ou deux mois par les contrôles de niveau et les passages de ceintures. Du blanc jusqu'au noir, dont révent tous les tae-kwon-dokas en herbe.

Le boum

Séduits par la discipline qui préside à la pratique de ce sport, les parents d'Ahmed, commedeux cents autres familles de la capitale, ont choisi le centre de Diebel Amman pour initier leur rejeton au tae-kwon-do. «La popularité du club tient surtout au fait que son responsable est l'epouse du maître sud-coréen Chen Chiou-Hwa», explique son trésorier. Un patronyme familier à presque tout les Jordaniens. Et pour cause, puisqu'il designe celui qui fut l'instructeur du premier tae-kwon-doka du royaume, en la personne du prince Hassan, dont il demeure l'ami intime.

Née au milieu des années 70, la passion du prince héritier pour le sinon sept jours par semaine et ses objectifs». Alors seulement sport national de Corée du Sud fait du tae-kwon-do le deuxième

Samer Kamal dans ses oeuvres. Ceinture noire 4e dan, ce militaire de 23 ans occupe la fonction de capitaine de l'équipe nationale de Jordanie.

est à l'origine de l'extraordinaire sport du pays, derrière l'indétrôn- à drainer de nouvelles recrues développement du tae-kwon-do en Jordanie. Aux clubs universitaires et militaires, dans lesquels quelques férus jouaient des pieds et des poings, est venue s'adjoindre, en 1979, la fédération nationale. Décidée à promouvoir le pied-poing-tête (traduction littérale), elle s'est rapidement dotée d'un comité directeur prestigieux. S'y cotoient, auprès du prince Hassan, neuf personnalités de premier plan, parmi lesquelles le président de la compagnie aérienne Royal Jordanian, Ali Gandour, le général de brigade Al-Tayeb ou encore l'ancien ministre des Finances et ex-dépu-té Moussa Abou Rajeb. «Au tout début, se souvient le secretaire géneral de la fédération, Majid Mansour, nous n'avions que deux centres d'entrainement et guère plus de 3 000 adeptes, militaires inclus. Aujourd'hui, 45 000 enfants et adultes, dont 1 000 femmes, sont inscrits dans les 45 salles que nous avons ouvertes dans tout le royaume». Un boum qui oblige les clubs à ouvrir leurs portes six .

able football. Dans la plupart des écoles primaires, il fait partie des activités proposées aux élèves. «J'avais le choix entre la musique, la gymnastique et le tae-kwon-do». raconte Mazen, 10 ans, qui s'est lancé il y a deux ans. «Les deux premiers ne me plaisaient pas du tout», poursuit-il. Sous la présidence du prince

Hassan et suivant les conseils de «maître Chen», la fédération a rapidement institué deux championnats nationaux annuels. «Ces compétitions nous ont permis de mettre sur pied une équipe nationale dans les huit catégories de poids du tae-kown-do», explique Majid Mansour. La recette était bonne, comme en témoignent les soixante-cinq trophées glanés ces dix dernières années, dont les deux médailles de bronze remenées de Séoul l'an dernier par le capitaine de la formation même enveloppe que l'année dernationale, Samer Kamal (58 à 64 nière, alors que le nombre des kg) et Toufic Raji (plus de 83 kg).

soit pas inscrit au nombre des sports olympiques, l'exploit fut surtout le porteseuille des pasalué par le roi lui-même et con- rents. L'inscription a Amman

Tennis

1er open

de Jordanie

Amateurs de passing shot,

volée et autres performances tennistiques, rassurez-vous: le temps ne vous paraitra pas

long entre Roland Garros et Wimbledon. Le premier open

de Jordanie a débuté mardi sur

les courts de Sport City, à Amman. 66 joueurs ont répon-

du à l'appel de candidatures

lancé par la Fédération jordanienne de tennis. Ce premier tournoi international est réserve aux simples hommes, mais sera suivi dès le mois prochain

par un open simples dames

ouis double mixte. Une ving

taine d'étrangers ont sauté sur

l'occasion et tenteront peut-

etre leur chance contre Hani

Alali ou Hiad Ichadi, respec-

tivement premier et deuxième

meilleurs joueurs jordaniens.

organisation reste informelle.

Jusqu'aux demi-finales, pré-vues pour lundi prochain, les concurrents arbitrent euxmémes leur match et pas l'om-

bre d'un ramasseur de balle sur

les trois courts où les parties se déroulent simultanément. La

Fédération iordanienne espère encourager le tennis grace a une saison spectaculaire. Le royaume ne compte que 400

joueurs répertoriés dans une dizaine de clubs. Seuls une douzaine d'élus ont atteint un

assez bon niveau pour con-

courir dans les grands tournois

Matches tous les jours ouvrables

jusqu'au 27 juin prochain, courts

de sport city, entrée gratuite.

internationaux.

Pour cette grande première, vers les tapis de sol. «Sans le prince Hassan, nous n'aurions jamais pu parvenir à nous hisser parmi les huit meilleures équipes du monde», affirme Mikhled Assaf, l'entraineur du «huit» jordanien. Un entraineur heureux, qui s'apprête à envoyer deux de ses joueurs aux 3e jeux internationaux, qui rassembleront les meilleurs formations de la planète en RFA à partir du 23

Plutôt cher

Malgré ses bons résultats internationaux et les stages en Coree ou à Taiwan dont bénéficient désormais la formation nationale. la fédération jordanienne de taekwon-do se plaint de la stagnation de son budget. «Le ministère de la Jeunesse nous a alloué 140 000 dinars pour 1989, soit la licencies continue de s'accroître», Bien que le tae-kwon-do ne souligne son secretaire général.

La pratique de ce sport allège tribua, s'il en était encore besoin, coûte 20 dinars, dont 10 pour prélevés par la fédération. Tous les deux mois, les contrôles de connaissances sont facturés 7 dinars. «Et il y a sept ceintures à obtenir, sans compter les passages de dan», précise une mère de famille particulièrement

Rares cependant sont ceux qui décident de renoncer à poursuivre l'instruction de leurs chères petites têtes brunes. Pas plus d'ailleurs pour des raisons financières que pour le danger que peut représenter la pratique du tae-kwon-do. Contrairement à son cousin le karaté, le coup de pied ou de poing doit en effet être directement porté à l'adversaire. «On est protégé par un casque,. des brassières, des genouillères et une coquille, explique le numéro un jordanien, Samer Kamal. Ça ne m'a pas empêche de perdre deux dents dans un combata, ajoute-t-il.

Exigeant une excellente santé physique, le tae-kwon-do demande également des nerfs solides. Notamment pour éviter l'usage abusif de la force qu'il procure à l'initié. Nous interdisons à quiconque de porter sa tenue hors des salles d'entraînement, soutient Majid Mansour. De meme que nous ne concevons ce sport que dans les limites d'un loisir. Le tae-kwon-do enseigne le respect d'autrui, et cultive lovaute et obéissance envers l'instructeur et, au-dela, envers les supérieurs et le gouvernement».

insiste-t-il. La réalite s'écarte parfois de ces principes. Certains tae-kwondokas reconnaissent à demi-mot qu'ils considérent leur sport comme un moven d'auto-défense sinon comme le moyen de s'affirmer dans leur groupe d'«amis».

Alain Renon.

Le pélerinage débute dimanche

«J'ai du mal à m'endormir»

Des centaines de milliers de musulmans du monde entier s'apprétent à confluer vers les plus hauts lieux saints de l'Islam, la Mecque et Médine. Quinze mille Jordaniens, Palestiniens des territoires occupés et croyants d'Israël, prendront le chemin de l'Arabie Saoudite à partir de dimanche, afin d'accomplir le pélerinage, Haj, qui fait partie des cinq piliers de la religion musul-

"J'ai du mal à m'endormir, tellement je suis tendu». A quelques jours de son départ pour le ans, il va effectuer son premier pélerinage à la Mecque et Médine, conformément aux principes fondamentaux de l'Islam. Le Coran en fait effectivement un devoir pour tout croyant, au même titre que la profession de foi (Chahada), le jeûne (Çawm), la prière (Çalat) et l'aumône (Zarkat ou Çadaqa).

*J'y pensais depuis trois ans», poursuit Abou Akef, dont le départ en bus est prévu pour le 28 juin. Comme un grand nombre de pelerins, il a décidé de rester sur place pendant une vingtaine de jours pour rapporter à sa femme et ses enfants des cadeaux, tels que des tapis de priere. Si ces proches ne l'accompagnent pas, c'est qu'un tel vovage lui coûte plus de 700 dinars. «L'inscription et le billet représentent à eux seuls 356 dinars, précise-t-il. Le ministère des Affaires religieuses nous a conseillé de n'emmener en plus que 360 dinars environ».

Elections européennes

Rose, vert et noir

trême-droite ont marqué des re des 5% lors d'une élection

çais, conduits par Antoine France enfin, la liste du socialiste

RFA depuis la guerre, un parti 10.61%. (D'après Agences).

Le vote français à Amman

Sur 102 électeurs français inscrits sur les listes électorales à Amman, 42 ont pris part au vote de dimanche. Les resultats, en nombre de voix, sont les suivants: Parti communiste: 1; Opposition UDF-RPR: 11; Liste Simone Veil: 3; Parti socialiste: 12;

nationale.

Les socialistes, les verts et l'expoints jeudi et dimanche derniers

lors des élections des 518 députés

du Parlement européen de Stras-

Dans la plupart des 12 pays de la CEE, les électeurs ont favorisé

la gauche non communiste et les écologistes. Les socialistes pas-sent de 166 à plus de 180 sièges et

Les verts ont gagné une dizaine

de sièges, essentiellement grace à la poussée des écologistes fran-

Waechter, mais aussi à leurs bons

scores en Italie et en Belgique.

Autre percée, celle de l'ex-

trème-droite ouest-allemande

qui, avec plus de 7% des voix, enverra 6 ou 7 deputés à Strasbourg. Pour la première fois en

Ecologistes: 8; Extrême-droite: 7.

restent le groupe le plus important du Parlement européen.

Abou Akef ne sera pas seul poussière avant de rejoindre jordaniens et Palestiniens.» Médine, premiere étape du Haj.

d'extrême-droite a franchi la bar-

Les élections européennes ont

par ailleurs bousculé des partis au

pouvoir: la coalition chrétienne-démocrate d'Helmut Kohl, en

RFA, perd 8 points par rapport à

1984: les conservateurs britanni-ques se sont faits devancer de 5 points par les travaillistes: en

Grèce, où l'on votait aussi pour les Législatives, le Parti socialiste

d'Andreas Papandreou a été bat-

tu par les conservateur de la

«Nouvelle Démocratie»; en

Laurent Fabius n'a réalisé que

23,69% des voix face aux 23,58%

de Valéry Giscard d'Estaing (UDF-RPF). Simone Veil (Centre) n'obtient que 8,35%, le PC

7,85%. Le Front national cumule

11,67% des suffrages et les Verts

«Les ministères de la Santé et pour autant. Sa famille, les de l'Intérieur participent à l'orga-Obeidat, occupera quatre des 300 nisation du pélerinage, explique bus affrêtés par la Jordanie au- le directeur-adjoint du Haj, près de 17 compagnies de trans- Samir Qudah. A l'instar du minisports publics. Comme eux, il tère des Affaires religieuses, ils s'apprête à passer deux journées enverront des délégations pour difficiles dans la chaleur et la aider et encadrer les pélerins

Le Hai en chiffres

En 1988, 11 000 musulmans avaient effectué le pélerinage sous la tutelle jordanienne, dont 500 Palestiniens des territoires et 5 000 d'Israel. Cette année, 1 000 viennent de Gaza, 2 000 de Cisjordanie et 5 000 de l'Etat hébreu. Parmi les 15 000 pélerins enregistrés par le royaume, près de 53% sont des femmes. Une trentaine de convois, constitués de 300 bus achemineront 14 000 d'entre et en Arabie Saoudite. Par ailleurs, quesque 16 000 pélerins turcs feront halte en Jordanie du 22 au 26 juin. Avant l'instauration des quotas par Ryad, le nombre des pélerins jordaniens et palestiniens oscillait entre 30 000 et 35 000.

«Hot Ice» en concert

Quatre glaçons brûlants

Le groupe jordanien «Hot Ice» se produit ce soir dans l'am-phithéatre des jardins du roi Abdallah, au wadi Sagra à Amman. Un concert pour répertoire original, qui restituera les rythmes les plus purs, du blues au

Ils sont quatre. Trois musiciens et une chanteuse, qui ont rapporté de Grande-Bretagne le goût et les rythmes du jazz, les fractures du regeae et la langueur du blues. Héritier de Stevie Wonder, d'E-Iton John ou encore de Paul Mac Cartney, le groupe «Hot Ice» n'en a pas moins sa propre personnalité et joue en concert son répertoire.

De l'ampleur des tonalités du blues, à la richesse des rythmes jazzy en passant par un reggae haut en couleur, ce jeune groupe nous livre une égale qualité d'expression. On aimera les brises du «fast beat» soutenus par les accents profonds des résonnances électroniques où s'installe la voix brûlante de la chanteuse, Rania Kamhawi.

«Hot Ice» n'oublie pas ses racines et mélange les genres. La musique arabe côtoie les sons électroniques, le oud se marie à la

Raniz Kamhawi (chant), Qousai Zreikat (basse), Moussa Faza (compositeur et keyboards) et Nader Faza (batterie).

batterie dans le mode hijazi. «On croit très fort à l'héritage de la musique arabe», déclare Rania. «Hot Ice» lance le défi de regénérer une tradition en ne lui réfusant pas les apports extérieurs.

Sabine Demaini

BCDEFGHI 3 6

Mots croisés

Horizontalement.

1: pour changer du noir et blanc. 2: hostile. 3: petit ruisseau; bouger. 4: tirera. 5: pas deux; repose allongé 6: article; récolte. 7: font la guerre; article. 8: infinitif; reflèté. 9: île; au tennis. 10: épluchèVerticalement.

A: en rond. B: Organisation des Nations-Unies; raconte. C: ici. D: susceptible. E: ne pleurera pas; article. F: arbres; pronom. G: tellement; étendue d'eau. H: en dehors des lois. I: bâtir. J: manque; l'un des points cardinaux.

Films en version originale, Tél: 603901. Route de l'université, à droite après l'hôtel Jérusalem puis première à gauche. 300 m.

Photo. L'homme du XXe siècle,

et notamment en Allemagne de 1919 à 1939, vu par l'objectif du photographe allemand August

Sander (1876-1964), où quand la

photo met l'esthétisme au service

Institut Goethe, du 24 au 28 juin (vernissae

Peinture. Le peintre Mohammad Nasralla, diplômé de l'Institut de beaux-arts d'Amman, presente sa

première exposition personnelle.

composée de 40 tableaux à l'huile.

Centre culturel français, landi 26 juin a Hot Ice. Blues, jazz, reggae, avec le jeune quatuor jordanien Hot Ice, qui interpréte son propre répertoire.

Amphithéatre des jardins du roi Abdallah, Wadi Sagra, jeudi 22 juin à 19h30. Prix des places: 3 et 5 dinars. (Voir ci-contre).

du temoignage historique.

samedj à 17h00).

CONCERT

EXPOSITIONS

(Solution en has de page)

A L'AFFICHE

CINEMA

Seize the day, de Fielder Cook, avec Robin William, Joseph Wiseman et Jerry Stiller, Le chomage, la pauvreté, les tuiles qui se succedent, un mariage déliquescent, un père qui le rejette ... ou la vie d'un raté. Centre américain, jeudi 22 et dimanche 25 juin à 19600 (en anglais).

Roy Orbison and friends. Quand une caméra s'invite à une soirée rock and roll au "Cocoanut Grove" de Los Angeles, où Orbison fait le "bocuf" avec quelques amis, tels Jackson Browne, Elvis Costello, Bruce Springsteen ou encore Tom Waits... Centre américain, mardi 27 juin à 19h0b.

Songe d'une puit d'été, d'Ingmar Bergman, avec Ulla Jacobson et Gill Natorph.

Haya arts centre, jeudi 22 juin à 20h00 (en

Ciné-Club. Séances respectivement à 13h00, 15h00, 17h00, 19h00 et 21h00.

Jendi 22: Jaws; Leoking for mister Good-bar; La rufe vers For; Master friday; Pienic at hanging Rock. Vendredi 23: Casablanca: The party; Open season; Guys don't dance; Seven Samurdi. Samedi 24: Metropolis: A fish called Wan-da: Being there; Les cadavres ne portent pas de costards Dimanche 25: Woman in red; Jeremy John-son: 1984: Milarro, bean field: Brazil.

Dimnebe 25: Woman in red; Jeremy Johnson; 1984; Milagro, bean field; Brazil.
Lundl 26: Radio days; Full metal jacket;
This property is condamned; Gorillas in the mist; Play it again. Sam.
Mardl 27: Frankenstein Junior; Kagemusha: Coming to America; Colour of money: Hanna and her sisters.
Mercredi 28: Nosferatu; Amarcord; Running man; The big town; Accidentally

TELEVISION Maigret voyage, dans la série des aventures du célèbre personnage de l'écrivain français Simenon. L'ne contesse tente de se suicider après la découverte du cadavre d'un colone britannique ... Le tout dans l'hôtel où Maigret passe ses vacances. JTV. vendredi 23 loin à 17h30.

Solution des mots croisés

Horizontalement. l: coloration. 2: inamical. 3: rū: branler. 4: tractera. 5: un; gft. 6: la: glanage. 7: armées; le. 8: ir; miré. 9: Ré; set. 10: pelèrent.

Verticalement.

A: circulaire. B: ONU; narre. C: la. D: ombrageuse. E: rira: le F: acacias; se. G: tant; mer. H: illégalité. I: ériger. J: rate; est.

ailable

Arctic village becomes Kathmandu of north

By Russell Blinch Reuter

RESOLUTE, Northwest Territories -- The Parka-clad Eskimo family - child, father, and mother with baby strapped on her back - weren't interested in the knick-knacks, cups and spoons at the front of the Hudson's Bay

While they busied themselves stocking up on groceries, the manager of the general store in this remote Arctic outpost explained that the souvenirs were really for the tourists. Tourists?

"Yes. They want something that says 'resolute' on it, so they can say they've been to the most northern community," store manager Shawn Green said, explaining why his stock of "resolute T-shirts were sold out.

The tourists are really explorers, adventurers and scientists who are flocking in increasing numbers to the tiny community on Cornwallis Island, 2,082 miles from Montreal and accessible only by air.

As Kathmandu is to Mount Everest, this town of less than 200 residents is used as a base by those who come each spring to explore the Arctic and the North

"We call it the silly season." said Chris Craft. Manager of

By Paul Alexander

The Associated Press

NEW YORK — After years of efforts to stop poachers from wiping out the African elephant, conservationists have suddenly reaped a bumber crop of successes: a string of national bans on effect," said Jorgen Thomsen.

senior programme officer for Elephant Conservation at the

"It's been a real snowball ivory imports.

World Wildlife Fund.

vides a range of support and emergency services to the expedi-

In what seems a revival of the 19th century fascination with the North Pole, there has been an explosion of Arctic expeditions - ranging from the serious to the frivolous - in recent years.

"Everybody's done everything to go to the pole, except ride there on a toaster," said Greg Sorensen, a worker for Narwhal Arctic Services, which runs a hotel for the adventurers.

The most recent assault on the pole was in May when an international team led by Britain's Robert Swan walked to it in a venture that cost some $3 million.

Bradley air dropped the team off from the northernmost point on Canada's Ellesmere Island on March 20. Fifty-six days and 960 kilometres later the team reached Bradley, after first being stymied by an Arctic storm, landed at the pole on a makeshift air strip on the ice and then brought the explorers back to Resolute. Arctic exploration has been oing on for centuries but in the 1800s it reached a fever pitch when European explorers, treated as heroes at home, tried to find the fabled northwes' passage to the east.

They failed, and turned their sights on the pole. Although it is disputed. Amer-imposed bans on the ivory imports that make poaching profitable. The EEC, Japan and the United States consume up to 75 per cent of the ivory on world

major world ivory dealer and carver, has announced a moratorium on raw ivory imports. Ivory is used for the signature stamps

popular in many Asian nations, and for jewelry, piano keys and

In addition, Hong Kong, the markets.

carvings.

ity. Switzerland and Canada have ban at a Geneva meeting in October.

within 15 years.

claimed to be the first to reach the pole, in 1909. In 1926 a plane made its first flight over the pole and in 1958 a U.S. nuclear submarine visited the point by sailing under the arctic ice pack.

"Some of the characters you meet up here are most interesting," said Barry Hough, base manager for the Canadian government's polar continental shelf organisation, which is involved in a myriad of arctic endeavours, including conducting research from a floating ice island.

Hough said Resolute, founded as a weather station 1947 and named after an 18th-century arctic exploration ship, has become a point of departure for anyone wishing to make the pilgrimage to the North Pole.

The community, a mixture of Eskimos, businesspeople and government workers, still talking about a man who spent $100,000 on a custom-made motorcycle to drive to the pole.

There was also interest in a group of men from France who have visited Resolute several times to map out their plan to drive to the pole in a six-wheeldrive truck.

Then there was the Japanese actress a few years ago who, while being pulled on a slend to the pole by snomobile, had a hot pizza delivered to her on the ice by her outfitters back in Reso-

The Conservationists' sudden success follows a June 1 appeal by the World Wildlife Fund and Wildlife Conservation International. The two groups said poachers were wiping out elephant populations in Africa faster than originally thought.

Selling organs for transplant worries ethicists worldwide

By Maud Beelman

NEW YORK — A Turkish peasant claims he was robbed of one of his kidneys. Philippines prison inmates trade organs for reduced sentences. Brokers in human body parts take their cut of a shadowy market.

The economics of supply and demand in the desperate world of organ transplants has brought a trade in human organs that worries health officials and ethicists worldwide.

As research has advanced, allowing for more successful transplants, the need for organs has increased. But the number of donated organs has failed to keep pace, and some health officials say supply will never match de-

People often are either too grieved to donate a loved one's organ on death or object for religious or cultural reasons, and not enough people die under medical conditions that allow for transplantable organs, doctors

To fill that gap, dealers in human body parts have stepped forward. And while the full extent of the commercial organ market is not known, there is concern it is growing.

What, if anything, to do about the trade in human organs varies greatly - from countries that ban it, like the United States, Japan and West Germany, to India, where such trade thrives legally. In Britain and the Philippines, lawmakers have just begun grappling with the highly charged

"There simply doesn't seem to be any country that has a public policy to generate enough organs to meet the demand," said Arthur Caplan, director of the Centre for Biomedical Ethics at the University of Minnesota, who has focused for more than 10 vears on transplant ethics.

The World Health Organisation in May called for a global ban on commercial trafficking in human organs, urging member na-tions to introduce legislation banning organ selling. West German health minister the ban, said the number of commercial organ transplants had increased despite a 1987 WHO assembly resolution expressing Ivory bans snowball, years after environmentalists began day later. Penalties vary for

"We do this out of mounting

the wild elephant, one of nature's violations in the United States,

the maximum penalty is a year in iail and a $100,000 fine.

4, and the United States followed President George Bush said at concern for the rapid decline of considered particularly critical to most majestic creatures," U.S. demand. Japan is the largest im-

Dr. Ursula Lehr, in appealing for concern over the trade for profit in human organs.

"The idea of business-minded brokers taking advantage of the financial distress of people in the Third World, buying their organs for a pittance and reselling them to wealthy patients in developed countries is awful for me," said Dr. Lehr.

But some ask what's wrong if people, fully informed of the risks, decide to sell an organ they can do without, for example, a kidney?

The question becomes further complicated when the potential donor is desperately poor. Offers for transplantable kidneys have ranged in individual instances from $3,000 to $20,000.

"Is it really for us, who are not faced with those difficulties and that heart-rending decision, to deny people that choice?" Neil Hamilton, a British lawmaker, asked during recent parliamentary debate.

It's not intrinsically wrong to sell organs," said James Childress, a professor of religious studies and medical education at the University of Virginia. "However, I think there are good societal and ethical reasons for being opposed to a market in organs," such as potential coercion and exploitation. "It really isn't a choice if you're coerced by poverty," said Ca-

Robbed of their organs

Others worry that selling organs would decrease donations and make transplants more expensive in general.

"We have believe that commercial trade in organs would lead to inequality as organs would go to the highest bidder rather than to the patient who needs them most," said Bernadette Haze, a spokeswoman for the Netherlands-based Eurotransplant, which matches organ donors and recipients in the Netherlands, Belgium, Luxembourg, West Germany and Au-

Britain, which currently has no law banning the sale of organs, took up the issue earlier this year after a Turk was arrested in Istanbul for allegedly arranging commercial transplants at a private London hospital. One of the "donors" contended he was the Philippines, but in late May,

the time. "If their populations continue to diminish at current rates, the wild elephant will soon

any effective reduction in ivory

Japan and Hong Kong were

be lost from this earth."

duped and robbed of his kidney. He alleged organ broker, Tunc Av Kunter, was convicted May 18 of brokering the sale of a Turkish peasant's kidney for transplant into a Libyan doctor and sentenced to two years in prison. The prosecutor claimed Kunter headed the Turkish branch of an international ring that markets Third World kidneys, and police said Kunter confessed to arranging four such sales when he was arrested.

Turkish law allows the donation of human organs, but makes it a crime to sell, broker or buy human organs.

The peasant, Ahmet Koc, who got a two-year suspended sentence, contended he was taken to a British hospital for what was described as a check-up linked to a job offer in Britain. After the kidney was removed, he said he was paid the equivalent of $4,267. The incident prompted British lawmakers to introduce legislation making it a criminal offence to pay or receive payment for a human organ. Parliament is expected to pass it this summer. Organ sales are not illegal in porter and consumer of ivory, accounting for 40-per cent of the world market. Hong Kong is heavily involved in making ivory

More responsibility

Tel: 677420

"The real victory is Japan."

carvings for re-export.

the vice president of the Philippine senate filed a bill to ban the selling of human organs and tis- peddling in transplants. sues, calling practitioners "modern day Draculas."

Filipino prisoners began donating organs in 1976 as part of a whether pioneering American programme to reduce overcrowd-transplant surgeon. Thomas programme to reduce overcrowding on death row without resort-... ing to widespread executions, said Pablo Rosales, assistant director of the National Penitentiary. Rosales said a death row inmate's case would be reviewed after donation, with most donors avoiding execution and some were not as ill as other patients or being freed after a few more years in prison.

When capital punishment was banned in 1987, prisoners started asking for money, he said.

kidney even complained to Rosales that all he received was $95 and not the additional minicassette recorder he was prom-

"Some doctors and prison people made money in the deals." said Rosales, who said he played no role and had no idea of the amounts: involved. Media attention, beginning several years ago, greatly reduced the number of people seeking organs from prisoners, Rosale said, and no prisoner has donated a kidney since last year. But he believes organ sales continue with private dosors. most likely poor sluin dwellers

Unethicai

"There are no established guidelines in the sale of body organs, but we believe it is my ethical to sell body parts?

Dr. Kazuo Ota, chairman of the Japan Society for Transplantation, said he knew of several patients who were operated on in the Philippines and that some Japanese profiteers were acting as organ brokers. Organ sales are banned in Japan. 📑 Dr. Jorge Nuemann of the Sao Panlo heart institute and a menber of the Brazilian Association of Organ Transplants, said ocitainly there exists a black market of organs in Brazil." But he said there were no statistics on organ sales and no way to estimate the market's size.

In the United States, where selling organs has been illeeal since 1984 and sentiment against such a practice is high, there have been allegations of influence

In April, U.S. investigators said they had dropped a nearly three-year investigation into Starzl gave high-paying foreigners preferential treatment at two hospitals in Pittsburgh. The investigation followed-newspaper articles which said about 28 per cent of the transplants by Starzl's team in 1984 and 1985 were for foreigners who often had waited less time, but who paid more surgeon's fees.

Starzi, head of transplants at Presbyterian-University and children's hospitals, said his reputa-One prisoner who donated a tion and that of the hospitals had been cleared.

Groundless reports?

The organ selling controversy reached superpower level last October, when the U.S. State Department blamed the Soviet Union for "groundless" reports that adoption rings routinely sold babies from Third World countries to American or Israeli families with children who needed

The State Department said a resolution approved by the European Parliament criticising the alleged activity was based on "false and misleading statements and a discredited report by a

Soviet front organisation. Caplan argues for regulations to ensure that medical need, rather than money or influence, determines who gets available

In addition, he said, Ghoulish extremes could result if countries allow organ sales to go unchecked. As much as grave robbing was a reality of the 18th cebtury, so could contract killings for bodyparts become a part of modern

Such incentives could include

Dr. Jeremiah Turcotte, a transplant surgeon at the University of Michigan and director of the Transplant and Health Policy

day medicine. Some in the field say providing incentives could increase donations, and replacing the organ broker with a neutral party, such as government, could cut the risk of exploitation.

organs.

Conservationists estimate Africompensating organ donors or their families for all medical costs, time lost from work or burial expenses. There could also be a break on inheritance of Conservationists say most other elephant populations in Africa are suffering similar fates, except in Zimbabwe, Botswana and South Africa. Zimbabwe has annual elephant kills and a thriving legal trade in elephant products. In the last 12 months it has earned about $600,000 in legal ivory sales.

Poachers have killed most of the big male elephants in some countries and are switching in some cases to young beasts, according to a conservationists' report this month based on material from more than 25 biologists, conservationists, economists and trade specialists.

Late in life As a result, three times as many elephants must be killed to provide the same amount of ivory as 10 years ago, the report said. Most ivory is added late in life among males. "The annual ivory haul must be reduced to at least a tenth of its present volume to enable popula-

Thomsen said. "Hong Kong's action was very much to save face," because its two biggest customers — Japan and the U.S. — had banned imports.

This proves that we have taken more responsibility as con-sumer countries," Thomsen said. "We may have prevented a catastrophe. Credit should also be placed with the African countries, who previously had opposed a ban but now realise the crisis situation. Several African countries recently have made an about-face and taken the initiative to protect rapidly dwindling elephant populations. Kenya last month followed the lead of neighbouring Tanzania and Somalia in calling for a worldwide ivory import ban.

can elephant populations have dropped by half to two-thirds in the past decade, from 1.5 million in 1978 to between 400,000 and 700,000 today. Ivory exports have increased from 300 tonnes a eyar in the 1950s to more than 800 tonnes annually this decade, they

An aerial survey last year found an estimated 20,000 elephants in Kenya, which 15 years ago had 121,000. The number of elephants in Tanzania has fallen to $0,000 from 300,000 in 1979, according to government officials.

Centre in Ann Arbor, said there is as risk in compensating organ "But it doesn't necessaril mean it's not ethical," he said, stressing this was his persona opinion. There are very good very ethical people who think it's all right. It's against the Western

Recently, transplant resear chers have begun looking al animal-to-human transplants.
There's always been a short tage of organs and there probably always will be unless we learn to take them out of animals Caplan. 'I don't know # # going to be biologically feasible tradition, but it may be starting it change."-

but I think that's the directions have to try. At a meeting at the end of May of the American Society of Trans plant Physicians, researchers; pet dicted pigs would become the main source of donor organs out cross species transplaintation be comes practical that are prolific and chean and that means probably pies — a monkeys, not baboons, not clist panzees, which raise ethics cue tions in their own right." Capital said. "Very few people get work." tions to recover," the report said. Fed ap about the fate of the Elephant population is dwindling in several African countries.

Tel: 677420 Cinema COACORD ONCE BITTEN ances: 3:30, 6:30, 8:30, 10:30 p.#

MUDGEER

THE BEACH

GIRL

Tel: 675571

BLAZA

91/2 WEEKS

are no crat in the sale of t we believe it sell body by id.
DO Ota, drag Society for Said he knew of who were open ippiness and ba rofiteers were okers. Organic

Japan

e Nuemann de

i institute and e

Brazilian Ase

ransplant, se

exists a blate

n Brazil Buk

no station

DO PISUSO OF

O way to the United State land senting and senting a lice is high detailors of a transplage.

Larsplans

nad dropped

Investigate

oneering 4

Surgeon T

e high-pant

als in Pinds

estigation k

articles who

cent of the ic.

team in 1981z

foreigner is ill as other pa

less time.

SUITECUTI'S TO

ead of trans

n-Conversity

Dicals. said by

at of the hope

adless report

an-seline oz

aperpower be

ahen die US

H Manned the

्रवातमातान्त्र, ।

் பாத நாக

n Thurd North

PERICAL OF MEN

children who a ie Department

abbrovey pice

ament aikas

misleading 920

credited repor

Mediceno (

that medical mores of 🕾 who see y

an he said. C ould result de

i siles to ma

h as graic होई

f the 19th of

raci killings

me a part dis

could more replacing # a neumai ps

cai, could as he organ de

, lost form

nes. There of k on where

nuch Turcone

on at the Up and director

and Hoss

Aan Arbor. 9

a compensión

Joesn's *

there are as

is the state of th

transplate in the interest of the interest in the interest in any a the a care to the care t

ម្រហ្ម. entires and

n. the field say F ed.

Ze.

Focus on People

They chose to stay

This week Peter S.M. Kuni (alias Abu Khalil) talks to Focus on People about his long journey from his hometown of Annuel in central China to his new home in Jabal

ON THE YELLOW river that flows through most of China lies Animei, Peter Kuai's hometown. There, at the age of 13, sometime in the early 1940s, Peter joined preparatory air force school and graduated to attend the Chinese Air Academy. At the outbreak of the civil war in China, Kuai, along with hundreds of thousands of fellow Chinese, fled to Taiwan. Kuai continued his education there until he graduated from Taiwan's Air Force Academy in 1951. Having been at the top of his class a fighter pilot, he was sent to the United States to receive training on the Mustang fighter plane — the most powerful fighter plane used by the United States in World War II.

After a one year training programme in the U.S., Kuai returned to Taiwan in 1954 to teach students at the air force academy to fly fighter jets. He met his wife Margaret from Shanghai in 1956 and they were married soon afterwards.

Kuai continued to teach at the air force academy in Taiwan until 1967, when he was assigned as military attache of the Taiwanese embassy in Jordan. "My wife and I were very excited at the time. Jordan was far away and we had never been to an Arab country, it was to be a new world for us," Kuai recalls.

In April 1967, the family arrived in Jordan. "We came to Jordan just before the 1967 war and that was very interesting for us," Kuai said. "Jordanians lead such a peaceful life, and they were horrified at the war. For us, it was mild compared to what we had seen in China. But then everything is relative."

At that time Jordan's Chinese community was minute, composing only about 20 people other than the embassy staff. "Most of the Chinese in Jordan were Muslim Chinese from the northwest of China.

"They kept a relatively low profile," Kuai said.

Kuai remained military attache and special assistant to Taiwan's ambassador in Amman until 1975. At that point, Kuai had several job opportunities in Taiwan and the United States, but he hesitated. "Our son Khalil was born in Amman, (thus I became known as Abu Khalil to all my Arab friends), and our two other children, Bernard and Angela, had adapted very well. We were very happy in Amman. The people were friendly, the climate warm and we felt very safe. We decided not to leave. I returned to Taiwan to officially retire from my post and quickly came back to Amman.

During the early 1970s. Kuai was a member of a delegation which accompanied His Royal Highness Crown Prince Hassan to Taiwan on an official visit. During that visit, Kuai says, Prince Hassan suggested that "we really should have a Chinese restaurant in Amman." That prompted Peter to think about opening a Chinese restaurant in the Jordanian capital.

"I had been trained as a fighter pilot, so really I had not been prepared to be a restauranteur, but I did my best. I contacted the embassy's ex-chef who was working in Spain at the time and told him about my idea. He said he would ne to Amman on the next venture," Kuai recalls. For the ex-diplomat and his family Jordan became "home." Although Bernard, now 33, left for the U.S. to continue his studies, Angela and Khalil attended local

"Angela and Khalil speak Arabic better than Chinese and are culturally more Arab than anything else." says Margaret Kuai, who has also done a formidable job of integrating into the Jordanian lifestyle. "From the beginning I never had any problems in Jordan. I was the wife of a diplomat so I was fortunate enough to meet many of Jordan's most interesting people. Many things here reminded me of my childhood in pre-revolutionary China and my father, though he was being a member of the aristocracy and thus a patron of the poor and needy — his People in Jordan are kind and extremely generous."

Angela was a student at the Ahlia or CMS Girls School where she sat for her Tawjihi and passed with 92 per cent marks. She then went to the United States to continue her higher education and several weeks ago married a young Arab man whose parents originate from Haifa. Commenting on her daughters's marriage, Margaret says: "It was only natural for Angela to marry an Arab because that is the culture she feels most at home in."

memory has been respected by all Chinese governments.

Kuai rejoins the conversation: "Khalil graduated from the Bishop School for boys, which is an excellent school. Actually all schools in Jordan are excellent. He did his general certificate of education (GCE), and got a B in his Arabic A levels. He is 19 now and in his junior year at University in Texas where he has a double major in computer science and electrical engineering.'

Peter and Margaret Kuai feel that their children have benefited a great deal from their stay in Jordan and the Jordanian education system. "Lots of kinds who go to the U.S. from all over the world, including our friend's children from Taiwan, have a difficult time when they first reach there. Our children and others from Jordan adapt very quickly because the education system here has prepared them well," Kuai says.

The Jordanians' liking of Chinese food has increased tremendously since Kuai first opened the doors of the restaurant in 1975. "At the beginning 70 per cent of our customers were foreign and 30 per cent Jordanian. Now its the other way around. The success of the other Chinese restaurants also indicate that there is a growing demand for

Asked if he would consider opening another restaurant, Kuai smiles. "No, I have enough to do to make sure that everything in Restaurant China is done well. Sometimes I work up to 14 hours a day. It is quite enough, thank you."

Kuai was the president of the Chinese Community Group in Jordan for two and a half years before resigning a few months back. The community has grown to over 200 people now, and, according to him, "I really should give someone else the opportunity to be president of the community club."

This year is the "Year of the Snake" on the Chinese calendar and Peter Kuai is 60 years old. Cooking at the afternoon sun that shines on Jabal Amman, he smiles "It's so nice to be in Jordan."

Children, 'the only privileged class,' by system neglected

Reassessing the system

NEW YORK — During times of deprivation, Soviets have com-forted themselves with the belief that their children would have better lives, but glasnost is making them painfully aware of how untrue that can be, a Soviet journalist savs.

"There was an expression that "children are the only privileged class." said Natalie Darialova. That belief was easy to maintain during the decades that officials did not acknowledge social problems and considered those who did to be undermining Com-

But now, under the recent policies of more openness. Soviets are finding that the system has failed the children, leaving them neglected at home or stupefied with boredom, she said.

An estimated 300,000 are consigned to orphanages that Datialova said do little more than feed and clothe them.

In a recent interview in New York while on a private trip, Darialova said the root of those abuses was the top-heavy bureaucracy and the corruption that flourished during Leonid Brezhnev's years as Soviet 94 per cent of Soviet women work

In addition, she said, society's pressure on women to work --and their need for the extra income - forced many families to neglect their children. A prominent Soviet sociologist reported last year that 94 per cent of Soviet adult women worked and that working mothers spent an average of just 30 minutes a week "on spiritual communication with their children." Darialova began investigating the problems of youth in 1985 when she was assigned by the weekly literary gazette (Literaturnava Gazeta) to do a story about five children who died in a house fire. The children had been

When she asked local authorities why the parents hadn't been able to find someone to watch the children, "I found that no one was in charge," of child welfare, she said. "The local Soviets (councils) had no authority, no money. They were the poorest

"Under Brezhnev, social and cultural programmes were cut. Much money went to who knows where," she said.

The bleakness of life in many Soviet cities is, in effect, a sort of child abuse, Darialova said. Many children have little to do with their free time and energy.

That can lead to street crime, which Soviet figures say has risen by about 40 per cent in the past year, or other antisocial behaviour. One press report bemoaned motorcycle gangs made up of "minors who like to ridewith the wind "

t"Imagine a city with no cultural facilities. Children can go out and buy a bottle of wine, and the road to crime is open," she said, explaining that "cultural facilities" meant movies and places to hear rock music, as well as opera and classical music.

Although the government has begun an extensive programme to combat alcohol abuse by hiking prices and raising the drinking age to 21, it has not reduced children's desire to combat boredom through intoxication, she said. They have learned, like their counterparts in the West, that a medicine cabinet can provide a cheap and convenient, if unreliable, high, she said.

Orphanages

Darialova said the nadir of the system is its orphanages, which yield awful crops... one of 10 criminals comes from the orphan-

There, "the main problem is the lack of spiritual care, lack of affection," she said. The children are fed and clothed and given basic education, but do not learn how to cope with day-to-day life,

"Upon leaving the orphanages, they have no idea how to use the subway, how to cook," she said. One area in which all children with issues of love.

need better real-life education is in sexual matters, she said. But there, she has found, prudishness and political orthodoxy often stand in the way.

No problems in Brezhnev's time

Darialova told of being com-

"Coming to grips with their children's problems has been traumatic for many Soviets because in general there is much love. All missioned to write the script for a Russian Babushkas (grandtelevision programme dealing their devotion."

"The editor said "the main thing is missing" ...she said "there is not a single word about love for country," she recalled. Coming to grips with their children's problems has been traumatic for many Soviets because "in general there is much love. All mothers) are famous for their their lives is in their children... Russian

Babushkas (grandmothers) are famous for

"In discussions I often hear that in Brezhnev's time we didn't have these problems. Of course it is frightening when you open a newspaper and it's more and more (problems). "But it is a new atmosphere. We now feel the ability to do something, not to be just obe-

Vatican alarmed about new book of Pope death

By Philip Pullella Reuter

VATICAN CITY - The most sought-after book inside the Vatican these days is not a new papal encyclical nor a controversial theological treatise.

It is a work which seeks to quash the tireless rumour that Pope John Paul I was murdered in 1978, but which paints the tiny walled city-state as the domain of bungling bureaucrats and spiteful monsignors.

"Everyhody here is talking about it, wanting to horrow a copy from someone," a Vatican insider said about British journalist John Cornwell's new book, "A thief in the night.

Cornwell systematically and methodically challenges the murder allegations made popular by fellow Briton David Yallop in his 1984 international bestseller, "In Yallop claimed that a number of people in the Vatican had a motive for poisoning the newly-elected Albino Luciani because of institutional changes he intended to make.

Known as the "Smiling Pope" because of his good nature, Luciani reigned for only 33 days from August 26 until he died on September 28, 1978. The official cause of death was a heart attack.

Although Yallop's research methods were criticised by other journalists and his allegations hotly denied by the Vatican, his book was a thorn in the side of the Roman Catholic church.

American priests visiting Rome told Vatican officials they did not know how to handle questions from their parishioners such as: "father, why was the smiling the nun who entered his room at

Cornwell, a 48-year-old former Roman Catholic Seminarian, novelist and former journalist on the London Observer, was given secretaries. unprecedented access to Vatican

Some of them, such as papal doctor Renato Buzzonetti and Irish Archbishop John Magee. one of Pope Luciani's two private secretaries, spoke to Cornwell only after being told that the current Pope wanted them to.

Cornwell concludes that Pope John Paul I died from a pulmonary embolism resulting from his long standing blood circulation

Although it clashes with the official cause of death, this conclusion is supported in the book by the current Vatican spokesman, Joaquin Navarro-Valls, and the late Pope's niece, Lina Petri, who both studied medicine.

But if the Vatican sought in Cornwell a white knight to kill all the rumours, they did not suc-

Cornwell in effect accuses the institution and its bureaucratic, Byzantine ways of neglecting the Pope's health and of causing widespread confusion by the way the news of his death was given to the world.

He says that the Pope's medical records were not brought to Rome from Venice, where he had been cardinal, and Vatican doctors had never examined him.

Despite severe chest and leg pains and badly swollen feet suffered by the Pope the day before he died, his secretaries did not inform the doctors, according to the book. They said the pontiff refused suggestions for a doctor to be called. The Pope's body was found by coffee she left outside and did not respond to knocking on the door. She then called Magee, one of his

The Vatican, not comfortable with the idea that a woman, albeit an elderly nun, had been in the Pope's bedroom, said in the official version that Magee had found the body.

The book also highlights the abrasive, rival relationship between Magee, an Irich Vatican veteran, and the Pope's other secretary, Italian newcomer monsignor Diego Lorenzi. Magee and Lorenzi still dis-were in the Vatican the night before the Pope died. Cornwell also documents how some reporting by Italian journalists fuelled the mystery. Poison theorists attributed great importance to what the Pope was reading in hed when he died. Various versions included a speech announcing a crackdown on the Jesuits, a plan for reshuffling Vatican posts and a copy of Thomas a Kempis' "imitation of Cornwell shows how the rumour that the Pope was reading Thomas a Kempis began in the out of control that even Vatican radio broadcast it as fact, correcting it later. The author also shows how an Italian news agency erroneously reported — but never corrected — a story that Rome Morticians were summoned an hour before the time the Vatican said the Pope's body had been disco-

Cornwell also gives a unique insight into the daily life of peoole who live and work in the Vatican.

to some Vatican officials, told him: "This is a village, excuse me if I say this, a village of washer-

Andrew Greely, a U.S. priest and bestselling author, said Cornwell "portrays the Vatican as it really is: bumbling, venal, paranoid, arrogant, frightened, ignorant, petty, inept. Vatican officials have reacted quietly to the book, accusing Cornwell of excessive gossip. But as one insider said, whatever his criticisms, it's better to be por-U.S. Archbishop Paul Mar- trayed as incompetents than as cinkus, whose typical American conspiratorial murderers.

COLOMBO

2 weekly nonstop flights starting July 12

Royal Jordanian is pleased to announce the opening of the first direct nonstop flights between Jordan and Sri Lanka.

Every Wednesday and Friday you can board our joint Royal Jordanian Air Lanka Airbus A310 aircraft and enjoy our traditional hospitality all the way to the Island of Paradise. For information and reservation: please call Royal Jordanian at 678321 or your travel agent.

وللكيت لا الله ROYAL JORDANIAN وللكيت للأرونيت الم

Will Ghostbusters rescue Columbia from red ink?

By Bruce Olson

NEW YORK — It is the Ghostbusters' toughest job - rid New York of evil spirits and give troubled Columbia Pictures a muchneeded financial lift after a string of box office flops.

"Ghostbusters II," a $33-million sequel to the biggest comedy hit film of all time, has opened in the United States, complete with a fresh batch of slime, a walking statue of liberty and a demon who haunts a painting in the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

It is a movie about the power of positive energy, about good vibes and if Columbia Pictures can approach the $220 million the original brought to box offices in 1984, the good vibes will belong to Dawn Steel, the president of the studio, and Ivan Reitman, the film's producer and director.

Steel has run the studio since 1987 and Reitman directed the original. They persuaded Bill Murray to join Dan Aykroyd, Harold Ramis, Ernie Hudson, Sigourney Weaver, Rick Moranis and Annie Potts to return to the business of removing supernatural forces from New York City. In a summer filled with movie sequels, they are hoping "Ghostbusters II" will be able to mow down the competing "Roman Numerals" around the country. For Columbia, it is no ordinary sequel. The studio has been plagued with flops — "Punchline,"

"True Believer" and "Things Change" - and Steel needs a hit so much that she called the film "probably the most important, eagerly awaited sequel in the history of Columbia Pictures."

"Ghostbusters II, was screened in New York last week and the reaction of the packed house was as positive as the power of the Ghostbusters to rid the big apple of its "River of Slime."

Critics seemed lukewarm, but there is no doubt the movie will appeal to a legion of seven- to 12-year-olds who run around their living rooms yelling "you're slimed" at their parents.

It will also surely bring in multitudes of 35- to 45-year-olds, who see Murray and Aykroyd as the hip comic spokesmen of a generation.

The plot of the movie evolved after all the major players from the first movie agreed to do the

"We all saw the negatives of making the sequel, but we re-membered how much fund the original was," Murray said. "So we decided to spin these guys out one more time." - New York is a character in the

Reitman, producer of many comic hits including "Stripes" and "Twins," said: The gimmick is 'what if New Yorkers were told they would die if they weren't nice to each other for 48 hours?"

Public transport pay strike paralyses U.K. rail network

LONDON (R) — Commuter chaos hit Britain Wednesday as the national rail network came to a halt and public transport in London was paralysed by a 24-hour pay strike by train and bus workers.

For the first time in seven transport stoppage to hit London years, not a single train was running as rail workers walked out in strike of 1926. protest against state-owned Brit-ish Rail's offer of a seven per cent

Commuter traffic into all major cities was affected as traffic iams built up across the country.

London was worst affected as the underground railway was halted by its seventh 24-hour stoppage in six months. The capital's double-decker red buses were missing from the clogged roads leading into the capital.

NICOSIA (R) — Saudi Arabia's

trade surplus fell in 1988 but petrochemical exports more than doubled, official figures showed

A study by the Ministry of Finance, carried by the Saudi

Press Agency and received in Nicosia, put the kingdom's trade surplus, excluding re-exported goods, at 7.31 billion riyals ($1.95

The previous year, Riyadh

achieved a huge rise in its trade

surplus of 9.29 billion riyals

($2.48 billion) from a modest 1.36 billion riyals ($360 million) in Prices crashed again in 1988

1986 when oil prices tumbled.

and briefly fell below $10 a barrel

WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans, Japanese and West Europeans have been boosting both their consumption and their investments during the 1980s but developing countries have lagged

in both, according to the latest

The average Japanese, for example, used up $5,269 worth of goods in 1980 and $6,206 worth in 1987. The average for the 12 countries of the European Community rose from $6.127 to $6,922. In the United States consumption rose to an average the building of new factories and machinery that create more production and jobs for the future.

Americans on average invested

the least of the three, and much of the money was borrowed abroad, but there was a rise from

VILLA WANTED

A foreign couple seeks a four-bedroom villa between 4th and 6th circle. Telephone is Interested please call telephone 08-

53336 between 9:00 a.m.-2:00 p.m.

Investment rose too — that is.

$8,957 from $7,609.

essential.

figures from the World Bank.

billion) in 1988.

since the nationwide general

Bus workers struck in support of a 14 per cent pay claim in the latest of a series of wage disputes sweeping Britain, where inflation has doubled in the past year to an annual rate of 8.3 per cent.

Bicycles and roller skates were more common than bowler hats and rolled umbrellas in central London, sweltering in a rare heat wave on the longest day of the British Rail said the strike It was the first total public appeared to be "100 per cent

Saudi trade surplus drops

in the second half but crude values have picked up since and the Gulf's Dubai benchmark is currently selling at $14.65 a tics and chemicals" exports surged by 68.6 per cent to a record 1.01 billion riyals ($269) million) while some goods were re-exported for 23.92 billion riyals ($6.38 billion), a 112 per rose by 5.1 per cent in 1988 to 88.89 billion riyals ($23.69 billion) while imports also increased by 8.3 per cent to 81.58 billion

riyals ($21.75 billion), the study

$1,918 to $2,373 per capita. The European rise was smaller, from

$2,338 to $2,432. Japan's increase was greater: from $2,994 to Bank have just appeared in the 1988-1989 edition of its "World

Tables," a 650-page volume that consists mostly of statistical lists.

They cover subjects ranging from incomes to high school registra-

U.S. dollar in 1980 as a measuring stick. The last results in the book are for 1987. The bank does not get the data independently.

individual governments and then adapts them for its comparative developing countries, despite low incomes and mounting debt,

They show that people in some

The book uses the value of the

tion and life expectancy.

The figures from the World

"Exports of national products"

cent rise from 1987.

Industrial states boost consumption

The study said Riyadh's "plas-barrel.

solid". It failed in a court bid Tuesday to stop the action.

Further disruption was forecast for Thursday with trains left scattered throughout the network when the stoppage began at mid-

Industrial chaos was expected to spread to Britain's ports after Britain's highest court Tuesday cleared the way for the Transport and General Workers Union to hallot dockers on a national strike in protest at changes in their work

Many London commuters have 10-mile (16-kilometre) journey to and from work daily and much greater distance are common.

In London, companies booked thousands of hotel rooms for their staff to stay overnight. Coach and taxi companies re-

It did not give a figure for

Saudi Arabia's crude exports estimated at around $20 billion a year. The kingdom is the world's managed on average to keep their consumption fairly steady - poverty compared with industrial though at levels that reflect deep

The average consumption in developing countries rose slightly, from $451 per capita in 1980 to

Behind the averages lie wide variations. The value of goods consumed by the average Chinese increased by more than half between 1979 and 1987, but in 1987

they were still worth only $217.

Americans consumed more than

In Nigeria, the most populous decline from a peak of $821 in 1982 to $621 in 1987. Average incomes of people in many poor countries of Africa have been dependent of colonial powers.

only to $206 a year from $174.

BRITA water FILTER -

• "no-fur" kettles, tea and clear ice cubes, soft and cooking vegetables, soups

AL MAHAR EST.

Wadi Saqra, tel. 649818

making tea and coffee

use it for:

coffee makers

mixed drinks

rochemicals.

$483 in 1987.

40 times as much.

ountry of Africa there

ported booming business. While many workers were expected to stay at home, others prepared for a long struggle to work by car, bicycle or on foot.

Police said they would not ease the capital's tough parking restrictions because this would worsen traffic congestion. Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher condemned the strikes and accused the railwaymen of being "typically selfish." But Jimmy Knapp, the General Secretary of the National Union of Railwaymen, said his men were considering further 24-hour strikes and bans on overtime and rest-day working in pursuit of a pay claim.

Knapp, who lives outside the capital, was reported to be sleeping on the floor of his union's central London headquarters.

Gulf oil supply remains high largest oil exporter and sells about 4.5 million barrels a day. Some 1.8 per cent of Riyadh's in June imports came from China in 1988 but the United States, Japan and other Western countries re-ABU DHABI (R) - Gulf oil mained the leading trading partstates kept output high in June ners of the kingdom. and 10 days before a new OPEC Riyadh has spent billions in the pact comes into force regional oil past 10 years building an adv-anced petrochemical industry and analysts say they suspect at least one key player, Kuwait, might is negotiating with the European not curb production enough to Community in an attempt to ease maintain prices. EC tariffs on cheap Gulf pet-

Analysts said oil prices would plummet in the next three months if high OPEC output was main-

Kuwait officials said Tuesday they have already started to lower output and that it will not exceed 1.35 million barrels per day (BPD) in July.

But an oil industry executive said: "Kuwait is in a difficult position. It might not be able to reduce its output to the (1.35 million BPD) level." Oil analysts have said Kuwait produced 1.9 million BPD in May and that production in June was probably at least as high. Kuwait has rejected its quota of 1.093 million BPD for the month at a meeting of the Organisation of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC). Analysts said Kuwait's domestic and European refining system absorbs almost one million BPD

second half of this year, fixed this and that it has contracted to sell 100,000 BPD to Japan. "This leaves Kuwait with only going down since they became in-250,000 BPD to sell to (other) Consumption in such countries rose between 1980 and 1987, but Western countries,

MANY VILLAS AND APARTMENTS FOR RENT & SALE Furnished or

Unfurnished

In Shmeisani, Sweifieh. Abdoun and many other

> For more information please call Wael Real Estate Tel: 685342

An international company holding office at Queen Alia Int'l Airport requires an executive secretary with the following qualifications:

• Jordanian female • Fluent in English and Arabic • Experienced in word processing, telex, fax and filing. Normal working week (5) days

Applicant must be prepared to travel to Queen Alia Int'l For appointments please call telephone 08-53336 Q.A.I.A. from 9:00 a.m. - 2:00 p.m.

If you move into, or furnish an empty FLAT/VILLA:

Four Ratan lounge chairs, Large modern writing desk, computer desk, swivel arm chair, Electric household and kitchen appliances etc.

> FOR SALE IN BULK Tel. 673772

GROUND FLOOR FURNISHED APARTMENT

FOR RENTTwo bedrooms with a dining room and a sitting room, one bathroom, kitchen, telephone, central antenna and separate heating. Has independent entrance and a small garden.

Location: Um Uthaina, opposite Bulgarian embassy

Call: 815705

EC free-market ideas are losing appeal

By Simon Alterman

BRUSSELS - A shift to leftist and ecologist parties in the European elections suggests the freemarket philosophy which has dominated the European Community's (EC) drive towards 1992 may be losing its allure.

Results of the polling last Thursday and Sunday point to doubts among voters about the social, economic and environmental consequences of tering down remaining barriers between the 12 EC states over the next three years.

And a spectacular setback for Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher could undermine her so-far successful campaign to create an open and deregulated single European market in the image of her social and economic reforms in Britain.

single market was (economically) neo-liberal and deregulatory. It was made for Mrs. Thatcher. These elections are a setback for the cause of ultra-liberalism," said one EC ambassador.

"The basic thrust behind the European Commission President Jacques Delors, a French Socialist and the butt of Thatch-er's tirades against a powerful Conservatives. super-state controlled by Brus- Many detect sels, said the results reflected a wider political trend.

"At the start of the 1970's, after 20 years of almost total triumph for social democracy, the neo-liberal (economic) movement emerged... now there is a sort of backfire and the balance is being redressed," he said.

NEWS ANALYSIS

Diplomats and analysts cautioned against reading too much into the results since the turnout touched a record low of about 56 per cent — itself a sign that voters were hardly fired by Enro-enthusiasm. In most countries, national political themes dominated the campaigns.

With counting continuing in some EC states Monday, projections released in Brussels showed that Socialists had scored the largest net gains and Green parties also boosted their presence in the 518-member Strasbourgbased assembly.

Thatcher's Conservative Party lost at least 11 seats to the opposition Labour Party and computers forecast the final tally would be 45 seats for Labour to 32 for the

Many detected evidence of unese over 1992 in the surge of support for extreme-right parties in West Germany and Belgium and a solid showing by their colleagues in France.

"Distrust and fear are dominating optimism and hope," said Fernand Herman, a Belgian

Christian Democrat member of the European Parliament. The political consequences of the election results could be felt as early as next week at the EC summit in Madrid.

EC leaders may privately question Thatcher's political authority at the meeting, at which she is opposition to European monetary union and an EC charter to protect workers' rights. "The elections have under mined her position in Madrid," one diplomat said. But the longterm effects will be more com-

The new European Parliament, buoyed by the success of the outgoing assembly in forcing tougher pollution control standards for small cars on reluctant ministers, will certainly keep up the pressure on the environment and social policy.

The election outcome could also reinforce the protectionist tendency in the parliament, which has only limited power over EC decisions but is learning to use its voice more effectively.

The last assembly took a tough line over access to the single market for foreign banks and helped stall legislation on crossborder television broadcasts with a highly-publicised campaign for quotas against U.S.-made prog. rammes.

The warning signal sent by voters in France, where fewer than half of those eligible actually. voted and many cast a protestballot, could also increase pressexpected to repeat Britain's ure for action to protect people from the harshest social consecuences of 1992.

"The French are going through a phase where the internal manket is starting to upset them," the EC ambassador said, pointing to France's closed financial services market and protected motor-manufacturing industry. That may be unsettling for the EC's trading partners since. France takes over the bloc's presidency for six months from July and will be determining the priorities for the decision-making. council of ministers.

ECONOMIC NEWS BRIEFS

Gulf Air to discuss share sale

ABU DHABI (R) - Gulf Air directors will discuss offering shares to the public at a board meeting in Qatar on Saturday, the Emirates News Agency (WAM), said Monday. "The Gulf Air board will discuss inviting citizens in member states to participate in the company's shares after it achieved good results in 1988," Ali Ibn Khalfan Al Dahiri, deputy chairman of Gulf Air was quoted as saying. Gulf Air is owned by Qatar, Bahrain, Oman and the Emirate of Abu Dhabi.

U.S. grants Liberia $9.5m

MONROVIA (R) — The United States granted Liberia $9.5 million Tuesday after the West African country averted an aid cutoff by repaying debt arrears with money collected in a nationwide appeal. The U.S. charge d'affaires in Liberia, Keith Wauchope, said the grant was for education, health, small businesses, rural development, agricultural research and professional training. "Signing was made possible by the government of Liberia's successful effort to bring its debt arrears current," he told guests at the grant signing ceremony. Liberia repaid $7 million in arrears to the United States in early May, mostly made up of voluntary contributions from the country's 2.3 million citizens after an appeal by President Samuel Doe.

Comecon postpones summit

SOFIA, Bulgaria (AP) — Comecon, the East Bloc trading alliance, has postponed a summit conference scheduled for June 27-29, a Bulgarian official said Tuesday. Chavdar Minchev, deputy director of the Foreign Ministry's Press Department, told reporters that the Sofia meeting, to be attended by the premiers of the 10 member states of the Council for Mutual Economic Cooperation, would likely take place in fall. He gave no reasons for the change. Comecon, which celebrated its 40th anniversary in January, has been under growing criticism by some of its members for its Soviet-type centrally-planned system. Critics have urged a move away from rigid central planning in favour of a less regulated movement of goods and services in a common market.

Ncube claims world's fastest computer

NEW YORK (AP) - Ncube has unveiled what it claimed is the world's fastest computer, a machine that can harness more than 8,000 processors to a single task and carry out 27 billion

FURNISHED APARTMENT FOR RENT

A cozy, well furnished, 3 bedroom apartment and accessories on a third floor. It includes a separate central heating and telephone. Location: Rabia. Preferential prices are given to small families.

For further information, please contact Mr. Sami at 665804. Preferably after 2 p.m.

SECRETARY WANTED

International voluntary organisation requires secretary.

Requirements: Jordanian female

3 years solid experience

Fluent English

Knowledge of computer (wordprocessing –

For information call 628760 / 656872

WANTED A HOUSE MAID

A Philippino female needed.

Please call 647983

TINY MINIATURE POODLE PUPS

American Kennel Club pedigree papers available Sold only to good homes

For further information phone 668236 compare because the performance of a machine depends of its software and the work it is given. But Noube helped its credibility by announcing Monday its new computer, Ncube 2. would run Unix System V, a widely used type of base-layer software. Ncube, a privately owned company based in Beaverton, Oregon, also announced its new machine will run Oracle Corp.'s data-base management software, which is used by businesses for storing and retrieving electronic records. The ability to run Oracle could help set Ncube apart from its rivals, said Michael Burwen, president of Palo Alto Management Group.

operations per second. The raw speed of computers is tricky to

Wheat production in U.S., Europe to fall

WASHINGTON (AP) - Wheat production in the United States and Europe should fall slightly below previous estimates for the next year, suggestions supplies already reduced by last year's drought will remain tight, the USDA says. With world stocks already at their lowest in more than a decade, prices could be somewhat skittish in the crop year that began June 1, responding sharply to changes in growing conditions and import demand, the department said. A drop of $10 a ton in the price of U.S. wheat in recent weeks represents an example of this sensitivity, the Agriculture Department said in its monthly world grain situation and outlook report. Despite such fluctuations, however, prices should remain strong on the whole, the department said.

AMMAN EXCHANGE RATES

Wednesday, Central Rank	June 21,	1989 rates	Swiss franc French franc Japanese yen (for 100)		333.5 85.2 396.3
	Bay	Sell.	Dutch guilder Swedish crown	253.8 .84.8	256.3 85.6
U.S. dollar Pound Sterling Deutschemark	568.0 874.3 285.8	574.0 883.0 288.7	Italian lira (for 100) Belgian franc (for 10)	39.5 136.7	39.9 138.1

LONDON EXCHANGE RATES

LONDON (R) — Following are the buying and selling rates for leading world currencies and gold against the dollar at midday on the London foreign exchange and bullion markets Wednesday.

One Sterling

U.S. dollars Canadian dollar One U.S. dollar 1.1980/90 Deutschemarks 1.9885/92 2.2395/2405 Dutch guilders 1.7235/45 Swiss francs 41.61/66 Belgian francs 6.7450/7500 French francs Italian lire 1441.5/1442.5 144.85/95 . Japanese yen 6.7025/75 Swedish crowns 7.2100/50 Norwegian crowns. 7.7425/75 Danish crowns One ounce of gold 365.25/365.65

WORLD STOCK MARKETS

U.S. dollars

By Reuters

SYDNEY - Share market drifted to a lower close in subdired trade following the higher than expected April retail sales figure. The All-Ordinaries Index fell 8.4 to 1,528.2.

TOKYO - A few heavy industry shares took centre stage in an otherwise dull day as big brokers tried to boost the price on Mitsubishi Heavy Industries. The Nikkei gained 111.81 to close at

HONG KONG — Share prices finished the morning lower in very quiet trade as investors remained reluctant to commit. themselves. The Hang Seng Index fell 42.63 to 2,295.08.

SINGAPORE — Share prices closed easier but above early lows. on late buying interest and bargain-hunting. The Straits Times Industrial Index shed 0.82 to 1,302.30.

BOMBAY — Share prices rose selectively in becile trading. Tata Engineering and Locomotive posted a net profit of 700.3 million rupees in the year to March from 269.5 million the year before.

and the share jumped 24 rupees to 847.5.

FRANKFURT - A flood of foreign orders pushed the DAX Index up 2.5 points to 1,474.61.

ZURICH — Swiss banking shares led the market to a 1989 high. The All-Share Index rose 5.4 points to 1,092.7.

LONDON — Transport strikes made for a quiet day. At 1433 GMT the FISE Index was 7.1 higher at 2,171.9

NEW YORK - Morning trading was thin and the Dow Index Was down four to 2469.

Eddery and Harwood triumph at Ascot

ASCOT, England (R) — Champion jockey Pat Eddery and trainer Guy Harwood took the hon-ours with three winners each on the first day of the royal Ascot horse race meeting Tuesday.

It was the third time in the last ing a ball tour racing days that Eddery, hose elies who is ricing better than ever, hand ball three winners in an also increase? The Irishman scored on warnalso increase? The Irishman scored on warmin to proten hing (2-5. Favourite) and the protent hing (2-5. Favourite), both shest total of trained by Harwood, and 5-1 ch are some trained by Harwood, and 5-1 chance two timing.

Cacoethes, third to Nashwan in the Epsom Derby was a chance ride for Eddery. The Colt's regular in Spain Sunday.

The Colt's regular in give up all his royal Ascot mounts after injuring his foot while riding in Spain Sunday. in Spain Sunday.

Starkey later masses took the over the later when Arizelos took the over the later when Arizelos took the over the line is final race of the afternoon, the determine. Ascot stakes handicap. the detailed on the delivery on the 4-1 Favourite went to American Steve Cauthen, Eddery's chief rival.

Arizelos provided trainer Harwood with his third winner of the day and for good measure he also sent out the second, Santella Bobkes (12-1), ridden by Michael Roberts, who attempted to make all the running but was finally beaten by three lengths.

Cacoethes had disappointed in the Derby but when the sixstrong field for the King Edward VII stakes turned into the straight Tuesday it was clear that Eddery was going exceptionally well.

Walter Swinburn, riding the Aga Khan's Zayyani, mounted a spirited challenge in the final furlong (200 metres) of the one and a half mile (2.4 km) contest, but Cacoethes held on comfortably by three quearters of the Warning, Europe's top miler last year, won the opening Queen Anne stakes over one mile (1.6 km) by an easy four lengths from Reprimand, owned by Sheikh

Lineker moves to Spurs

BARCELONA, Spain (R) -Barcelona nave agreed Gary is demand: England international Gary Barcelona have agreed to transfer e dependent England intermediate and are ped its real. Lineker to replace him with the regotiating to replace him with be? well software Juventus's Danish striker Michael Software los Laudrup, a club spokesman said n, Oregon t Wednesday. Jun 7 dro.

"There is agreement on Linekes for same er, "Barcelona spokesman Ricardo Maxenchs said.

Oracle could'e A few details were outstanding, but Lineker would play for English first division side Tot-Ope to be tenham in Barcelona's Gamper International Tournament next

wen, presiden

estimates in t ed by last pe

ith world on

Prices code

ae 1, respon

out demand t

of U.S. when

SCHSHIVE.

d gram smag

however, ne

ment said.

LATES

x 1001 324 2 354 3

rates

ed selling mass

oller at midde

Lets Wedne

dian dollar

schemati

h guilders

an franci cia francs n in gese vell jish crosso

vegian cross

an crosses dollars

KETS

iciail aspagi Close in asp

TOTAL STATE

osi the pair

HOTOME IONE

above cash

CTRC LEASTER ! it of 700.1 fc a the year is pushed the h

et 10 a 1050,

11.0. 11.0.

the Dog p

; francs

1001

he United & August, he said. Maxenchs declined to disclose how much Tottenham would pay for Lineker and Barcelona midfielder Mohamed Nayim. But he said it was in the region of 300 million pesetas ($2.4 million) reported by the Spanish press. Lineker, top goalscorer in the

"I am leaving Barcelona with sadness," he said. "But I don't want to stay with a club whose coach I don't respect." Tottenham Manager Terry lona three years ago during his an unhappy one for the England

Maxenchs said Barcelona club

BY CHARLES GOREN

The bidding has proceeded: North East South West 1 ♣ Pass 1 ♡ Pass Pass INT Pass What do you bid now?

Q.2-Both vulnerable, as South you ±A8 ♥AQ1053 ♦AJ984 +5 The bidding has proceeded: 1 V I A Pass Pass

What do you bid now? Q.3-Both volnerable, as South you 4J10642 ♥Q9 ♥J843

The bidding has proceeded: North East South West I ♠ Pass 7 What action do you take?

Q.4-Neither vulnerable, as South

1986 Mexico World Cup finals, invited teammates to a farewell party Tuesday night. mixed feelings of happiness and Venables took Lineker to Barcetenure as coach to the Catalan club, but the past season has been striker under Dutch coach Johan Cruyff.

officials were negotiating with Landrup in Milan

GOREN BRIDGE

1969 Tribune Media Senices, Inc.

WEEKLY BRIDGE QUIZ

Q.1—Neither vulnerable, as South 473 787 VKQ19952 4652 you hold: The bidding has proceeded: $K72 VKQ876 Q19 $65 North East South W DM ?

> What action do you take? Q.5-Both vulnerable, as South you

♦83 ♥AK1962 ♦AQ63 ♠96 The bidding has proceeded: South West North East

Q.6-Both vulnerable, as South you ♠AKJ93 ♥AKJ7 ○ K102 ◆6 The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 + Pass 2 NT Pass

What do you bid now? Look for answers on Monday

For information about Charles Goren's newsletter for bridge players, write Goren Bridge Letter, P.O. Box 4426, Orlando, Fla. 32802-4426.

SPORTS IN BRIEF

JOHNSON, GOODEN ON TOP - Howard Johnson continued his hot hitting in New York and continued to marvel at the success of teammate Dwight Gooden, who became the third youngest pitcher in modern major league history to win 100 games. "He's going to be in the Hall of Fame. He has a golden touch;" Johnson said after hitting two homers in the New York Meis' 5-3 victory over the Montreal Expos. "Dwight is quiet, but he's become one of the leaders on this team." Johnson, who followed walks to Dave Magadan with homers in the first and second innings off Kevin Gross, 6-6, has 18 homers and 42 RBIS. He has hit in 18 of his last 22 games with 10 homers and 17 RBIS. Gooden, 9-2, improved his lifetime mark to 100-37 at 24 years and seven months. Bob Feller reached 100 victories at 22 in 1941 and Frank "Noodles" Hahn won his 100th game in 1903 at 24 years, two months. (AP)

LEWIS BARRED FROM UK MEET - Carl Lewis and his teammates will attempt a world 4x200 metres record in France Friday after being barred from a triangular athletics meeting in Birmingham, England, this weekend. Lewis's business manager Joe Douglas said in a telephone interview from Seville, Spain, the quartet would attempt the record in St. Denis, France. The Athletics Congress (TAC), the sport's governing body in the United States, refused Lewis and his Santa Monica track club temmates permission to run in Birmingham because it wanted only the national team to compete. Lewis, the Olympic 100 metres champion, and his teammates who included Olympic 200 metres gold medallist Joe Deloach, had planned an assault on the record at the Birmingham meeting between the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union. "If they won't let us run there, we will go to St. Denis and try to break the world record there," Douglas said.

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, JUNE 22, 1989

YOUR HOROSCOPE

by Inomas Pierson, Astrologer, Carroll Righter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Business problems are best handled with diplomacy and discretion. Avoid trying to force issues. Use restraint and give a little where it

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) During the morning you prefer to "stay in your sleepy time spot." Wake up and get your work done, as the nocturnal hours buzz with fun. TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) It is a relief to set your energy in "cruise control" and reap the rewards of your efforts. Catch up on unanswered correspondence. GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) It will be a home run if you persist in maintaining your current level of interest and enthusiasm. Stick with your original ideas. MOON CHILDREN June 22 to

Jul. 21) Stop worrying when you have done your best. Domestic adjustments are important to main-tain family harmony. LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) It is easy to become a slave to beauty and appearance, which will rob you of time and resources. On any level you are VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) If bitious cycle will produce results and increase your integrity. Experiment with your culinary skills.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Tell someone who thinks that they con-trol you to "think again." You may not feel like socializing until the geng gathers tonight.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nev. 21)
You can be an expert at revealing Aphrodite's secrets when you are in a romantic mood. Take a pause from the daily grind and have fun. SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Maintain philosophical integrity by expressing yourself and con-sidering other points of view. Be

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) There are a lot of good things on the horizon. Your efficiency is awasome and holds the secret to your success. Two thumbs up. AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Picturing yourself there will help get you there. Self-visualization can show you what is needed to realize your dreams. PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) People come to you with their problems because of your understanding nature. Plan your schedule to in-clude more time at home.

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, JUNE 23, 1989

GENERAL . TENDENCIES: Stellar influences move into easier and more comfortable positions, It is a refreshing pause for some peo-ple, while others may set aside important tasks and turn to

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) It will be beneficial to remember the edage about "sticks and stones" when you are the victim of unfair criticism that hurts. TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20)

There is a special magnetism about you at this time! Stand up and cheer when you are in the spotlight cheer when you are in the spotsign-of popularity.

GRMINI (May 21 to June 21)
You could be fooled again when a creative thisf takes credit for your ideas! Bring your ideas to life yourself, MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) There is a joyous glow about you. Calebrate and spread the cheer. Frolic tonight, but don't wear yourself down to a frazzle.

icel comfortable around other peo-

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21)
Although you would rather be dancing, push hard to get important matters finished before playtime. Look your best.
VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You feel comfortable around other nec-

ple. Your romantic partner will enjoy your companionship tonight. LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Life can become a soap opera when you become involved in your friend's roblems. Remove yourself from the scene and enjoy life, SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) A chance meeting with someone affec-tionate could produce some insting sensual chemistry. People relate to you favorably.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec.
21) Be alert for a business opportunity that could fall through the cracks if you don't keep your thinking cap at the late. ing cap on tightly.
CAPRICORN Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Today you can be smart, sassy and humorous, and still maintain your "salt of the Earth" image. Per-formance level remains high. AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You wonder what makes you tick

You wonder what makes you tick when you are wound up so tightly. Tensions ease through the day. Family delights fill the evening. PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Avoid someone who thinks they are important but who has no real sense of accomplishment. Good news arrives and tops off a great day.

Meeting in Nice shakes French soccer

Platini gets what he wants

PARIS (R) — Whatever Michel

Platini wants, Michel Platini gets. When you happen to be the greatest player your country has ever produced, three times European footballer of the year and the appointed saviour of French soccer, you have the right to make a few demands.

The former Juventus star may have failed in his attempt to steer France into next year's World Cup finals but he has succeeded spectacularly in his off-the-field

Platini's complaint that too much domestic soccer was hampering French efforts to rebuild a national team capable of emulating the feats of the great side he graced has met with a response so swift it looks like he issued a royal decree.

At its annual meeting in Nice last weekend, the French League agreed to cut the first division from 20 clubs to 18 from the

1991-92 season when France hope to be preparing for the 1992

European championship. The move, part of a package of major reforms, followed an earlier decision to reduce fixtures by abandoning the two-leg cup system. A single match knockout formula will be applied from next

That was, not surprisingly, another demand by Platini, who had made it clear he would only extend his contract as national manager beyond the end of this year if his conditions were met. The reforms agreed are naturally to his taste and he hinted this week that he would stay on until 1992 and, quite possibly, until the 1994 World Cup finals too. The other main changes to take place in French soccer from next season are permission for clubs to play three instead of two foreigners, the return to the traditional two points for a win after a posed to take mandatory dope single season's experiment with three for victory and matches to be played Sunday afternoons rather than Saturday evenings

during the winter months. The Nice meeting also neatly tied up some loose ends in league rules which had threatened to reduce French soccer to a farce in the latter part of the season just ended.

A loophole which allowed a virtual free-for-all in mid-season transfers has now been closed. Clubs can only seek permission to recruit a new player in three special cases — if a goalkeeper is burt, if a player is seriously injured during national team duty or if a squad member dies.

The dope test rules have also been changed after the infamous Germain-Di Meco affair. Bruno Germain and Eric Di Meco, regular members of the double-winning Marseille team, were sup-

FOURTH RACE 5.30

FOR THIRD CLASS HORSES

DISTANCE 1400 METRES

tests after a league match but were both substituted and left the stadium without doing so.

The two received lengthy suspensions but were reprieved on appeal after Marseille claimed an innocent mistake had been made and that two other players had been sent for the test because of a mix-up over shirt numbers. The 'mistake" was greeted with considerable scepticism by other teams and by the media. The league will, in future, order players picked by lot for dope tests to sign a form at halftime to say they have been informed of their obligations.

A request to referees to crack down on rough play last season led to a record number of yellow cards and suspensions. To counter-balance this, the League decided an automatic one-match ban will be given after three yellow cards in 10 games and not after two as before.

FRIDAY'S RACES AT THE ROYAL RACING CLUB-TUNEIB

Vol. No. 4 FRIDAY FIRST RACE 4.00 SECOND RACE 4.30 FOR BEGINNER HORSES FOR BEGINNER HORSES DISTANCE 1400 METRES

DIGITATION 1400	M71160	•			DISTANCE 1000	METRE	S
Owner	Horse	Traner	Jockey	Weight	2:0:::::02 ::00	,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,	•
					Owner	Horse	Trainer	Jockey	Wexa
1- Ziad Fahad Tiamih	Hayran	Owner	Şaad	56				•	_
2- Fayadh Ei Assal	Doha	Owner	A. Amarah	54.5	1- A. El Kareem Salim Rakad	M Elrakad	Owner	Mahmoud	56
3-Dr A. El Nagem A. Wandy	S. Maeen .	Owner		53	2- Salim Aly Elrabaiah	Munyaty	Owner	A. Amarah	54.5
4- Mohammad Abdullah Mariey	M Fuad	Owner		53	3- Nimir El Hmoud	Janzır	lkbal		53
5- Ghalib A. Jabir	Elwaiey	Owner	Kasim	53	4- Nimir El Hmoud	B. Shams	lkbal	Saad	515
6- Eied Salman ElKhawatnh	Saad Eied	Owner	Rasheed	53	5- Nimir El Hmoud	U. Kashmir	lkbal	Hiarv	51.5
7- A. El Kareem Salamin Mnahy	M Assal	Owner .	Salamıh	51.5	6- Ghalib Haddadin	F. Hanady	Owner	,	51.5
8- Mohammad Salman Nabolsy	Sabah	Owner	Youns	51 5	7- Quditallah Many Hamian	H. Marry	Owner	Salamıh	51 5
9- Shihadih Aly Fokara	N. Naiei	Owner		51.5	8- H.H. Late Sharif Nasir Stable	F. Amman	Abbas	iorahim	50
10- Tahanimir A. Mousa	N. Eisabah	Owner	Hussein	54.5	9- Mansou Anwar Eishalan	El Batool	Muhsin	Kasım	50
19- 19-Amini Pt 190900	11. 4102001	Om E	i hayasati	J-1.J	5- Mailson Milwar Eishalan	EI DRÍOGI	MUNSIN	Nasim

THIRD RACE 5.00 FOR THIRD CLASS HORSES DISTANCE 1600 METRES

Owner	Horse	Trainer	Jockey	Weight
1- Oudih Mishrif El Baraisih 2- Ghafib A. Jabir 3- Ghalib A. Jabir 4- Ahmad Salman Khawatrih 5- Saadeldin Rida Saad 6- Farhan Falih Oudih 7- Salim Mohammad A. Rawaa 8- Mohammad Khalid Gaiez	Adham Imad Raba Talia . Isar Maha Safwan El Kastal	Owner Owner Owner Owner Owner Owner Owner	Mostafa Kasim A. Amarah Rasheed Salah Hussein Sarny Ahmad	58 58 56 58 56 54.5 53	Owner 1- Karnal Wasif Bsharat 2- Karnal Wasif Bsharat 3- H.H. Late Sherif Nasir Stable 4- Ghazy Farah A. Jabir 5- Aly Fereed El Sead 6- Nimir Ef Himoud	Horse S. Elleil Mashaiel Kareem M. Sail F. Noaf	Khaireldin Khaireldin Abbas Owner Khaireldin	· Jockey Ibrahim Daham Rasheed	Weig 58 51.5 56 56 51 5
9- Mohammad A. El Azeez Maney	Rizan	Owner	Hiary	51.5	7- Numir El Hmoud	21 Hasna Sahil	ikbal Ikbai	Hiary A Jaghif	51 5 51.5

FIFTH RACE 6.00 FOR THIRD & SECOND CLASS HORSES DISTANCE 1600 METRES

Owner	Horse	Trainer	Jockey	Weight
1- Kamai Wasri Bsharat	Elsbaily	Khaireidin		59
2- Ghalib Haddadın	El Tamooh	Owner	Ibrahim	59
3- Nimir El Hmoud	E! Talak	ikbal		58
4- Nimir El Hmoud	Hattab	lkoai	Ahmad	58
5- Nimir El Hmoud	Sahary	ikbai		55.5
6- Nimir El Hmoud	B. Rabadan	íkba/	Hiary	51.5
7- Aly Fareed El Saad	Saadaty	Khairelon	Rasheed	56

Peanuts

B.C. ILL NEVER DRINK A GLASS

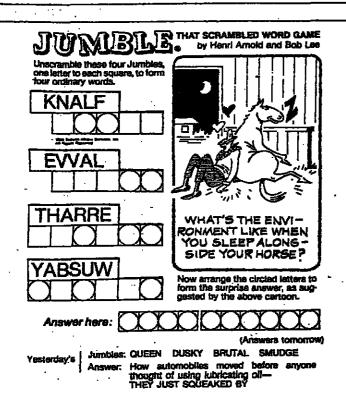

Andy Capp

1 Clutter 5 Stacks 10 Johnny of

THE Daily Crossword by Fran Ragua

COLUMN

Fugitivewins Euro

seats and his liberty

MADRID (R) — A fugitive Spanish tycoon who won two seats in the European Parliament

after a campaign on the run from police secured his freedom Tuesday. Jose Matia Ruiz-Mateos,

head of the expropriated industrial hodling Rumasa, was granted unconditional liberty after a Mad-nd court dropped an arrest warrant against him. The judge told him the supreme court would have to decide what immunities

he enjoyed as a member of the Strasbourg-based assembly and whether he could be brought to trial on charges of fraud and assaulting a former government minister. "The judge was very correct, very friendly, and did his duty marvellously," Ruiz-Mateos said. Ruiz-Mateos, who jumped bail to conduct his maverick campaign from hiding, cocked # snook mainstream politicians by gaining 3.85 per cent of the vote in last Thursday's election for his party, the Group of Voters of Ruiz-Mateos. Under Spain's system of proportional representation, this gives Ruiz-Mateos two of Spain's 60 parliament seats. He said he will give the second seat to his son-in-law, Carlos Perreau.

Spain's ruling Socialist Workers Party (PSOE) said the vote for

Ruiz-Mateos came from the far right. He grabbed headlines last month when he slapped former Finance Minister Miguel Boyer

when they met in a Madrid court.

Ruiz-Mateos considers Boyer responsible for the 1983 expropria-

Passport returned

after beer incident

JOHANNESBURG (R) — A

South African university professor whose passport was confiscated last year after he poured a glass of beer over a security

policeman's head during an argument has had his travel documents returned. The South African Press Association reported

Tuesday that Rhodes University

academic Peter Vale got his passport back after opposition parliamentarians made representations to Home Affairs Minister Stoffel

tion of Rumasa

darity supporters tally election winners at union headquarters

The dirty side of Poland pluralism — cleaning up

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — With an exuberance matched only by the novelty of their new democratic parliamentary elections, partisans plastered campaign posters from pillar to post across the country over the last

Now the time has come to pay the price of pluralism: cleanig up. But no one has an answer to the question of who should scrub. scrape and wash away the campaign posters and who should bear the cost.

An estimated 700,000 posters went up in Warsaw alone in an astounding display of uncensored campaigning unseen in Poland during 45 years of Communist Party rule.

That represented about 40 tonnes of paper, also a significant figure in a country where university students sometimes don't have anything suitable on which to type their theses.

Most of the posters came from the Independent Soliarity Movement, which went on to win all but one of the 261 seats availableto opposition candidates and hand the government a stinging rebuke in two rounds of voting that started June 4 and ended Sunday.

Now the posters are peeling off apartment block walls and rain has smudged the sentiments of support for a communist coalition candidate whose banner hung along a main city thoroughfare.

The emotions subsidised, the litter remained... who is going to clean it up?" read a recent headline in the daily Solidarity news-

Jan Litvnski, head of the Solidarity campaign in Warsaw, promised in the article that the union would work on the cleanup with city authorities.

"But we do not have the money to hire people. We have only debts," Litynski said. "So those who were putting up the posters for free now will... clean them off too.

Another issue of the newspaper carried a call from 12-year-old Mikolaj Bober, who put up posters all over the Zoliborz section of Warsaw. "We have to clean it up," he said, "I am eager to do this...and I count on the help of other boys

The director of the Warsaw Municipal Cleaning Enterprise, Leszek Swierczynski, said the city will clean the sites it administers but building janitors, the bus and tramway services and others will have to take care of their areas. "There is quite a lot to do... and the whole (cleanup) campaign will surely take a lot of extra money," said Swierczynski,

De Klerk heads for Europe to sell reforms

South African President F.W. De Klerk headed for London Tuesday to hawk his apartheid reform agenda in an atmosphere made more hostile by left-wing European parliament gains.

De Klerk, who has had no previous contact with Western leaders, was nominated in February by the ruling white National Party to succeed President P.W. Botha if, as is almost certain, it for Sept. 6.

Officials said he would meet West German Chancellor Helmut Kohl Thursday, British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher Friday and government leaders in Italy and Portugal.

Party sources said he would meet bankers and investors in Geneva Monday as part of his campaign to break South Africa's political and economic isolation and to halt the spread of antiapartheid sanctions.

"Mr. De Klerk's tour... will be a baptism of fire," said the progovernment newspaper Die Burger. "He will be fully exposed to the generally unfriendly world opinion on South Africa. De Klerk, a balding 53-year-

Caged... a Vietnamese child in a Hong Kong refugee camp

old Afrikaner lawver from the conservative Transvaal mining town of Vereeniging, has promised to bring South Africa's 26 million blacks into the central government, where they have no oice at present.

But he has insisted that race classification must remain the basis of the political system and that blacks should never be allowed to dominate whites.

divided on whether De Klerk would offer assurances on the main Western conditions for renewed ties — repeal of apartheid laws and the release of jailed African National Congress (ANC) leader Nelson Mandela.

Some said he could not afford to alienate any domestic constituency ahead of the September election for whites, Indians and mixed-race coloureds.

"He is going to have a very, very tough time," said Gary van Staaden of the Johannesburg Institute for Strategic Studies.

"The people he is going to see will want something more specific than the vague promises of reform that he has made so far. They are going to put tough questions and I don't think he has the answers," he said.

He said left-wing gains in last week's European Parliament elections would increase the prosanctions pressure on Thatcher and Kohl, making it more important than ever for them to extract significant concessions from De

"The groups that have forged ahead in Europe are the ones Diplomats and analysts were who want tougher sanctions," he

> Professor Mike Hough. politic-al analyst at the University of South Africa, said De Klerk was gambling on his persuasive powers, probably without many specifics on offer.

"A snuh would be very damaging to De Klerk right now, but a successful visit would help him in the run-up to the elections. Given South Africa's current isolation from the West it is probably a risk worth taking," Hough said.

One European diplomat said Thatcher was unlikely to press for political promises or a firm date for the release of Mandela, who has served 26 years of a life sentence for plotting to overthrow white rule.

START talks in full swing

GENEVA (Agencies) — Fullscale U.S.-Soviet talks on strategic arms cuts resumed Wednesday with the two sides still split on key issues and the Americans set to put forward new ideas on how to guard against

The full U.S. and Soviet de-long-range mobile missiles if arms reduction treaty (START), which are aimed at halving their strategic nuclear arsenals, at the U.S. mission in Geneva.

The heads of the two delegations, both new to the job, had met privately Monday, the offi-cial opening of an 11th round of Talks were suspended in November to enable the new administration of President George Bush to carry out a defence policy review.

Washington's demand for verification procedures to be tried out before any treaty is one of the most important results to emerge from the U.S. review. Chief U.S. negotiator Richard Burt said Tuesday the scheme would give both sides early practical experience in verifying a START agreement.

The Soviet delegation, led by Yuri Nazarkin, has declined comment on the U.S. proposal until Washington provides more de-

The U.S. is also expected to legations began a six to seven-. Congress approves a nuclear week session of talks on strategic - modernisation programme. This would involve putting 50 existing MX missiles on railway cars and smaller Midgetman missiles on trucks to match existing mobile Soviet SS-24s and SS-25s.

Nazarkin has said his delega tion had not come empty-handed to Geneva but he declined to spell out what fresh proposals the Soviet Union would table to speed completion of a treaty on which negotiations began in 1985.

Both sides have made it clear they stuck to their guns on the' issue of whether a START should be linked to a deal curbing the U.S. "Star Wars" project for a ground and space-based anti-missile defence system.

Moscow says deployment of the system would violate the 1972 Anti-Ballistic Missile (ABM) treaty since some of the defences being developed are space-based. But Burt said he did not think a START should be held hostage to an agreement on space de-

Negotiators will report to their The U.S. is also expected to respective governments at the drop previous calls for a ban on end of the session and Burt said both sides agreed on the confidentiality of the talks. Few if any progress reports are expected during the Geneva talks.

Burt declined to discuss Bush's proposals in detail Tuesday, but said "we have noticed that the Soviets have taken a much more open and constructive approach on verification in recent years." Bush's proposal came Monday in Washington.

Bush said the United States and Soviet Union should begin testing verification procedures during negotiations on reducing long-range nuclear forces, rather than waiting until a pact is com-Such steps could involve trial inspections at each other's missile sites and discussions about equipment needed for verification, which Bush said could be the most complex issue facing nego-

Tuesday's editions of the Washington Post quoted an unidentified official in Washington as saying negotiators plan to suggest around-the-clock monitoring of some ballistic missile factories and on-site checks of missile warheads, to start before any new agreement. The proposal also was reported to include a ban on some missile flight tests.

Burt said another aim of Bush's plan was to build support for Senate ratification of a future

Several superpower arms control treaties, including the 1979 SALT II pact on limiting longrange nuclear arsenals, remained unratified because the Senate decided the verification provisions were lax. Burt said progress on verificatin would not become a condition in the START talks.

"We will continue to move on all fronts," he said. "We are not proposing these measures as a take-it-or-leave-it package."

The talks, aimed at reducing U.S. and Soviet long-range bombers, missiles and nuclear submarines by 30 per cent to 50 per cent, are the latest round in negotiations that began four years

Burt said at Tuesday's news conference that their aim is to speed resolution of outstanding issues and give added momen-

Under Soviet President Mikhail S. Gorbachev's philosophy of more openness, Moscow has allowed Western experts to tour a Soviet chemical weapons site for the first time as part of efforts to negotiate a

U.S. and Soviet scientists also have exchanged visits to each other's nuclear testing sites to examine ways of monitoring two 1970s treaties limiting atomic blasts that the Senate never approved.

'Stricken Soviet liner was going much too fast'

ABOARD THE SENJA, Arctic Ocean (R) — The skipper of a Norwegian coastguard ship which rescued hundreds of passengers from a stricken Soviet cruise liner said Wednesday the Maksim Gorkiy was travelling much too fast when it smashed into a belt of Arctic ice.

"I don't know the exact speed but I was told by crew on board that it had a speed of between 14 and 17 knots at the time of the accident," Sigurd Kleiven, commander of the coastguard vessel Senja, told a news conference aboard his ship. Asked how fast be would have been going in such foggy conditions with drifting ice around, he replied: "Between two and three knots."

None of the 990 people aboard the 25,000-ton Soviet liner was hurt in the accident in the early hours of Tuesday. The 611 passengers, most of them elderly West Germans, were flown home Wednesday.

Kleiven said that contrary to earlier reports, the Maksim Gorkiy had not hit an iceberg but had blundered into a huge belt of drift ice about 2.5 metres thick, two nautical miles wide and 12 to 15 miles long. "We saw no icebergs in the area," he said.

The Senja had to plough through the same barrier of ice to reach the damaged ship and rescue passengers, hundreds of whom had taken refuge in lifeboats or on ice floes.

Kleiven's estimate of the speed of the Maksim Gorkiy was confirmed by the West German cruise director Winfreid Prinz who was aboard the ship at the time of the accident.

He told reporters the vessel was travelling at 18.4 knots. Crew still aboard the Maksim Gorkiy succeeded in stabilising the ship and patching up the two gashes in its bow opened by the ice.

The liner was sailing slowly Wednesday under its own power towards the Soviet settlement of Barentsburg on the Arctic island of Spitzbergen with about half its crew

The collision was the latest in a string of Soviet shipping accidents. Three years ago the liner Admiral Nakhimov sank in the Black Sea with the loss of 389 lives after a collision officially blamed on negligence.

The cruise liner Priamurye caught fire in the Japanese port of Osaka in May last year, killing 11 passengers. Survivors recall ordeal

The rescued passengers from Maksim Gorkiy attended a midnight church service Wednesday where some wept as they recalled their ordeal, before flying home to West

Botha. South Africa's white minority government, seeking to stifle anti-apartheid protest, regularly turns down passport ap-Transplant swindler heid for murder TOKYO (AP) - A doctor was arrested Tuesday after confessing that he obtained 25 million yen ($174,000) from a patient for a promised kidney transplant and then killed the patient, police said. A Police official, speaking on condition of anonymity, identified the doctor as Jun Hirose, a urologist at Hamamatsu medical college, 200 kilometres west of Tokyo. The official said Hirose confessed that April 10, after receiving the money in his personal bank account, he gave patient Masao Nakagawa, 61, a drug. Nakagawa died the next day of heart failure. The official would not disclose the type of rights cases, and blacks as a class of litigators, are no longer special. They are subjected to the same rules as anyone else.

Ronald Reagan

Reagan legacy: Supreme Court restricts civil rights WASHINGTON (R) - A string discrimination or de facto imba- that prevailed in these rulings curbing civil rights laws has proved that a cherished Ronald Reagan policy is finally bearing fruit - something he could never quite make it do during his presidency.

Reagan left office five months ago, but his legacy to the Sup-reme Court of a conservative majority is only now maturing. Many legal experts say the result is a historic shift by the high court in the area of civil rights.

In eight years as president, Reagan was never able to achieve his goal of abolishing "affirmative action" programmes, which give women and minorities preference for hiring and promotion.

Supporters see the programmes as a means of remedying past force, but Reagan and many other conservatives consider them' "reverse discrimination" against white males. By a five-four vote, the Supreme Court has made it harder for women and minorities to bring and win lawsuits alleging discrimination. On top of that, the court last week ruled that white males may challenge job preferences given women and minorities years after a judge approves the preferences. In another decision, the justices narrowed the scope of one key anti-discrimination law by saying it applies only to hiring contracts and not to racial harassment on the job. The new conservative majority tees - Sandra Day O'Connor, Antonia Scalia and Anthony Kennedy. The others are William Rehnquist, who was elevated to chief justice by Reagan, and Byron White. The shift to the conservative side was finally achieved by Reagan's appointment of Kennedy to the seat vacated by the 1987 retirement of moderate Lewis Powell. Alarmed liberals blocked Reagan's original appointment of arch-conservative Robert Bork, but Kennedy is clearly a solid conservative in his own right.

University of Virginia law Professor A.E. Howard said: "For a quarter of a century, civil rights cases have been special. The signal from the court is that civil

Jilted prom date receives settlement

WEST PALM BEACH, Florida (AP) — A girl who was stood up for a high school prom received a check for $81 and 28 cents for her date Tuesday to settle a dispute she had threatened to drag through small claims court. Tomontra Mangrum, 15, a sophomore, sued Marlon Shadd, 17, a senior at another school, after he begged off their date claiming he had an injured ankle.

Global weather

(major world cities)

BUENOS AIRES 99 48 16 60 Cloud CAIRO 20 68 59 50 Cloud COPENHAGEN 16 60 26 78 Clear FRANKFURT 15 59 30 86 Clear FRANKFURT 12 54 28 82 Clear FRANKFURT 16 61 24 75 Clear ISTANBUL 16 61 24 75 Clear LONDON 15 59 24 75 Clear LONDON 15 59 34 93 Clear MADRID 17 63 33 91 Rain MECCA 26 79 44 111 Clear
ATHENS 12 54 30 85 Clear BAHRAIN 28 82 36 97 Clear BANGKOK 24 75 Clear BEANGKOK 26 66 26 78 Clear CHICAGO 16 60 26 78 Clear COPENHAGEN 15 59 30 86 Clear HONG NONG . 25 77 27 81 Clear HONG NONG . 25 77 27 81 Clear LONDON 15 59 24 75 Clear LONDON 15 59 24 75 Clear LONDON 15 59 24 75 Clear MADRID 17 63 33 91 Rain MECCA 25 79 44 111 Clear MADRID 17 63 33 91 Rain MECCA 25 79 44 111 Clear MADRID 17 63 33 91 Rain MECCA 25 79 44 111 Clear MADRID 17 63 33 91 Rain MECCA 25 79 44 111 Clear MADRID 17 63 38 11 Clear NEW DELHI 28 83 38 101 Clear NEW YORK 19 67 27 81 Rain NEW YORK 19 67 27 81 Rain NEW YORK 19 67 27 81 Rain Rain San San San San San San San San San Sa		·C	F	÷C	"F	Weathe
BAHRAIN 28 82 36 97 Clear BAHGKOK 24 75 31 88 Cloud BAHGKOK 24 75 31 88 Cloud BAHGKOK 24 75 31 88 Cloud CAIRO 26 68 35 95 Clear FRANKFURT 25 93 08 Clear FRANKFURT 25 94 28 82 Clear HONG NONG 25 77 27 81 Cloud LONDON 25 77 27 81 Cloud MADRID 27 63 33 91 Rain MECCA 26 79 44 111 Clear MADRID 27 63 33 91 Rain MECCA 26 79 44 111 Clear MADRID 27 63 33 91 Rain MECCA 26 79 44 111 Clear MADRID 27 63 28 72 Clear NEW DELHI 28 83 38 101 Clear NEW	AMSTERDAM	14	57	26	79	Clear
BANGKOK 24 75 31 88 Cloud BUENOS AIRES 20 48 16 60 Cloud CAIRO 20 68 35 95 Clear COPENHAGEN 16 61 28 82 Clear FRANKFURT 15 59 30 86 Clear HONG NONS 25 77 27 81 Gloud ISTANBUL 16 61 24 75 Clear HONG NONS 25 77 27 81 Gloud ISTANBUL 16 61 24 75 Clear LOS ANGELES 21 59 34 93 Clear MADRID 27 63 33 91 Rain MECCA 25 79 44 111 Clear MADRID 27 63 33 91 Rain MECCA 26 79 44 111 Clear MCOSCOW 16 61 28 25 Clear NEW DELHI 28 83 38 101 Clear NEW DELHI 28 83 38 101 Clear NEW YORK 19 67 27 81 Rain PARIS 19 66 30 86 Clear ROME 15 22 85 Clear ROME 15 22 85 50 Clear ROME 15 22 85 57 Clear TOKYO 16 61 28 52 Clear ROME 15 22 85 57 Clear ROME 15 22 85	athens	12	54	30	86	Clear
BUENOS AIRES	BAHRAIN	28	82	36	97	Clear
BUENOS AIRES	Bangkok .	- 4	75	31	88	Claudy
CAIRO 20 68 35 95 Cicar CHICAGO 16 60 25 78 Clear COPENHAGEN 16 61 25 82 Clear FRANKFURT 15 59 30 86 Clear HONG NONG 25 77 27 81 Cloud STANBUL 16 61 24 75 Clear LONDON 15 59 24 75 Clear NEVEL CONDON 17 63 33 91 Rain MADRID 17 63 33 91 Rain MECCA 26 79 44 111 Clear MADRID 17 63 28 77 Cloud MONTREAL 15 59 25 77 Cloud MONTREAL 15 59 25 77 Cloud NEW DELHI 28 83 38 101 Clear NEW YORK 19 67 27 81 Rain N	BUENOS AIRES	89	48	16	60
CHICAGO 16 60 26 78 Clear COPENHAGEN 16 61 23 82 Clear FRANKFURT 15 59 30 86 Clear GENEVA. 12 54 28 82 Clear HONG NONG 25 77 27 81 Clour LOS ANGELES 21 69 34 93 Clear MADRID 17 63 33 91 Rain MECCA 25 79 44 111 Clear MADRID 17 63 33 91 Rain MECCA 25 79 44 111 Clear MCONTREAL 15 59 25 77 Clear NEW DELHI 28 83 38 101 Clear NEW YORK 19 67 27 81 Rain REW DELHI 28 83 38 101 Clear NEW YORK 19 67 27 81 Rain REW Clear 19 67 27 81 Rain ROME 19 67 27 82 Clear ROME 19 27 82 Clear ROME 19 67 27 82 CLEAR ROME 19 6	CAIRO	20	68	35
FRANKFURT 15 59 30 86 Clear GENEVA 12 54 28 82 Clear HONG KONG 25 77 27 81 GONZ LOS ANGELES 21 69 34 93 Clear MADRID 17 63 33 91 Roin MECCA 26 79 44 111 Clear MECCA 26 79 44 111 Clear MONTREAL 15 59 25 77 Cloux MONTREAL 15 59 25 77 Cloux MONTREAL 15 59 25 77 Cloux MEW YORK 19 67 27 81 Rain NEW YORK 19 28 28 20 Clear NEW YORK 19 28 28 28 28 28 28 28 28 28 28 28 28 28	CHICAGO	16	60	26	78	Clear
FRANKFURT 15 59 30 86 Clear GENEVA	COPENHAGEN	16	61	29	82	Clear
HONG NONG 25 77 27 81 Clour STANBUL 16 61 24 75 Clear LONDON 15 59 24 75 Clear LOS ANGELES 16 61 28 33 91 Rain MECCA 26 79 44 111 Clear MONTREAL 15 59 25 77 Clour 16 61 28 82 Clear NEW DELHI 28 83 38 101 Clear NEW YORK 19 67 27 81 Rain PARIS 19 66 30 86 Clear ROME 11 52 28 92 Clear ROME 15 22 8 92 Clear ROME 15 22 8 92 Clear ROME 16 61 23 73 Clear TOKYO 16 61 23 73 Clear	FRANKFURT	15	59	30	86	Clear
ISTANBUL 16 61 24 75 Clear 15 59 25 77 Cloar 15 61 28 33 101 Clear 16 61 28 72 Clear 17 52 28 92 Clear 17 52 28	GENEVA	12	54	28
LONDON 15 59 24 75 Clear LOS ANGELES 21 69 34 93 Clear MADRID 76 63 33 91 Run MECCA 26 79 45 111 Clear MONTREAL 75 59 25 77 Cloux MOSCOW 76 61 28 82 Clear NEW YORK 19 67 27 81 Ram PARIS 19 66 20 86 Clear ROME 11 52 28 92 Clear TOKYO 16 61 23 73 Clear TOKYO 16 61 23 73 Clear		25	77	27	81	Cloudy
LOS ANGELES 21 69 34 93 Clear MADRID 17 63 33 91 Rain MECCA 25 79 44 111 Clear MONTREAL 15 59 25 77 Cloud MOSCOW 46 61 28 82 Clear NEW DELHI 28 83 38 101 Clear NEW YORK 19 67 27 81 Rain PARIS 19 66 20 86 Clear ROME 11 52 28 92 Clear TOKYO 16 61 23 73 Clear TOKYO 16 61 23 73 Clear		16	61	24	75	Clear
MECCA 26 79 44 111 Clear MONTREAL 75 59 25 77 Cloud MONTREAL 75 59 25 77 Cloud MOSCOW 66 61 28 82 Clear NEW YORK 19 67 27 81 Ram PARIS 19 66 30 86 Clear ROME 11 52 28 92 Clear TOKYO 16 61 23 73 Clear	LONDON		59	24	75	Clear
MECCA 26 79 44 111 Clear MONTREAL 75 59 25 77 Cloud MONTREAL 75 59 25 77 Cloud MOSCOW 66 61 28 82 Clear NEW YORK 19 67 27 81 Ram PARIS 19 66 30 86 Clear ROME 11 52 28 92 Clear TOKYO 16 61 23 73 Clear	LOS ANGELES	21	69	34	23	Clear
MONTREAL RS 59 25 77 Clock MOSCOW R6 61 28 82 Clear NEW DELHI 28 83 38 101 Clear NEW YORK 19 67 27 81 Rain PARIS 19 66 30 86 Clear ROME 11 52 28 52 Clear TOKYO 16 61 23 73 Clear	MADRID	7	63	33	91	Rain
MONTREAL RS 59 25 77 Clock MOSCOW R6 61 28 82 Clear NEW DELHI 28 83 38 101 Clear NEW YORK 19 67 27 81 Rain PARIS 19 66 30 86 Clear ROME 11 52 28 52 Clear TOKYO 16 61 23 73 Clear	MEÇÇA	26	79	44	111	Clear
MOSCOW - 6 61 28 82 Clear NEW PORK 19 67 27 81 Ran PARIS - 19 66 30 86 Clear POME - 11 52 28 92 Clear TOKYO - 16 61 23 73 Clear	MONTREAL	15	59	25	77
NEW PORK 19 67 27 81 Ran PARIS 19 67 27 81 Ran ROME 11 52 28 Clear TOKYO 16 61 23 73 Clear	MOSCOW		61	28	82
NEW YORK 19 67 27 81 Ram PARIS 19 66 30 86 Clear ROME 11 52 28 92 Clear TOKYO . 16 61 23 73 Clear	NEW DELHI	28	В3	38
PARIS . 19 66 30 86 Clear ROME 11 52 28 92 Clear TOKYO . 16 61 23 73 Clear	NEW YORK	19	67		_
ROME 11 52 28 92 Clear TOKYO . 16 61 23 73 Clear	PARIS.	19	66		86	Clear
TOKYO . 16 61 23 73 Clear	ROME	11	52	- 28
	TOKYO .	16	61
	VIENNA	12	54	19
	 -	-

Boat people — a growing dilemma

By Peter Eng The Associated Press

HONG KONG - Every few minutes, a jet leaving Kai Tak airport soars with a loud screech directly over the Sham Shui Po detention centre for Vietnamese boat peofle.

Ex-soldier Pham Ngoc Quang and the other 6,650 Vietnamese here want to take the flights to the United States and other Western countries - the objective of their long, hazardous journey to Hong Kong by

But the people of Hong Kong want to fly them all right back to Vietnam.

Pham. who paid a smuggler eight gold rings for the boat passage, insists he left "not to be fed... but to find freedom." But he appears to be among the large, growing number of "economic migrants" who have overwhelmed facilities and patience in Hong Kong and other Asian nations and prompted demands they be forcibly repatriated.

Pham fought for the communist North Vietnam army, whose overthrow of the U.S.-backed South Vietnam government in April 1975 began the boat exodus. More than a million have fled but Western nations are increasingly reluctant to reset-

Boats carrying 369 Viet-namese arrived in Hong Kong Saturday, bringing arrivals this year to 20,327, compared with about 19,000 all of last year, a government spokesman said. A boat of 105 Vietnamese landed in Japan Friday after a 38-day sail; a police official quoted them as saying "they just wanted to go somewhere where they could enjoy a higher standard of living." 'Refugee status'

For 14 years, much of the world community considered anyone fleeing Vietnam a refugee entitled to stay in camps of countries where they land and to quick resettlement in the West. Officials began mulling forced repatriation as peasants from northern Vietnam and others who appeared to be seeking easier living conditions flooded out in more recent years. But few people openly endorsed forced repatriation.

"Now many countries are sick of the refugee problem, especially when faced with people who are not real refugees," Prachyadavi Tavedikul, deputy spokesman of Thailand's Foreign Ministry, said Friday. Britain and its densely populated colony of Hong Kong called for forced return of those who did not flee for political reasons, saying this is done with illegal immigrants everywhere. Hong Kong Governor David Wilson said this was the humane course because they would otherwise continue to sail in unsafe boats only to suffer prolonged detention in camps. But Vietnam repeated it would not accept those forced

Hong Kong have returned voluntarily.

The United States said it opposed forced repatriation unless economic, social and political conditions in Vietnam dramatically improve. Critics said Washington was trying to prove that the communists who defeated the U.S.-backed government were violating human A tougher stand was formally endorsed at the 60-nation Indochinese refugee conference in Geneva last week. The conference did not endorse forced repatriation, but adopted a plan for screening all new arrivals to determine if they can be granted refugee status. It urged efforts to encourage voluntary return and said if this did not work, alternatives would be ex-

The conference also produced pledges from several countries to resettle a total of

53,500 Vietnamese refugees over the next three years. At least privately, some officials in Thailand and Malaysia have declared forced repatriation to be the only solution. Many Vietnamese continue to sail there despite increasingly violent pirate attacks and the screening procedures these and four neighbouring countries agreed to in March. to return. Only 143 of the more than 40,000 Vietnamese in

According to government spokesman Suvit Yodmani of Thailand, two Vietnamese women came ashore there May 30 and said pirates attacked their boat and killed the other 18 passengers. On June 1, fishermen picked up three Vietnamese after their boat of 40 people capsized, said Suvit, who had no details.

Local resentment

Citizens have stepped up protests against the boat people as they fear for their own future after 1997, when Hong Kong reverts to Chinese rule. Authorities Friday postponed opening a new detention centre after protests by local residents. Some citizens say the Vietnamese should not be allowed

In Hong Kong, some relief officials say the conditions in government detention sites are inhumane."

In the camps, northeren and southern Vietnamese clash and people stage daily hunger strikes to protest their classification as illegal immigrants.

"Just be careful when you walk by. Some may be very violent," a government worker warned a reporter visiting Sham. Shui Po. Many Vietnamese appeared dejected and listless in the camp, a former army barracks surrounded by a high metal wall topped with barbed wire.

Across the street, a billboard

advertising American cigarettes

features a high picture of the Statue of Liberty. Even the relief agency Oxfam Hong Kong has backed forced repatriation. But its director, Chris Bale, said the root of the problem lies in the conditions in Vietnam prompting flight, and few solutions for this were offered at Geneva.

"We're talking about one of the world's poorest countries

ostracised by the world community for 10 years, still bearing the scars of a very long and bitter war." he said. He urged the United States to free up trade and aid for Vietnam by immediately nor-malising diplomatic relations with the country. Washington says it won't do so before Vietnam resolves the conflict over its decade-old military occupation of Cambodia.